Welcome To Santa Rosa Junior College

SPECIAL ORIENTATION / REGISTRATION ISSUE

January - February 1982

Whatever reason you have chosen Santa Rosa Junior College, you have chosen wisely and well. The Student Activities Office and the Associated Students welcome you.

Welcome to the Spring 1982 semester at Santa Rosa Junior College. We think that you have made an excellent choice in attending SRJC. The high degree of student involvement and the broad range of student activities are important facets in giving Santa Rosa Junior College the reputation that it enjoys as one of the leading Community Colleges in the nation. The Associated Students, which I am proud to lead this semester, is an integral part of this campus. We are the student representatives to the Board of Trustees, the Faculty, and the Administration. Our purpose is to act on behalf of the students. We urge you to join us in our efforts to represent your ideas to the rest of the college community. Regardless of your reason for being here at Santa Rosa Junior College, or your special needs as a student or a person, we believe the Associated Students fund programs and services that will make your time here more meaningful. Membership in the Associated Students is a worthwhile venture. We think the $10.00 membership fee is money well-spent on programs that will entertain you, enrich you, or make your life a little easier. We ask you to join us with your membership, your ideas and your energy.

WELCOME TO SRJC

How I Made My Fortune Through the Associated Students

by Mike Jasper

It is with great zeal that I put myself to the task of writing the true but heretofore unpublished account of how I made my vast fortune with the Associated Students

Fifteen dollars times four years — 85 dollars. (MEMO: It looks like he'll be here for four more — B. Flores.) Invariably, I was always winding up in legal hassles in all manner of suits and togas. The past four years I have avail-published in the Socio-Psycho Review. Perhaps you've read it. It's entitled (MEMO: Delete obscene title — B. Flores).

Naturally I managed to skim 30 percent off the top of it.

Go It A-Loan

by Pam Bull

If you're like most poor college students, including myself, there will probably come a time in your college career when you are so broke that it seems like you'll never see the light of day again. Well let me tell you folks, there is hope.

Fortunately, if you are living well above your financial status, studying in the dark, surviving in smelly old clothes, starving on the last three cans of soup in the cupboard, or staying home on Saturday and Sunday nights, SRJC's Associated Students has just the loan for you!

Yes folks, what I'm saying is true. For just the minute fee it costs to become a member of the Associated Students, you too can possess the card that will open the door to terrific benefits. Not only do you get a pretty sticker on the back of your SRJC ID card, but you will be eligible to receive an emergency loan from the Associated Student Loan and Grant Fund and a book loan from the Associated Student Book Loan Fund.

So don't delay, join the Associated Students today.

DID SHE FORGET HER FREE TICKET? No, she's part of the cast. But Associated Student members who forget to make reservations in advance will seem equally disturbed. All Associated Students members are eligible to receive free tickets to all SRJC Theatre Arts Department productions, but they must make reservations in advance, at the Student Activities Office.

We've Come To Play

by Moira Reynolds

The curtain rises. A final swell of enthusiastic applause fills Burbank Auditorium, and the actors take their last bow. Live theatre is an intimate and exciting breed of entertainment. The Theatre Arts department provides two to three shows each semester, under the skilled direction of Bill Harrison and Dr. Thomas Bower.

In the spring semester, the plays "Laura" and "The Heiress" will be presented through the help of the Associated Students. These shows run two weekends each, and include seven performances. The Associated Students provide much of the essential funding necessary to keep the Theatre Arts department alive and well. This money comes from the funds collected each semester with the purchase of Associated Students memberships. The students who become members, in return for the $10 fee, receive numerous benefits including free vouchers which can be picked up at the Student Activities Office and which provide free admission to each theatre production.

The shows being produced promise to be filled with exquisite costumes, detailed sets, and a wide variety of theatrical entertainment. There is somehow more excitement in seeing these shows when the actors and crews are the people that attend SRJC playing before many fellow students in the audience.

President Speaks Out

by Mari Maguire

As I walked across the campus during Christmas break, I had a chance to think about the Associated Students' activities this fall and begin to plan for the spring semester. The question uppermost in my mind was: have we fulfilled our commitments, have we met the needs of the students we represent?

When I think of the spring College Student Assembly I know I want them to understand one thing above everything else: they're the voice, in many ways the only voice, of all the 23,000 students at Santa Rosa Junior College. That is a tremendous responsibility.

Our responsibility is fulfilled in many ways. The programs and services provided are designed to students know about. It is our responsibility to maintain an open line of communication between the students and the faculty, administration, staff and Board of Trustees. It is only through this communication that students can effectively influence the operation and future of the college.

The College Student Assembly is also obligated to maintain current information beyond our own campus; we must be knowledgeable about any legislative action that could have an impact on Santa Rosa Junior College students. Last year, we helped defeat a bill that would have allowed mandatory membership in the Associated Students. This year, we are especially concerned with legislative efforts to

Santa Rosa Junior College Game

RULES

1. Can be played by one or more players. The object of the game is to proceed through the board from start to finish. Each player starts with $1,000.00 and play continues as long as the player has money in his/her bank account. When that money is depleted the player is out of college.
2. Each player must provide his/her own marker (any coin will do). In addition the participating players must provide a game token (a coin with a heads and a tails) by which each player advances their marker through the game board by flipping the game token: heads = one space forward, tails = two spaces forward.
3. Each player must begin on the space marked "beginning."
4. Each player must follow the instructions of every square he/she lands on.

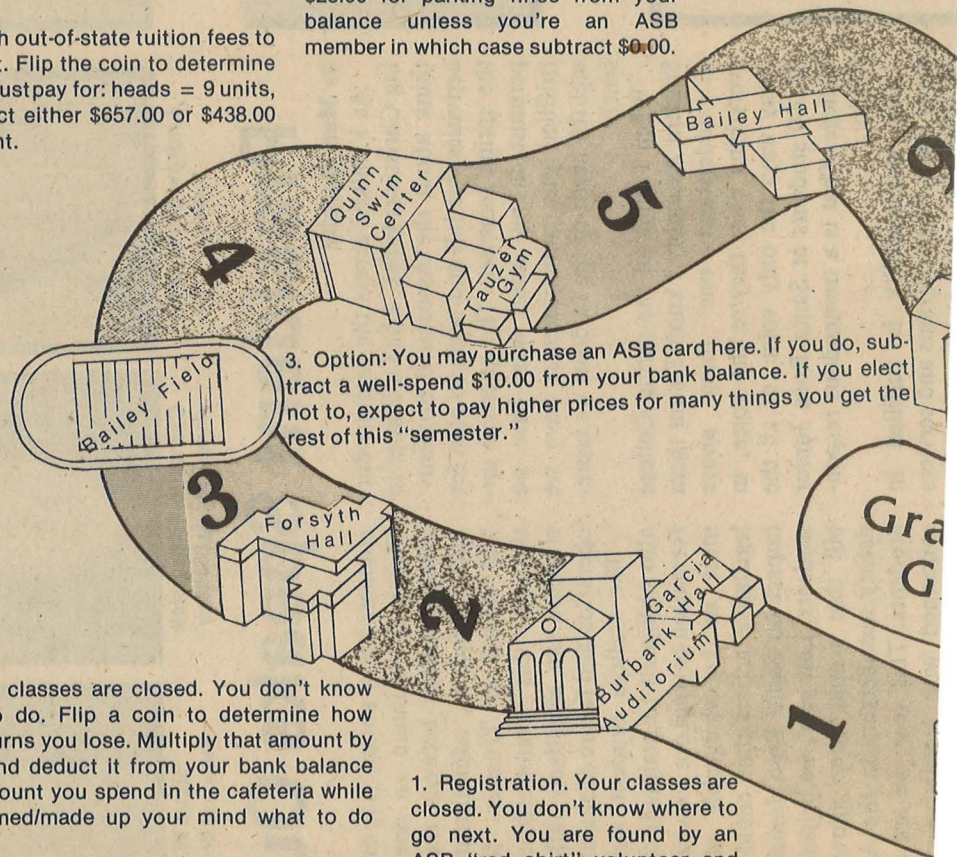

12. Eureka!
$100.00 from your bank balance. If you lose, you must work for the

4. You are socked with out-of-state tuition fees to the tune of $73.00/unit. Flip the coin to determine how many units you must pay for: heads = 9 units, tails = 6 units. Deduct either $657.00 or $438.00 from your bank account.

5. It's the first week of the semester and parking is chaos. You choose to risk it by parking in Bailey Lot. Deduct $25.00 for parking fines from your balance unless you're an ASB member in which case subtract $0.00.

6. You are looking for a house to live in. You do not know about the Student Activities Office housing board. Flip a coin. Heads lists student- available houses in Sonoma County. Flip a coin. Heads = pay $30.00 to a realtor to find you a house. Tails = pay $100.00 to a realtor to find you a house.

2. Your classes are closed. You don't know what to do. Flip a coin to determine how many turns you lose. Multiply that amount by $5.00 and deduct it from your bank balance (the amount you spend in the cafeteria while you fumed/made up your mind what to do next).

3. Option: You may purchase an ASB card here. If you do, subtract a well-spent $10.00 from your bank balance. If you elect not to, expect to pay higher prices for many things you get the rest of this "semester."

1. Registration. Your classes are closed. You don't know where to go next. You are found by an ASB "red shirt" volunteer and are steered through the morass.

11. You discover the books and supplies you thought would cost $40.00 actually cost closer to $80.00. You've only budgeted $30.00 and that's if you don't eat for a week. If you're an ASB member you can apply for a 30-day, interest-free loan from the SRJC Associated Students Revolving Book Loan Fund for up to $50.00. If non-ASB subtract $80.00 from your balance.

10. It's ten days before Easter break and you have a choice: you can continue to drive your car, wash your clothes, etc., or you can eat. You'd like to go home for Easter. You want to ask Mom for some more money and you think it's better if you do it in the flesh. You remember the Student Activities Office Ride Board and arrange a share-a-ride to your hometown. Deduct $0.00 from your bank balance for this choice bit of resourcefulness. The driver — a classmate of yours — has agreed to await payment until the return trip.

9. Your 1971 Toyota Corolla has tires that make Telly Savalas look like a sheepdog. You go to Brandon Tire Sales and ask for four all around, and hold your breath while you wait for the total. Deduct $173.14 from your bank account unless you're an ASB member in which case include the 20 percent discount and subtract only $138.51.

8. You may purchase an SRJC Associated Students membership card now, if you haven't already. The benefits are becoming clear to you. In addition to the freebies mentioned above you are entitled to discounts (10-40 percent) off the prices charged by many Sonoma County merchants. The Discount Brochure — listing all the participating businesses — is available in the Student Activities Office.

15. You may purchase an ASB membership card now. It costs $10.00 and its many benefits are clear.

13. Horrors! The car your roommate loaned you so you could take a mid-term has developed a significant dent amidships in the hour or so you left it in Bailey Lot. You're furious. You're scared. You need a lawyer. If you're an ASB member you can go to the Student Activities Office and make an appointment to talk to an attorney in which case subtract $0.00 from your bank balance. If you're not a member, subtract $25.00 for consultation fee.

14. It's mid-May, brilliantly sunny outside, and more than anything else you are craving a hot-dog, bowl of chili, and an ice-cold coke. Just your good luck today is the SRJC Associated Students semi-annual Hot Dog Day and if you're a member it's free to you. If you're not a member, deduct the $2.00 you have in your pocket (which you brought for bus fare and lunch) for which you get only the hot dog and small bowl of chili from the cafeteria and you have to hitchhike home.

to develop your speaking skills, to learn how to control yourself in front of a crowd, to be able to present yourself well and get your message through to others.

Most members of the speech team have previously had a speech course at SRJC or in high school. However, it's not a prerequisite. Everyone who wants to join the team is given a chance to audition before the whole squad; then the coaches and senior team members vote on whether to accept the new member or not. What they look for is potential. They ask themselves, "With work, can this person become an accomplished speaker?" Usually, the answer is yes.

The members of the speech team come from almost every educational major and walk of life. What they share is a common goal: to develop themselves personally and intellectually. They realize their training may help them land a job (many employers look quite favorably upon speech training when reviewing job applications). They realize speech may help them to be more effective on the job by being better able to communicate with their coworkers and employer. Most of all, they realize speech competition can be fun, a challenge for both mind and mouth (body).

The necessary training is supplied by two able instructors, Jack Perella and Alberta Hart. They provide instruction on a one-to-one basis.

Having legal problems? Can't afford $50 for an attorney's consultation? The Associated Students can help. All any Associated Students member has to do is make an appointment for legal counseling at the Student Activities Office. Generally, within two weeks you'll meet with our legal counsel who will help you to decide if your problem is in fact a legal one, and if it is, what your next step should be. This service is free for all Associated Students members.

So, if you are having problems with your landlord, need help in understanding or filling out legal papers, or have any legal questions, don't court trouble. Come into the Student Activities Office and get legal aid.

1977 years ago I purchased my first Student Body card and ever since I have escaped the jaw-crush of poverty. I am now a wealthy man. How did I do it? Continue, my curious reader . . . (MEMO: I don't think we can print this garbage — B. Flores).

Having been a football junkie for some years, a habit acquired in the service (MEMO: You mean disservice — B. Flores), I managed to lose a tidy sum each game. Imagine my surprise when learning that the innocuous blue sticker allowed me free entrance to the arena. I deposited the savings immediately into a local account. Total?

student grants. This was sticky at first, as I had to convince them of some special talent on my part. It proved easier than I had imagined, and I have received two grants in the previous four years for my celebrated article

SRJC Students Are Never Help-less

by Suzy Wetch

"We're here to help," is our motto in the Student Activities Office (SAO) and that is exactly what we do. We make finding a place to live easier with our housing board. We have many current listings for local housing:

everything from renting a house to an apartment, to a water tower, and much more. And for those of you who want "that special roommate," come in and look on our accommodations wanted board.

We help people hitch rides with our ride board. We have listings for people who want to go for a ride as well as people who want to take someone else for a ride. We also have listings for people who want to go on a one-way ride. If you commute, or just need a ride, come on in to the Student Activities Office and take a look at our ride board. We have other boards in the SAO; however, they are being used to hold up the building.

Is life a bummer? Do you feel like the world is closing in? Call your psychiatrist from the free phone, located in the SAO. But please don't try to explain your problem over the phone because there is a three-minute limit.

We rent lockers in the Doyle Student Center for those of you who need a place to keep your books and other worldly possessions.

We help people get out of the country with our travel information and our International Student ID cards. We have a rack of travel information located in the SAO with information on Europe, Mexico, Japan, and more. International Student ID cards are good for discounts in many countries (particularly Europe) and are only $6.

For those of you who want to know where you are going or where you've been, the SAO provides guided tours of the campus. Just give us a call in advance and set up a time and a date.

If you can't afford to buy new books come in to the SAO and look at our used book file. There are other students who want to unload their used books on you!

Been busted lately? Need a lawyer? We set up free legal aid appointments for Associated Student members.

This and much more is available to you, the student, in the SRJC Student Activities Office near you. Check your local Bear Facts for a listing of special events or come into the SAO for more information.

YOU CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU — but if you don't have a parking sticker, you can't park in the SRJC parking lots, either. Associated Students can save $5 on the purchase of their parking permits.

Gene -

We would enjoy much more safe space to display student art in Analy Hall.

IF we could fund money for either Glass, lockable cases, (First Priority) or Plexi Panels which we could use to cover nice, ready-made display areas on both STAIR landings - each ± 32" high by 15 ft long.

I haven't looked into Glass cases, but the Plexi for the job would cost ± $312.00.

Do we still have some money in any student Activities Account?

Toughening Up on Admissions

State universities try to cut the high cost of failure

The board of admissions for California's vast public university system has sent a warning letter to the parents of all the eighth-grade students in the state: "Your son or daughter," it declares, "should be expected to enroll in an English class every semester of every year and most students should be taking a math class every semester." U.C. Administrator Henry Alder stresses that low performance in high school could prove hazardous to college aspirations. Reason: by the fall of 1984 the state's 19 colleges and nine universities plan to toughen entrance requirements. The most dramatic new demands will occur at the state college level, where admissions will require 15 units of college-track subjects, including four students is rapidly outstripping resources, are planning to reduce the student body by tightening admissions requirements.

All over the country the high cost of higher education and the current reduction in state and federal aid are forcing public university systems to rethink an egalitarian admissions philosophy. For more than a decade, open admissions attracted many talented people who might never have had the chance for a college education. But it also saddled many schools with students woefully unprepared to do college work. The cost of remedial education has skyrocketed. Says Leon Mayhew, vice chancellor for the University of California at Davis: "There are costs in the generic sense of money work. In Georgia's 33 institutions of higher education, more than $6 million was spent this year on "developmental studies," the pedagogical euphemism for remedial training. At Ohio State University, 42% of this fall's entering freshmen were required to take at least one remedial course in English or math. Ohio's total remediation tab last year: between $10 million and $12 million. Says Elaine Hairston, director of special programs for the Ohio Board of Regents: "Students who need remedial work need specific help. To be done right it requires one-to-one tutoring and low-student-ratio labs."

Surprisingly enough, few detailed studies exist about the actual cost of remediation and how effective it is. Horizons Unlimited, a special program at Florida State University, now screens and trains about 200 underprepared students. Director Earl Gordon has no exact count but as evidence of the program's success can point to graduates who have become doctors, businessmen and lawyers. At the 170,000-student City University of New York, well known for its mission to educate all comers, there are no plans to cut back open admissions, even though remediation costs $33 million annually. All incoming freshmen must take an achievement test in reading ability and a specially developed freshman assessment test to determine placement, not admission. Half of C.U.N.Y.'s students require special help, and remedial courses are not for credit. Says Marie Jean Lederman, a former English professor who now directs the freshman skills assessment program: "It would be a great shame, given the inequality of our educational system, not to at least give these students one more chance. To say that we can eliminate the problem by eliminating the people is overly simplistic."

California, Ohio and Florida clearly are planning to turn down some of the worst-prepared students and at the same time trying to encourage the learning of basic skills at a less costly level. Some state colleges in Ohio are considering imposing an extra charge for remedial instruction. In many states students are now urged to prepare at community colleges for more advanced work later on. Most of the problem, however, lies with past teen-age attitudes toward learning and a decade-long decline in high school standards. Wayne Brown of the Tennessee higher education commission believes that the $1 million spent in his state on college remediation should be recycled into high school programs. Says Brown: "Remedial courses sap the energy of the college and university faculty. We must say to the high schools that it really does matter how well the student learns math and English." —By Ellie McGrath. Reported by Joyce Leviton/Atlanta and Dick Thompson/San Francisco years of college preparatory English and two years of math.

California is not the only state system toughening up its entrance requirements. Next fall Florida State University will demand that freshmen graduate from high school with a 2.5 grade-point average (as compared with 2.0 now) and score a total of 950 (compared with 800) on the combined math and English Scholastic Aptitude Tests. Ohio State University, which since 1902 has guaranteed entrance to any Ohio high school graduate, will now accept unconditionally only students who have completed a college-preparatory curriculum that includes four years of English and three of math, science and social studies, plus a foreign language. Both the University of Tennessee and the University of Texas at Austin, where the number of stuspent. The other cost is in the misdirection of talents in teaching." While some remedial programs hire specially trained teachers, many untenured—and frustrated—Ph.D.s find themselves teaching basic reading and Algebra I rather than literature or calculus. Adds California State University Chancellor Glenn Dumke: "Either the state university will direct its energy to the full meaning of 'higher education' or its campuses will continue being made into centers of remediation."

The problem is epidemic. A study done at the University of California found that between 1977 and 1980 only half of 50,000 students could demonstrate reading and writing skills necessary for college-level courses. At Kent State University, 25% of entering freshman classes left school after two years of below-average

SRJC Trustees

The Santa Rosa Junior College trustees Monday:

STUDENT ABILITY — Approved development of a method of judging student ability to succeed in one or more fields during the spring semester with a report on results to the board. Counseling will be included as the college seeks to reduce the student dropout rate.

REORGANIZATION — Heard criticism from Student Body President Mariangela Maguire with support from Student Board Member Kati Bright of the college's preliminary steps involving the board-ordered administrative reorganization study without student or other advisory comment. Board and staff members indicated students and other campus groups will be involved when the study gets out of committee.

RESERVES — Heard a warning from President Roy Mikalson that several colleges intend to fight in the Legislature and elsewhere to prevent attempts to gather their reserves for budget use by other colleges. SRJC is preparing a case to retain its reserves, which came largely from district taxation and should be spent within the district on campus needs and programs.

BARRIERS — Approved completion of a project eliminating handicap barriers on campus, but withheld $2,200 from Mullin Construction because the project ran beyond the time allowed.

DOYLE SCHOLARSHIPS — Received a check for $75,000 as a quarterly dividend from the Frank P. Doyle Trust at Santa Rosa's home-owned Exchange Bank in a letter from Bank President Andrew Shepard. The check raised the 1981-82 total to $270,000 for student scholarships. The 1982-83 dividends are expected to reach $290,000.

COACHES — Approved half-season assistant coaches' added fees of $850 for men's and women's varsity basketball and $1,650 for a full season of men's baseball assistant coaching. The action now establishes assistant coaches for all major sports along with appropriate extra pay.

PROGRAM — Added a programmed electronic technology laboratory for first-year students starting next fall.

REPORTS

ASB PRESIDENT EXPRESSES CONCERN...Rumors that the proposed SRJC management reorganization now under consideration will affect the Associated Students in a drastic way prompted ASB President Mari Maguire to ask why students have been left out of discussions. She was assured by Board Member Al Maggini that discussions are now at a preliminary level in a board committee, and that students and other campus groups will have input before the management reorganization is approved.

"Can you assure me that the ASB will continue to exist?" asked Maguire.

"We've supported the ASB in every way," answered Board member Ben Race. "We would not consider a proposal to eliminate it."

State colleges delay fee hike vote

SACRAMENTO — State university trustees took no action Tuesday on a proposal to boost student fees, saying they want to find out whether increased fees will keep some students from attending their schools.

Also Tuesday, a state legislative committee rejected a proposed $50 fee for junior college students.

The trustees met Tuesday at Long Beach to consider the $16-a-year charge proposed by Chancellor Glenn Dumke. The $16 would be added to the $55-a-semester increase proposed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. to partly offset cuts in his 1982-83 budget.

Brown's proposal would bring fees at Sonoma State and the other 18 California State University campuses to $379 to $413 a year.

Brown aide Bob Moore warned that the governor and the university "could find ourselves at loggerheads" over the additional fee.

The trustees' Finance Committee voted to delay the issue for a month.

The Brown and Dumke plans are only two of numerous fee and tuition proposals being considered as the state university system tries to deal with a reduction in money for education ordered by Brown.

Sonoma State's financial situation is made worse by declining enrollment, which also determines how much money the school gets from the state.

Tuition for non-residents has been raised sharply in the last few years and is approaching $4,000 at the University of California and $3,000 at state universities. Tuition for residents in UC medical schools and some other professional schools was proposed in the Legislature last year.

The two-year community colleges, which charge local-option fees, rejected a mandatory $50 fee and instead will make budget cuts.

Brown's proposed budget includes a $100 increase in UC fees, bringing them to about $1,100 a year.

But the governor wants students to bear a smaller share of the 2.5 percent budget cuts in the two university systems than the university administrations propose.

UC President David Saxon has gone along with Brown to shift less than half the cuts to students, but Dumke, who originally proposed making them bear four-fifths of the cuts, is still at odds with Brown.

The subcommittee Tuesday endorsed the idea of a new study on whether tuition and fees will keep students out of school. There are nearly 2 million students in public higher education in the state.

Technically, no tuition is charged to California residents, because fees pay only for such programs as counseling, health clinics and recreation, and not for teachers' salaries.

But Patrick Callan, director of the California Postsecondary Education Commission, which would conduct the study, said it may be time to reconsider the no-tuition policy.

"It is not the purpose for which money is used that determines access" to the schools, Callan told the subcommittee. "It is the amount that students pay.

"As we look down the road toward a period of fiscal retrenchment, the Legislature will have to ask itself whether institutions don't need more flexibility in the use of these dollars."

The legislators heard strong objections from the community colleges to a mandatory fee for their 1.5 million full-time and part-time students.

A $50 fee for full-time students and a $30 fee for part-time students would raise about $50 million, but cost the colleges $40 million or more in state aid because of the loss of 60,000 or more students who couldn't pay the fee, said state junior college system Chancellor Gerald Hayward.

Community Colleges still a bargain

By a staff writer of The Christian Science Monitor

Bargains are where you find them and though the cost of a college education may be going up, for US community and junior colleges the rise is from a much lower base.

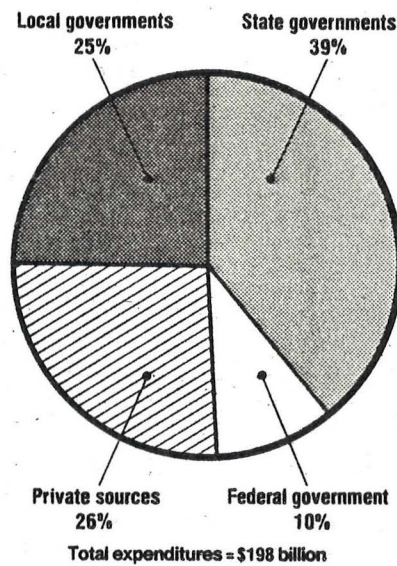

Not that tuition charges were ever very high by any comparative inflationary measurements.

The College Scholarship Service of the College Board reports that the average annual fees for community colleges would reach $469 this year compared with $819 for public four-year colleges. Last year's average for public community colleges was $464.

Annual tuition charges for state-funded community colleges range from $119 in Arkansas, $384 in Virginia, to $976 by some in New York State.

More than 100 community colleges in California remain tuition-free but pressure is mounting in the Legislature to charge tuition, a move that Dale Parnell, president of the 1,200-member American Association of Community and Junior Colleges says "would end a landmark program of public education that has propelled millions of men and women of all ages into rewarding occupations and professions."

Estimated expenditures of educational institutions by source of funds: United States 1981-82

Source: estimates by the National Center for Education Statistics, U.S. Dept. of Education

That's the picture for this fiscal year. It is estimated that the federal share will drop as much as half (to 5%) for 1982-1983.

Efforts are underway already in many local communities to encourage more private and state funding.

BOARD COMMITTEE SEEKS COMMENT ON PROPOSED MANAGEMENT REORGANIZATION

The first draft of a chart reorganizing SRJC's management structure has been released by President Roy Mikalson and the committee on reorganization appointed by the Board of Trustees.

The committee is inviting all segments of the campus to submit written comments and suggestions, which should be addressed to the Committee on Reorganization, President's Office, by February 16. Suggestions will be considered before the board approves a final draft. Staff may obtain copies of the chart from their supervisors, and a summary of the chart appears later in this article.

Members of the Committee on Reorganization are board members Larry Bertolini, Al Ggini and Ben Race, President Mikalson and Vice-President Brook Tauzer.

Organizational changes, when approved by the board, will take effect July 1, 1982.

"The main purpose of the proposed management reorganization is to bring about a one-college operation--to meld the day and evening operation and to have all the support services relate to both day and evening programs," Mikalson stated.

The major proposed change is to be found in the instructional management chart under Vice President Brook Tauzer.

"The instructional office will be divided into two substructures, Liberal Arts and Occupational Education, and support services have been reorganized to function to their maximum in support of both the day evening programs," Mikalson said.

Major changes proposed are as follows:

Jack Healy, Dean of Adult and Continuing Education (ACE), will assume new responsibilities as Dean of Special Programs, including the Sonoma State Hospital program, EOPS, REI, Becoming Independent, Creative Living, Learning Services, the non-credit courses and Community Services. Allene Hankla, Assistant Dean/ACE, will become Assistant Dean of Occupational Education under Associate Dean Henry Gronroos with responsibilities relating to both day and evening occupational programs. Jim Churchill, Assistant Dean of ACE/Community Services, will become Assistant Dean of Liberal Art under Associate Dean Ed Buckley, and have responsibilities directed toward both day and evening Liberal Arts programs.

"ARE THERE FOOTPRINTS IN SPACE?" asks SRJC Planetarium Specialist Ron Oriti (above). "Footprints in Space: The Search for Extraterrestrial Intelligence" runs Friday, February 5 at the planetarium. There are shows every Friday night through March 12 (except February 12) at 7 p.m. and again at 8:30 p.m. Tickets (and $1) will be sold at the door. No reservations.

HERE'S A SUMMARY OF THE PROPOSED CHART

Tauzer's branch extends to Dean of Students Ken Holback, Dean of Special Programs Jack Healy, Associate Dean of Instruction for Liberal Art Ed Buckley, and Associate Dean of Instruction for Occupational Education Henry Gronroos.

Under Buckley are Assistant Dean of Liberal Art Jim Churchill, Director of Physical Education/Athletics Hank Cooper, Director of Learning Resources Bill Pettas.

Gronroos will supervise Assistant Dean of Occupational Education Allene Hankla, Director of Work Experience Gary Anderson, Director of Public Safety Bob Blanchard, Director of Health Occupations Joan Borecky, and Chair of Business Data Processing Bob Schooling.

Buckley and Gronroos will share supervision of Director of Petaluma Center Duane Blackwill.

As Dean of Special Programs, Healy will supervise the Director of Sonoma State Hospital Barbara Powell and Director of Extended Opportunities Programs and Services (EOPS) Marianne Wood and have charge of these programs: Redwood Empire Industries, Becoming Independent, Creative Living, Learning Services, Non-Credit Classes, and Community Services.

Holback will have three assistant deans under his supervision, Assistant Dean of Students Gene Canevari, Assistant Dean of Student Services Evelyn Pollard and Assistant Dean of Admissions and Records Jack Rooney. Holback also supervises Director of Financial Aids Pam Herrington and Director of Health Services Susan Baldi. Canevari will supervise Student Activities Assistant Bob Flores and Veterans Service Officer Chuck Hamack and have responsibility for scholarships and special assignments. Pollard will supervise Director of the Re-Entry Program Vicki Ross and have responsibility for the Career Center, Counseling, Articulation, Testing and Special Assignments. Rooney will be in charge of Admissions and Record Registration and special assignments.

Dean of Business Services Wilber, continues his supervision of Controller Lamont Royer, Campus Security Supervisor Terry Stewart and our new Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds Lawrence Bourdet. Royer will supervise Purchasing Agent Tony Escovedo, Accounting Office Supervisor Ken Bradley, and Graphics Supervisor Mary Mueller and will have charge of the fiscal operation of Associated Student Body, Bookstore, Cafeteria and Kent Hall. Bourdet supervises Maintenance Supervisor Al Bruni and Grounds and Custodial Supervisor Bill Bowen.

Dean Joe Johnson will supervise Director of Computing Services Bob Schooling, Director of Personnel Ron Cataraha, and Public Information Officer Mary Carey and be in charge of facility planning and development, affirmative action, policy manuals and research and development.

WOMEN'S STAFF AND FACULTY

NETWORK PLANS SPRING EVENT

The SRJC Women's Staff and Faculty Network will honor a woman of the month at its February 19 meeting in Faculty Lounge, room A. Persons who wish to nominate a woman staff member for the honor may contact Mildred Batey, Kent Hall, by February 3 -- today.

The group plans a scholarship fundraiser during Women's History Week, Friday, March 12 at 8 p.m. in the Doyle Student Center. "Women's History on Parade" will feature historical information and commentary while staff women model historical costumes worn by women whose contribution to history has often been ignored. The historical presentation and dessert costs $5 and proceeds will go toward a scholarship for a recent student.

DAVE GREEN IS NEW CSEA PRESIDENT

JOURNALISTS WIN CNPA AWARDS

CATHY MITCHELL, SRJC journalism instructor, has learned that two of her students will be presented with awards February 13 by the California Newspaper Publisher's Association at its annual convention in Coronado. Anne Kunkel, Oakleaf entertainment editor, will receive a $2,000 scholarship from CNPA and John Guyon, Oakleaf editor, will receive Publishers' Recognition of Excellence and $50 award from CNPA. And--LATE NEWS FLASH--Mitchell has been notified that the Oakleaf itself, of which she is the advisor, will receive an award at the CNPA convention, but it is still a secret as to just which award. Stay tuned.

TO THE FOLLOWING STAFF MEMBERS:

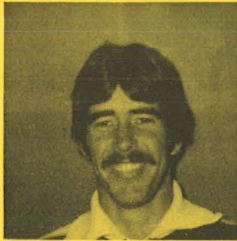

BARNEY SAYLES, coordinator of the Construction Management Tech program, was notified recently by the Contractors State License Board that a two year degree in Construction Technology from SRJC is acceptable as two years of experience when graduates apply for a contractors' license.

FOLEY BENSON, anthropology instructor and museum curator, has been hired by Macy's of San Francisco as a consultant for their exhibition "The Amazon." An authority on native arts of the Amazon who has published several articles on the cultural ecology of the Amazon basin of Peru, Benson was guest speaker at the Macy exhibition's grand opening January 21, a benefit for the De Young Museum.

DEBORAH GREENE, part-time Learning Specialist with the SRJC Learning Skills Program, has just been hired as a Learning Specialist at the Learning Assistance Center, Sonoma State College, and will be working at both colleges during Spring semester 1982.

SHIRLEY KOTITE-YOUNG and JOYCE WELCH, SRJC English instructors, received the first annual perpetual "The Pen Is Mightier Than The Sword Award" as a result of a contest held recently for English Dept. faculty. According to Department Chair Arnold Solkov, the two will share rights to "an elegant gilded statue of a cavalier raising high a pen--which they must display in their offices on alternate months as a condition of acceptance." The competition required, according to Solkov, "the composition of an embedded sentence based upon a series of base sentences created by the Department Chairman."

TWO (!) SRJC COACHES RECEIVE COACH-OF-THE-YEAR AWARDS !

CRAIG BUTCHER
SRJC SOCCER COACH

California Coaches Association has chosen Craig Butcher as Community College Soccer Coach of the Year and Pat Ryan as Community College Men's Track Coach of the Year.

Recipients of CCA's Coach-of-the-Year Awards are selected by their fellow coaches in their sport throughout the state. Criteria for selection includes career coaching performance and excellence in the specific sport as well as professional contributions of time, service and dedication to coaching and/or athletics.

PAT RYAN
SRJC TRACK COACH

Butcher and Ryan were honored at the 25th annual CCA convention banquet January 30 in Anaheim. CCA is a statewide organization of high school, junior high and community college coaches.

RENO BUS TRIP FOR SRJC STAFF

Here's a chance for SRJC staff members to get together for an overnight bus trip to Reno.

Reservations have been made with Bob's Nevada Tours to charter a bus (or two) to leave Santa Rosa Saturday, March 13 at 8 a.m. and return Sunday March 14, at 10:30 p.m.

The trip costs $41.50 per person (double occupancy) and includes accommodations at the Colonial Inn, Reno, a champagne brunch and Saturday refunds from the Sahara of $8 cash and drink/meal coupons worth $3. On Sunday, the Nugget will refund $10 cash plus drink coupons and Boomtown will refund $3 cash, 1 drink and a chuckwagon buffet worth $4.50.

Staff members may make reservations immediately by calling Loretta Rosas in Personnel (4302). Non-staff members may be invited, but they must be 21. Trips must be paid in full by February 26.

Museum Sponsors Poster Contest

The Native American Museum and the Native American Students Association of SRJC are sponsoring a poster contest for children and adults on the theme "I'm Proud to be an Indian" or "Indians Have a Lot To Be Proud Of."

Outstanding entries will be shown as part of the Native American Museum's Spring exhibit on contemporary Native American artists, and a prize will be awarded to the outstanding entry in each age group. Prizes include toys, puzzles, record albums, theatre passes and--for the adults--dinner for two at Acapulco Mexican Restaurant.

There is a 50¢ entry fee for each poster submitted.

Entries are to be brought to the SRJC Native American Museum by February 19. For information call the Museum, 527-4479.

Insider is published twice a month for the Santa Rosa Junior College Faculty and Staff through the Public Information Office. Articles are invited and should be submitted one week before publication to the Public Information Office in Bailey Hall . . . . . (527-4266)

FLOOD STORY

S.R.J.C. Students Activities

Sonoma County experienced, what might be termed the "second worst disaster in the history of our County", second only to the 1906 quake. Two major rainstorms in less than two weeks left death and destruction throughout northern California, however, Sonoma County was fortunate. Although almost 2,000 homes and businesses were damaged, at a dollar value of roughly 25 million, no lives were lost in Sonoma County.

During this recent disaster, many County employees played an important role in helping flood victims, and the general public, in many ways.

The County Office of Emergency Services' Staff, went into action immediately when the first storm hit the area, and continued its efforts, 'round-the-clock' through the second, more disastrous rainstorm.

Members of the County Government's Emergency Service teams, with representatives from almost every County department also helped - in varying degrees - to alleviate problems, disseminate accurate information, and/or otherwise assist those who suffered flood and slide damage, or who needed information about family and friends.

Also, during the emergency period, eight shelters were opened to house people who had to be evacuated. Soup kitchens were set up and mass feeding was 'the order of the day' in some of the hardest-hit areas; Petaluma, Rohnert Park, Guerneville, Bodega and Bodega Bay.

A Disaster Assistance Center, operated by County, State and Federal agencies, geared to assist all flood victims, opened in the Petaluma Veteran's Memorial Building on January 11, 1982. This center is still in operation.

MARESCA'S FILM— A WINNER

Barbara J. Maresca, who serves as Third District Supervisor Helen B. Rudee's Aide de Camp, is also a filmmaker, a talent which resulted in a recent trip to New York City for the showing of her film, A CLOSER LOOK, at the International Rehabilitation Film Festival held there.

A CLOSER LOOK represented the United States in the International Film Competition, which celebrated "The International Year of Disabled Persons."

County Employees will have the opportunity to see Maresca's award winning film Thursday, February 4, 1982, in the Board of Supervisors Meeting Room at 12 noon...Everyone is invited... (Don't miss it, this is a beautiful, meaningful film experience)...

For further information on the film (and/or its availability), contact Film Arts, P. O. Box 468, Graton, 95444, or call 822-1973.

NEW BUSES IN ACTION

Sonoma County Transit, (S.C.T.), often confused with Santa Rosa Transit, unveiled their fleet of 12 new "Rainbow Buses" on January 4, 1982.

The distinctive rainbow design on the new Grumman Flixible 870's gives Sonoma County Transit a special, separate identity.

The County's transit system serves to connect Sonoma Valley, the Russian River area, and Windsor with Santa Rosa. S.C.T. also provides service within the cities of Rohnert Park and Cotati.

All the new buses are equipped with lifts for passengers who are in wheelchairs or who use a walker and have a difficult time climbing steps.

REMEMBER...Sonoma County Transit is NOT Santa Rosa Transit...

Santa Rosa Junior College ASSOCIATED STUDENTS

To: The Committee on Reorganization
c/o Dr. Roy Mikalson
President's Office

From: Mariangela Maguire/SRJC College Student Assembly

Date: February 17, 1982

On Monday, February 8, the College Student Assembly passed the following motion: The College Student Assembly recommends to the Committee on Reorganization that the Associated Students be added to the reorganization chart as one of the responsibilities shown for the Assistant Dean/Students (Canevari) and that this responsibility be clearly delineated showing that it includes the day-to-day supervision of the activities and function of the Associated Students including financial transactions, as currently practiced.

A motion was also passed appointing three CSA members and myself to a committee charged with the responsibility of responding to the proposed reorganization. The scope of our response was also a topic of discussion. It was determined that given our role on campus we have the responsibility of responding to any proposed change that will affect students. Since all proposed changes will ultimately, if not directly, have an impact on students day-to-day education, we chose to respond to the entire proposal. We chose not to respond only to the portion directly relating to student activities.

With our limited time we saw that the following recommendations are essential: Without any clear guidelines from your committee as to the anticipated results of the proposed reorganization we felt that Student Services would be better off if organized according to geography - where appropriate. This would give Assistant Dean/Students (Canevari), the Re-Entry Program and the Career Center - as well as the other specific programs outlined in Mr. Canevari's own recommendation. The Veterans Service Office responsibility should be given to Assistant Dean/Student Services (Pollard), this is something of a trade-off as Re-Entry and Veterans both deal primarily with counseling and financial aids. The Scholarship Program would be better suited to the Assistant Dean Admissions & Records (Ropney). He has direct access to the necessary information and is already a member of the Scholarship Committee.

While the proposed changes in the Instructional area are substantial, they do not replace the need for a central position solely responsible for instruction. A Dean of Instruction must be included in order to adequately serve campus needs. With the day and evening programs combined this job is essential and is worthy of a dean's level of responsibility. The proposed chart does not indicate who, specifically, will maintain nightly supervision of the evening program. A system of rotating supervisors simply can't work. We recommend that the position of Assistant Dean/Evening be created. It is imperative that we establish a coherent system of responsibility if we hope to effectively combine Day/Evening. A fulltime position is needed

February 17, 1982

(not necessarily an additional staff member). The working hours would ideally be 2 p.m. - 10 p.m. This would allow for complete communication between day/evening administrators. We should also pursue this overlap time with our support staff as well.

The chart should also indicate that the Associate and Assistant Deans in the Instructional area share responsibility for the Day/Evening Programs.

Our final recommendation, as it pertains directly to the proposed chart, would be the inclusion of the discipline and conduct of the Campus Police under a single authority in either the Instructional or Student Services office.

Our major concern is the lack of direction offered by the chart in regard to specific programs and the course of education at Santa Rosa Junior College in general. We cannot merely judge pieces of paper, without knowing the reasons for the changes being proposed. The committee's intentions regarding the future of programs and the benefits seen from proposed changes must be clarified in order for reasonable recommendations to be made.

As you know, we feel that the process used to determine this proposal was wholly unsatisfactory. We oppose a reorganization proposal that does not originate from representatives of all segments of the campus. The information leaks and procedural bungles (e.g. termination/reassignment letters), have only succeeded in producing paranoia, resentment and skepticism about the worth of the chart.

Given the lack of acceptance of the chart and the problems inherent in the process and proposal the Associated Students recommend that the entire proposal and its results be reviewed. A new chart will have to be developed in order to address the problems and the Reorganization Committee membership needs to be adjusted. Serious consideration must, also, be given to hiring an outside consultant.

We are contemplating major changes. We are facing an uncertain financial future. We cannot base our decisions on the personalities involved in our present situation. We have always excelled at planning for the future. The times we face are perhaps our greatest challenge yet. We are well equipped to meet this challenge. Every segment of our campus enjoys strong, conscientious leadership. We must not waste the talent, but rather take advantage of this opportunity to have the best possible people make the best possible decision.

OPERATION SHARE

Santa Rosa Junior College
1501 Mendocino Avenue
Santa Rosa, CA 95401
(707) 527-4265

Operation SHARE is a tutorial program which utilizes college students in providing one-to-one friend and helping relationships to children in grades kindergarten through twelve. By becoming involved in this type of relationship, you will be providing a young person with a close interpersonal relationship, academic assistance, motivational encouragement, and opportunities for new experiences.

Children are referred to the program primarily by their classroom teachers with parental permission but referrals may also be initiated by a family member or another school professional. The referrals are made primarily because these children are having difficulty in school. These difficulties may be strictly academic or a combination of academic and social. These are students who generally have had very few successes in school and who often do not have the self-confidence to continue trying when faced with the probability of another failure.

You need no special qualifications to be a SHARE tutor - only your interest in children and your willingness to get involved in helping another human being. However, this involvement requires responsibility and a deep commitment on your part. You will be working with a child whom the schools, and perhaps his/her parents, have failed to reach fully. You may not accomplish as much as you might expect with this child, in fact, much of what you accomplish may be invisible. But you will learn a great deal about yourself and working with a young person through the experience.

Before getting involved in the SHARE Program you must fully understand the commitment you're making to this young person. Each semester we have students who enroll in the program with every good intention of keeping their semester commitment only to drop mid-way through because of personal problems, school or work pressures, or a lack of continued interest. If you suspect this could happen to you, please consider tutoring another semester when you can make this commitment without any reservations.

Now that you know what SHARE is and what type of children we work with, you need to know exactly what's required of you and what benefits you will receive from the experience.

TUTOR RESPONSIBILITIES

Each tutor must assume the following responsibilities:

1. Tutor a <sup>min</sup> ~~maximum~~ of 3 hours per week for one semester. The tutoring will be done after school hours, either at the school or at the child's home. The final tutoring schedule and location will be worked out with your child's family and teacher based on your availability.

2. Being Consistent. Make sure the child knows when the tutoring sessions will be held. Regularly scheduled sessions are advisable. If you must cancel or change a tutoring session, remember to call and let your child know.
3. Meeting monthly with your child's teacher. Tutors are required to meet with the teacher at least once a month. The purpose of these meetings is to exchange information about the child, his progress and individual development.
4. Meeting monthly with the SHARE staff. Tutors are required to have a monthly conference with a SHARE staff member. This will keep us informed on your tutoring situation. However, we encourage you to drop by more frequently just to chat and share your tutoring tales.
5. Turning in a monthly Tutor Check-In Sheet. This check-in sheet is a form which logs your monthly tutoring activities. This must be filled out each month and signed by your child's teacher.

GETTING STARTED IN SHARE

To get started in SHARE you will:

1. Attend an Orientation Meeting. At this meeting your SHARE Coordinator will explain in depth what the philosophy of SHARE is, what you will be doing as a SHARE tutor, and how to enroll in the program. It is at this point that you will consider if you can make the necessary commitments to tutor. If you choose to make these commitments you will fill out the necessary forms to enroll in the program and will be given an appointment time for an individual interview in the SHARE office.
2. Have an individual interview with a SHARE staff member. This interview is an opportunity for the SHARE staff to get to know you better. We will be discussing your special skills and interests as they relate to tutoring and will provide you with specific program information that will aid you in the selection of a child at your matching appointment.
3. Have a matching appointment with a SHARE staff member. At this appointment with the guidance of a SHARE staff member, you will select a child to tutor for the semester. After the selection has been made, she will make a teacher appointment for you, usually within 3 or 4 days, explain the process for making your initial home visit, and explain how to record your tutoring hours on the tutor check-in forms.
4. Meet with your tutee's classroom teacher. This appointment is made at your matching appointment and confirmed through the SHARE office. The purpose of this meeting is to establish a relationship with the teacher, which will continue throughout the semester, and gather additional information from her about your tutee.

5. Meet with your tutee's family. After your teacher appointment, you will be scheduling your first home visit. You should try and schedule this visit 1 or 2 days after your teacher appointment. The purpose of this visit is to meet the family, provide them with some information about yourself, and arrange a tutoring schedule.
6. Keep an Initial Check-In Appointment in the SHARE office within one week of your matching appointment. By this time you should have met your child, his teacher, and the family. You will turn in an Initial Check-In Sheet confirming that the tutoring has begun. At this appointment your first monthly SHARE conference appointment will be scheduled.

RESOURCES AND SUPPORT FOR TUTORS

A major function of SHARE is to assist and support the tutors in their individual tutoring situations. Our purpose is not to direct the tutoring situations, but to provide ideas, materials, and resources as needed. In carrying this out, the following services are provided through the SHARE office on your campus:

1. Training. A weekly class is offered to provide you with tutoring ideas and materials. A "Getting Started Workshop" is held at the beginning of the semester for tutors not enrolled in the class. Individual help is always available in the SHARE office.
2. Materials. A wide variety of tutoring guidelines, teaching aids, learning games and other helpful materials are available in the SHARE office.
3. Special Activities. Group activities for tutors and tutees, such as outings, parties and workshops, are offered each semester. Most of these activities are planned by the tutors.

TUTORING REWARDS - WHY SHOULD I GET INVOLVED?

There are many reasons for becoming a SHARE tutor.

- Personal satisfaction and growth.
- Pre-professional experience.
- May help you to gain insight into your own abilities and career preferences.
- May satisfy requirements for a class project.

- Provides 1 - 5 units of credit.
- Offers you a chance to apply classroom knowledge to a real life situation.
- A chance to meet other students with similar interests.

INTERESTED? If you feel you'd like to SHARE some of your time in our program, then you're the person we want!

Deadlines near for college admissions

Santa Rosa JC

There is still time to register for Spring Semester classes at Santa Rosa Junior College.

SRJC day and evening classes begin the week of February 1, and registrations are being accepted by the college until February 16 for all classes that have not been previously filled.

Students may register for one class or for several in Bailey Hall, SRJC, from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Fridays.

Fees required upon registration are a Student Use Fee of $3 and a Health Services Fee of $2.50 for students taking eight or fewer units and $3.50 for students taking nine or more units. In addition, some classes require a fee to cover the cost of materials to be used in class. Optional fees include parking, which ranges from $3 to $8, and membership in the Associated Student Body, $10. SRJC is tuition-free to California residents. Out-of-State residents must pay tuition of $73 per unit. For information, call the Registrar's Office, SRJC, 527-4211.

Sonoma State U

The last day to apply for admission this semester to Sonoma State University is Friday, February 19.

Individuals applying before this date must also have the necessary $25 application fee, transcripts and test scores on file so that an admission decision can be made prior to Friday, February 26.

Information concerning application requirements and necessary supporting documents may be obtained from the Office of Relations with Schools, 664-2363 or 2375. Applicants are encouraged to apply in person at the Office of Admissions and Records, Stevenson 1088. The office is open Monday through Thursday, 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. and 5 to 7:30 p.m. Friday hours are 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Friday, February 26, is the last day to register late for spring semester 1982.

Spring semester brings same problems

by Tammie Edwards

Let's face it. This article appears in the Oak Leaf at the start of every semester. The purpose of this is to inform Oak Leaf readers of how the beginning of the semester affects the campus and the students.

Registration and the first few weeks of the semester always have a big impact on SRJC life. Lines are longer at Bailey Hall. Seating space is scarce in the Coop. Parking spaces are rare and the bookstore turns into an insane asylum.

"With registration right next door, it was bananas here for two weeks. We became the super information center," said Gene Canevari, assistant dean of student services.

But the bookstore isn't feeling the squeeze as much as the Student Activities Office.

"It's not as busy as usual. It's been a slow rush. I think a lot of it has to do with the price of books. It's a shame they're so high," stated Lenny Dressing, a part-time clerk at the bookstore. "That's my own personal opinion," she added.

And if anyone is reading this over lunch in the cafeteria, chances are lunch is a do-it-yourself sandwich or a burrito. Those are what David Sommers, food services director, says are the cafeteria's most popular items. "The biggest one is the 'build your own sandwich.' And it's kind of a toss-up between that and the Mexican food station," he said.

As for the overall impact of the Coop, things are a little busier than usual. "There seems to be this semester more students than there were a year ago in the spring semester. We still have plenty of seating available. The service area still becomes jammed at peak hours. We've been able to keep the lines moving," he said.

Having registration in the cafeteria didn't cause any significant problems, either. "This year with them (registration) here our sales increased during dead week and finals. I didn't hear much complaint about the reduced seating because the students realized it was under adverse conditions.

"God helped us out because He gave us good weather so some of the students were able to sit outside," Sommers added with relief.

So far, so good. The campus facilities and faculty members seem to be handling the onslaught very well. But so far everything has been an estimate. Where are the hard facts about the number of students here? They are in Jack Rooney's office. Rooney, SRJC's registrar, receives a computer printout that shows total day and evening enrollment every morning.

As of February 10, SRJC's daytime enrollment was 8968; total enrollment was 20,658. "This figure will continue to grow until census," Rooney stated.

On census day, the college must report its total enrollment to the government in order to receive state funds for average daily attendance.

Because of the new registration system, Rooney has no means of estimating what the final enrollment figures will be.

In the old system, potential students would fill out applications way before the start of the semester.

"In the past, a student would turn in one of these (applications) a few weeks before the semester started. Now I don't have enough to look at to be able to tell (what the enrollment will be by the census date). I have no applications to go by now. The science of the art of prediction is no longer available now," he added.

So even the registrar is guessing about enrollment.

"Well, I would say as far as enrollments are concerned, we are slightly above where we were last fall and we're running close to even to where we were last spring.

"Spring is normally less than fall. This is because we have much fewer high school graduates. The students in the spring are, by and large, a couple of years older than high school graduates. It's hard to compare fall to spring because the people are different," Rooney said.

"We have students who register later perhaps because the skiing is good in the mountains," he concluded.

by Tammie Edwards

"Music hath charms to sooth the savage beast," said an ancient philosopher. Well, lullabies are music, and small children, if not savage beasts, are at least unruly at times. Then it follows that an album of lullabies could go a long way in comforting children. That's the way Carm Canevari sees it.

Mrs. Canevari, wife of SRJC's Assistant Dean of Student Services Gene Canevari, has just released a children's album called "Lullabies and Starry Skies." It's filled with both traditional lullabies and new songs that Mrs. Canevari wrote herself. She also did all of the vocals.

She's not positive when the idea to make the album first occurred to her.

"Well, let's see. I guess we could say it started way back when I was in high school. One of the things I wanted to do was make people happy," she estimated.

So why did she do it now, instead of when she was in high school? There are three reasons. The first is that she had the time.

"Our two daughters became grown. All of a sudden I had a lot of time on my hands. It was like a whole new life ahead of me," she said.

Another reason is that someone asked her to record some lullabies.

"Two years ago, my sister-in-law asked if I would just put together some songs for her daughter, Raina. She's a very bright child, but hyper. When she heard

And finally, her need to please people in general became a specific need to comfort children.

"It was sometime around Easter last year when I became extremely aware of children's hurts and needs. No matter how good the parents are, there is always the need to have something made better. Children as infants, even when they're just born, can be depressed. This really spoke to me," she said.

So the time had come in Mrs. Canevari's life to make the album. She and her husband investigated the audience and the competition.

Gabrielle Bright, daughter of SRJC student trustee Katy Bright, was one of the first test subjects.

"Carm did a rough (test) of the first side. We 'child-tested' it on a couple of people," Mr. Canevari said.

"Katy (Bright) took it home; she put it on. It wasn't through the first song and Gabrielle asked if she could put on her jammies and listen to it in bed. Katy came back about 15 minutes later and Gabrielle was fast asleep," said Mr. Canevari.

"We don't guarantee it, but there have been a number who have responded that way," Mrs. Canevari added.

The audience liked it, but what about the competition? "Unless it's Walt Disney there isn't much, and there's nothing like this. They (other children's albums) were really sort of garbagey things," criticized Mr. Canevari.

So the work began. Mr. Canevari handled the business aspects of the project and Mrs. Canevari worked on the creative part.

Mr. Canevari definitely had enough work to keep him busy. "I wasn't paying much attention at the beginning, but we ran into some really complicated copyright problems. On a couple of the numbers she had used lyrics out of the Christian Mother Goose Songbook."

They applied for permission to record the song, but they didn't receive it.

But finally he got copyright permission for all of the songs. But, "I told her next time she does one of these things, she's going to have to use her own material. It's just easier when you're using your own stuff," he said with a grin.

While Mr. Canevari was trying to work out the copyright problems, Mrs. Canevari was trying to give the album the proper tone and significance.

"It's designed to build self-confidence and a healthy ego. I am a Christian. I think that a lot of the concepts of love that are on the album come from that. I wouldn't want it to be labeled a 'Christian album' because that's a misnomer.

"The message is love and life. The opposite of those are hate and death and sickness. I think it's a good product. It has the child in mind," Mrs. Canevari stated.

"We were shooting for something that was suited to a general market, not just a Christian market," Mr. Canevari said.

Mrs. Canevari has big plans for her album. She wants to see if it has favorable effects on infants born to mothers in prison. She also feels that it may have its place in convalescent hospitals.

Another thing she wants to investigate is its effect on children's singing voices. She claims that a college professor once said that almost all children are born with a perfect pitch. They retain that singing ability if they have a good musical example to follow.

"Any child could sing on pitch if they had the example of singing on pitch. If you catch them early enough, no child has bad pitch. I'm hoping that this album will help in that," she said.

Mrs. Canevari wants to continue doing albums and writing songs.

"We hope to do many, many more. I have a number of ideas. Continuing with children's albums is definitely in the plans. I also have plans to do albums for adults.

"I believe that this is a sort of an ageless, timeless album. It should gain in popularity, if anything," Mrs. Canevari said.

"The thing I feel is that it's not only for children of children's ages; I think it's for the children in all of us. I think we can identify with that child, if we dare.

"I may make up for the lack of love that we felt as children. At times when I listen to it, it touches me; I feel warm. I believe that that quality, that emotion, that feeling that comes through; that is God.

"It is His project. He guided it all the way through," she concluded.

T.V. media intern makes local waves

by Cynthia Stephens

"There's my name, under video," Moira Reynolds says enthusiastically as the credits roll for the 7:30 p.m. news at Santa Rosa's Channel 50. "Seeing my name in the credits is great," the SRJC student says proudly.

Reynolds is a communications student who works 15 hours a week as an intern at the local television station. She volunteered for the position as a newsloader because she felt it is a "rare opportunity to learn about television."

The television station operates 18 hours a day and Reynolds works from 6:45 p.m. to midnight, three days a week.

While the master controller mans his console of monitors and red, green, and yellow lighted buttons, Reynolds races back and forth loading tapes in the proper sequence into 12 video tape recorders.

"These tapes are the commercials and those are the news films. These over here are for the weather report," Reynolds points out between trips to the recorders. "Each 30 minute newscast can have 40 or more different video tapes. I have to see that they are played in the proper order, rewind the played tapes, and store the ones to be kept," Reynolds says, anxious to explain the process.

"Yeah, I've made mistakes. Once I shut off a sports tape accidentally right in the middle. The monitor went black and everyone screamed and went crazy," she reveals without hesitation. "But most of the time it's pretty easy."

After the hectic newscast, Reynolds sets up the commercials for the rest of the evening broadcasts. Things slow down and she has time to talk to the other interns and employees.

"I've made a lot of friends working here. All the people I've met at Channel 50 are very nice. You might expect them to have big heads because they're on television, but they don't," Reynolds says.

Reynolds tells how during commercials the news broadcasters on the set sometimes clown around and tell jokes. When the newscast begins, they quickly sit up straight and become serious once again, she says. Laughing, she imitates the classic news person's pose.

In the next phase of her internship, Reynolds will learn the job of master controller. This person starts the tapes at the correct moment and monitors the broadcast sequence. The job requires an FCC license and she will take the test to obtain one soon.

Reynolds enjoys working at the station and her only disappointment is that she doesn't get paid for it. "Most students can't afford to work part-time if there's no pay," Reynolds says.

Reynolds found out about the internship while working with the Santa Rosa Junior College publicity design group. Gene Canevari, the assistant dean of student activities, asked a group of students if they would be interested in the internship. "I said, 'no' at first; but when I thought of the valuable experience, I changed my mind," Reynolds explains.

Broadcasting is not new to Reynolds. While attending Montgomery High School, she was a disc-jockey at KJAM, a short-lived radio station which broadcasted from the Flamingo Hotel.

Reynolds plans to continue her education next fall at San Francisco State University, which she feels has a notable communications department.

"I think I'd like to be a talk show host or on a television news magazine show," Reynolds reveals with a self-confidence rare for a 19 year old. In the meantime she plans on learning as much as she can about the television industry through every opportunity available.

Reassigning plan snakes administration

by Lisa Fertitta

People don't always welcome and accept change. The recent proposed plan to reassign job duties and titles in SRJC's administration is one example of this.

The reorganizing of the SRJC administration has the student government, faculty, and administrators on this campus rattled.

Many people on campus are complaining and/or objecting to the proposed plan because of the way the reorganization has surfaced and has been carried out.

A Reorganization Committee drafted the proposed plan. The Board of Trustees appointed the committee members, but no students or faculty serve on the committee. The members are three Board of Trustees members, SRJC President Roy Mikalson and SRJC Vice-president Brook Tauzer.

The fact that no students or faculty members sit on this decision-making committee has resulted in criticism. ASB President Mari Maguire said that no students or faculty members serve on the committee probably because "there's been a lot of bad experiences on this campus with committees of classified staff, faculty and students. They're known for not getting much done."

Maguire said the Board could have been trying to avoid this lack of productivity by forming a committee without the other campus segments. "But in doing so they damaged the integrity of the process," she said.

SRJC Student Trustee Katy Bright believed the reason why the Reorganization Committee did not involve students was due to a certain attitude some campus administrators have. "They see students as being here for two years and moving along. They think students don't care about things long range. It's not a realistic response."

Jack Healy, dean of adult and continuing education, said that "the groundwork of the reorganization had to be explored by people involved."

But Claudia Cooper, president of the California Teachers Association and SRJC counselor, felt changes of this "magnitude" should integrate all sectors of the campus.

Assistant Dean of Community Education Jim Churchill said that it didn't really matter how the administration reorganized itself. "Really, it's up to the Board and the president (Mikalson). We serve at the pleasure of the president."

But Bright saw the composition of the committee as a "symptom. You know something's not working (in the college) when the administration can't reorganize itself and the committee to do so has four Board members on it and only one administrator."

Mikalson said the reason why the Reorganization Committee had no students or faculty on it was because "one of the things we wanted to do was to not spend so much time on it, and to work from the top down."

Cooper said that the way in which the committee proposed the reorganization plan showed two things: "a lack of communication and the art of poor timing; or is it intentional timing."

"It's a current problem. Not only is communication missing between faculty and students but also among the administration and management (of this college)."

Maguire also pointed out a lack of communication on this campus. "No one's satisfied. It had to get to the point where the ASB president challenged the Board of Trustees at a meeting. That should never happen."

At the Jan. 11 Board meeting Maguire said there was "no communication between the administration and the ASB," and added she sometimes had to find out information on this campus in "ridiculous ways."

And the way the administration, faculty, and student government found out about the reorganization is still another "hot" issue.

The committee sent out to all campus segments a chart graphically depicting the reorganization and a letter that asked for written comments and suggestions about the chart. The comments and suggestions were to be sent to Mikalson's office by Feb. 16.

Up to this point, for months rumors were circulating on campus about an administrative reorganization but there was no real evidence until February, when people received the charts and letters.

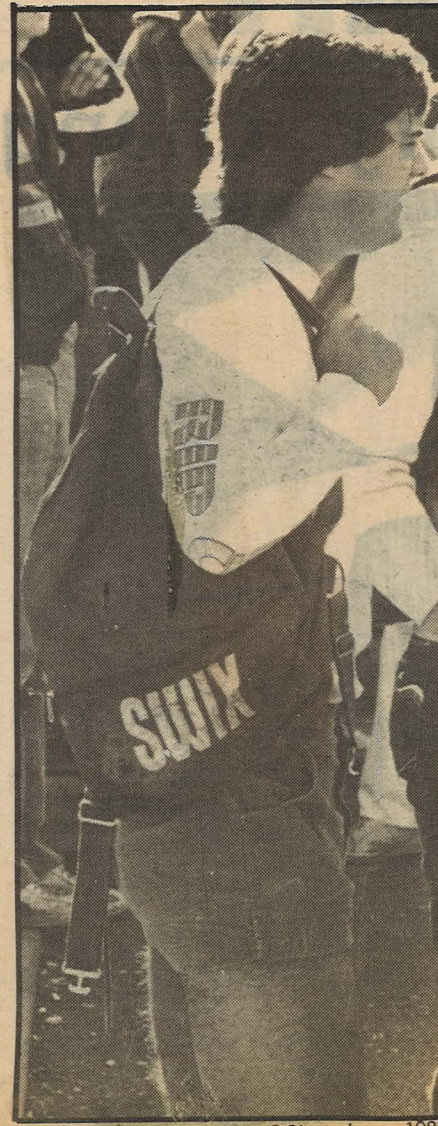

One of those "odd outcroppings" may be the skeletal "flow chart" that all campus segments received and were to comment on. The chart had only names and job titles but neglected to list, most importantly, the job responsibilities.

"In student services there were things left off (the chart); ASB operations, Kent Hall, those kind of things. Poor Gary Anderson (Work Experience Coordinator) thought he was out of a job because he wasn't on the chart," said Maguire.

But Mikalson said that that was a "clerical error" and that the chart was "not completed yet. That's just the first draft," he said.

Cooper stressed that the way the committee handled the reorganization was the "essence of the problem" but "what is being done is also a concern."

The shuffling of SRJC's administration had two main objectives. (1) To integrate the day and evening colleges. Presently, these two colleges are "No one really knew what was being reorganized, and what was happening," said Evelyn Pollard, assistant dean of counseling. But Churchill said some secrecy and a "certain degree of confidentiality" was needed for "things like this."

It may be that the Board-appointed committee kept the reorganization plan too confidential. When asked who was on the Board-appointed Committee of Reorganization, Dr. John Jacobs, a Board member, replied, "I don't know who's on it."

Cooper had strong opinions about the poor timing of the committee's suggested plan. "I did not get my hands on one of these (the chart and letter) until Jan. 28. The faculty was on semester break then.

"The first two weeks of a new semester is mass confusion." Cooper said teachers are having to deal with new students, new classes, and new schedules the first two weeks of each semester. "I don't think two weeks to respond (to the reorganization chart) is adequate. My question is, what is the rush? I question whether they (the committee) want feedback," said Cooper.

Bright also had concerns about the "less than thoughtful" way the reorganization had happened. "We have outcroppings of odd process," she said.

operating separately under different instructional administrators. And (2) to recognize that some administrative jobs on campus have grown tremendously and to give those individuals formal title promotions.

With these objectives, the reorganization plan mostly affects the instructional segment of the administration. This is the segment that deals with and controls the faculty on campus. The integration of the day and evening instruction under the proposed plan reassigns job titles and duties of those administrators involved in the day to day operations of the day and evening colleges now.

Like Cooper, Maguire said the actual reorganization proposed is a "problem."

One such "problem" for student government may be the movement of Gene Canevari, assistant dean of student services.

Mikalson said "after the transitional period" Canevari will be moved from Pioneer Hall to Bailey Hall. "What is planned now is his main office will be over here (in Bailey Hall)."

Mikalson continued explaining that Canevari would have more of the dean of students present special jobs and would be working more with counseling. Bob Flores, Canevari's assistant, would then be doing most of the ASB day to day activities said Mikalson.

Maguire said she "would oppose" a Canevari move and feels that such a move "wouldn't serve any purpose."

Bright questioned the reasoning in moving Canevari. "Why do you want to move another body into Bailey Hall when you have people working in closets now? There's no sense in pulling him out of Pioneer and dumping him into Bailey soup. I wouldn't like it."

Bright continued by saying that the Associated Students would be "greatly weakened" by the movement of Canevari. "They'll have to be very careful in moving him," she warned.

Cooper had many questions and comments about what the committee was reorganizing. "It (the reorganization chart) is demonstrative of the long standing problems in the administration.

"The instructional side (of the chart), the intent was to integrate day and evening instruction. My question is, it takes the experienced one (Jack Healy) out of the mainstream of education and puts him in outreach programs, where the soft money is.

"At the same time it takes the two new instructional assistant deans (Gronroos and Buckley) and in less than a year's time raises their positions."

Bright also showed a slight uneasiness with the new instructional assignments. "I feel Ed Buckley and Henry Gronroos are just a little bit fresh on the job," said Bright. "I think we should see how they do on the job for about a year before itching them up to higher responsibilities."

Churchill is just one example of an administrator who will have a new title and job. He will be assistant dean of liberal arts under the new plan instead of assistant dean of community education.

Is Churchill qualified for his new job? "For the past seven years I have majorly been working with liberal arts on campus," Churchill said.

"Much of his interests are in liberal arts. Although he taught business, his interests are predominately in the liberal arts," said Mikalson.

Cooper also said that every time a reorganization chart comes out Joe Johnson, associate dean of administrative services, "moves up one." The proposed chart promotes Johnson from an associate dean to a dean of personnel and administrative services.

"In reality his functions have not changed nor do they have the breadth of responsibility that warrant a dean's position," Cooper added.

"I also find it curious that it's only men that move up (in the administration chart). The two female administrators, Allene Hankla and Evelyn Pollard, the two real work horses, stay in the same positions. Seems to me there could be some favoritism occurring," said Cooper.

The reorganization objective to combine the day and evening colleges didn't please everyone on campus either.

Healy, who didn't know if he should "air" his criticisms of the proposed chart and who felt it was an "in house fight" did eventually voice his opinions.

Healy sees himself as "hanging out there on the side" or the "dean of this and that" under the new plan of reorganization. Healy will be a dean of special programs under the new plan instead of a dean of adult and continuing education.

"I'm not going to pout in some corner and go home (over the job switch). The idea that there are two schools here (at SRJC), I think that's ridiculous. But night school is not a mirror image of day school. The problems, the students, the people are different at night and they need to be looked at differently."

Healy continued pointing out that the reorganization proposal didn't provide for a night school spokesman, and he feels there should be one.

"The attempt to bring them (the day and evening colleges) into focus as one college has swung too much the other way. There needs to be a consistent person in charge of evening college," said Pollard.

Mikalson said that there still will be "somebody designated as the central coordinator of the evening (college). That's one of the things we have to resolve."

The integration of day and evening colleges will serve for better coordination, said Mikalson. "I think there will be better evening supervision than there has been," added Mikalson.

Maguire said that "in the long run any change in the administration effects students." Students will be happy to know that this reorganization will simplify the registration process by unifying registration and the schedule of classes for the day and evening colleges.

"Students should watch and keep an eye on (shuffling of administrators)," said Bright

College Council Minutes

Present: Duane Blackwill, Katy Bright, Mauri Frimkess, Jack Healy, Bruce Macpherson, Jack Rooney, Ron Schuelke, Brook Tauzer.

1. Policy on unpaid personal leaves for certificated employees.

Action item for 3/4/82

2. Policy on posting of grades.

a) Existing:

In order to protect the faculty and administration, the posting of course grades at the end of the semester is prohibited. Grades on final examinations may be posted. Course grades will be issued by the Registrar's Office when the student has cleared all obligations.

b) Proposed:

All test scores, including final examinations, and course grades may be posted at the discretion of instructors. Instructors will utilize every precaution to preclude violation of student confidentiality. The use of social security numbers or other student identifications is permissible; anonymity is mandatory.

c) Rationale:

The existing policy is 25 years old, and was intended to withhold grades from students who owed fines. In compliance with the Buckley Amendment, we now mail grades to all students. For those owing fines, further service is refused, including registration and transcripts of record. Also, we need to observe confidentiality.

LULLABIES & STARRY SKIES

A Lot of Love for a Little Child

LULLABIES & STARRY SKIES is a new high-fidelity cassette album produced for children and for everyone who cares about children.

Using a combination of 7 traditional lullabies and 8 new songs, Carm Canevari has created a unique album that children and parents really like. Children are fascinated by the musical bedtime dialogue on side 1, which depicts a happy, loving experience between Mother and Child. It is the kind of parent-child sharing that all of us wish we could have had, and which we would like all children to have. The instrumentation ranges from piano and violin work to synthesizers, guitars and even spoons. Carm does all of the speaking voices and vocals in this mini-musical.

Side 2 of LULLABIES & STARRY SKIES contains classical and traditional songs by Brahms, Schubert and Humperdink interspersed with original songs by Carm Canevari. Again, all the vocal work is done by her.

The album is over 40 minutes long, was recorded in stereo and uses the dolby noise reduction system. The cassettes were reproduced in real time for the highest possible musical quality and can be enjoyed on the least expensive portable cassette player as well as the most sophisticated high-fidelity stereo music system.

The album includes: TIP TOE, I SEE THE MOON, THIS IS THE DAY, I BELIEVE IN YOU, HUMMINGBIRD SONG, SPARKLE LITTLE, MY FATHER'S HOUSE, and GOD BLESS, all by Carm Canevari; SLEEP, LITTLE ONE, SLEEP by MacCarthy; PLAYMATES by Dowell; SPARKLE LITTLE music by Mozart; GOLDEN SLUMBERS, 17th century cradle song; SWEET AND LOW by Barnby and Tennyson; CRADLE SONG by Brahms; SLUMBER SONG by Schubert; EVENING PRAYER from "Hansel and Gretel" by Humperdink.

LULLABIES & STARRY SKIES may be purchased by sending a check for $7.98 per album plus $1.52 for postage and handling to EUCAN Productions LSS-J, 4466 Montgomery Dr., Santa Rosa, CA 95405. Albums are also available at the SRJC Bookstore, House of Music, and One Way Book Shop in Santa Rosa, and at Westwind Records and Ruggle's Music Store in Sonoma. All albums carry a money back guarantee if not fully satisfied.

“Seven Dirty Words”

Does the constitutional right of freedom of speech override the constitutional guarantee of a citizen's right to privacy? Or, more specifically, does SRJC student Bill Mitchell have a right to shout obscenities at students lunching in the Coop, whether they want to listen to his speeches or not?

We say no. Students should not be forced to eat their lunches with a tirade of George Carlin's "Seven Dirty Words" as background music.

Mitchell undeniably has a right to freely express his opinions without threat of jail. But if Mitchell, or any other Hyde Park speaker, finds it necessary to pepper his expression with four-letter words, we feel he is violating the rights of those within earshot.

However, it is the responsibility of the audience, and to some degree the officers of the Associated Students (who supervise noon-hour activity) to decide what is obscene and offensive; it is not the responsibility of the Campus Police.

The problem lies in the fact that obscenity laws are extremely vague. No one, not even the Supreme Court, can define exactly what obscenity is. The U.S. Supreme Court has left the decision to the tastes of local areas.

We feel the Police mishandled the situation that arose last Wednesday. The Police were right to investigate the complaint they received, and they were right in informing Mitchell that they received a complaint about his alleged offensive language, and they were even right to ask him to stop using obscenities.

But the key word here is "ask." The Campus Police had no right to threaten to arrest Mitchell without telling him which laws he was violating, or what, exactly, they were threatening to arrest him for.

If lunching students are offended by any noon-hour activity, it is their responsibility to complain to ASB officers. It is the responsibility of the ASB officers to lodge a complaint against offending speakers and to have them removed, if need be.

No one is questioning students' rights to freedom of speech. But we believe that freedom of speech does not include the right to freedom of obscenity. It is possible to construct a sentence or make an effective speech without uttering a single word that would make a mother or grandmother reach for a bar of soap.

Obviously, some students are offended by the language Hyde Park speaker Mitchell has been using. Students have a right to eat their lunches in peace; perhaps the best way to maintain that right is to begin to exercise their right not to listen. We suggest that this whole problem could be greatly reduced if no one paid any attention to it.

Briner replied, "Everyone knows what that is."

Maguire immediately responded, "The Supreme Court has not even defined what that is."

Blumenthal and Briner left without making an arrest. Maguire, in a later statement, labeled all the officers involved as being antagonistic.

Mitchell continued to speak for the rest of the hour on topics of free speech, U.S. involvement in El Salvador, the necessity of a free people to engage freely in open dialogue, and the exchange of information without the threat of censure by police.

In a sharply worded criticism, Maguire said, "The Campus Police were way out of line; they completely mishandled the situation. Their attitude was unbelievable; completely antagonistic from the start." Maguire harshly said, "All the officers involved had no grasp of the state penal code or college regulations." Winding up her evaluation, she further stated that there was "no situation until the Campus Police showed up."

When questioned afterwards about the incident, Sgt. Blumenthal explained that the campus police had received "a phone call from someone" and that the complaint came under the heading of a "verbal disturbance."

According to Maguire there is no "permit" required for speakers. The President of the Associated Students, the Activities Advisor, and the Dean of Students, not the Campus Police, are the people responsible for supervising observance of the Hyde Park code.

Student fights for his rights

by John Bruton

Last Thursday, the Campus Police attempted twice to remove a speaker from the Hyde Park podium in front of the coop. Bill Mitchell, president of the newly formed "Stop the War Machine" club, was allegedly using obscene language while speaking.

Two Campus Police officers arrived at the scene. They were responding to an anonymous phone complaint that said Mitchell was using obscene language. The two officers told him that he would have to "settle down." They then threatened Mitchell with arrest and jail if he did not stop using "obscene language."

Witnesses in the crowd claimed that the officers actually put their hands on Mitchell and tried to physically drag him from the podium.

Mitchell labeled the action "candy-coated fascism."

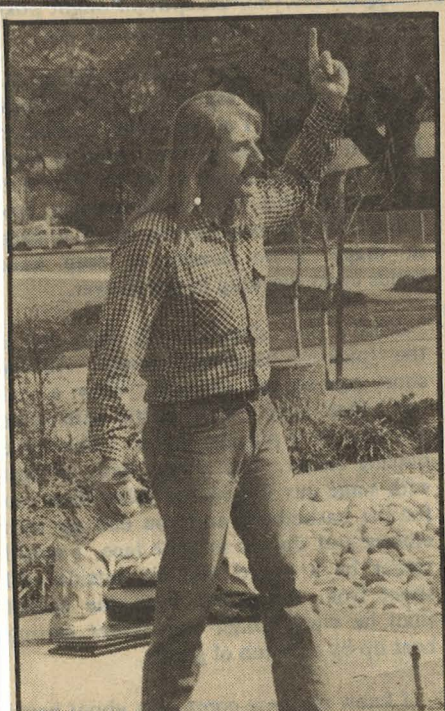

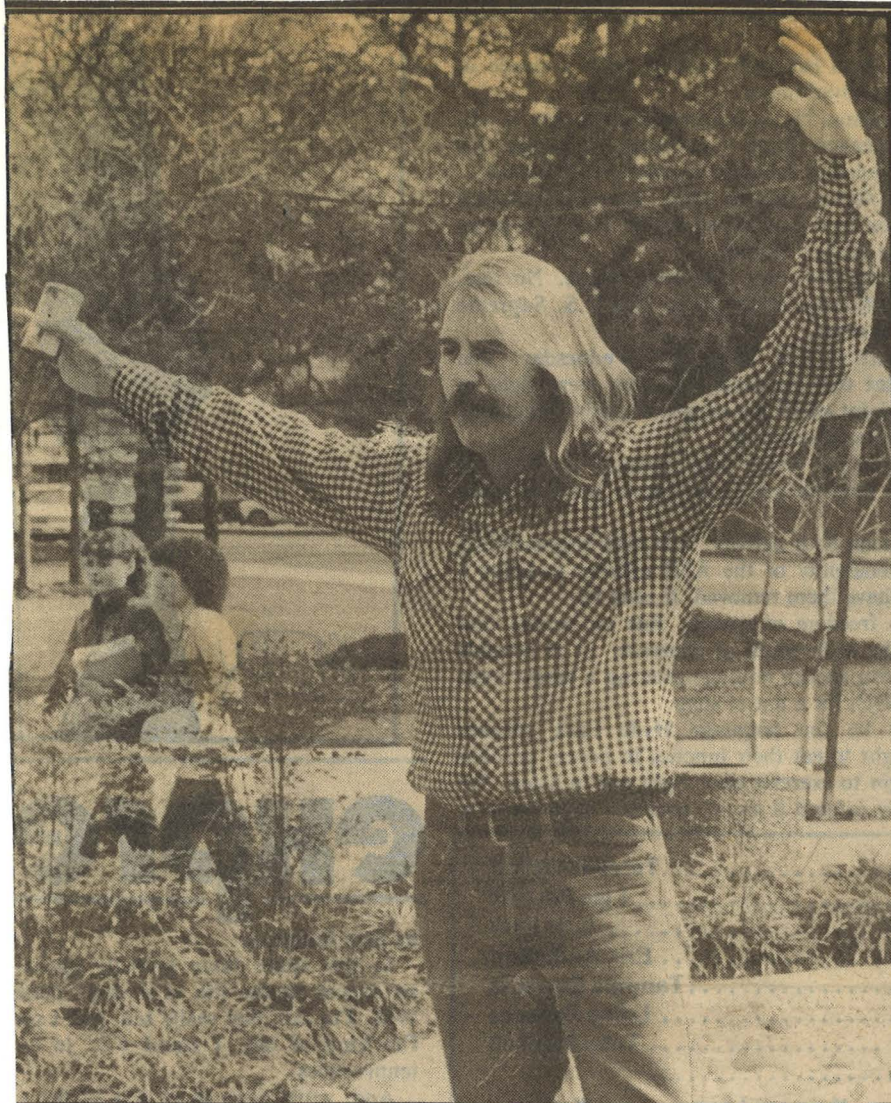

During the entire episode, one of the officers was visibly shaking. The previously apathetic crowd demonstrated their support for Mitchell by chanting "fuck, fuck, fuck..."

After the crowd began to chant, the officers left the scene. The audience grew from about 80 people to approximately 150. Moments later two new officers arrived.

Sgt. Debbi Blumenthal and Officer Jo Briner, without citing any provisions of the state penal code or any provisions of the College Code, again threatened Mitchell with arrest and jail if he did not stop using "obscene language."

ASB President Mari Maguire witnessed most of the events and challenged Blumenthal and Briner to define obscenity.

PLAY COMETS TONIGHT

Cubs coming on strong

By RICH MELLOTT

ROHNERT PARK — There have been times this season when one came away from a Santa Rosa JC basketball game thinking mostly about the Bear Cubs' inadequacies. Last night one came away thinking mostly about their strengths.

Santa Rosa started slowly in its Camino Norte Conference playoff opener against Sacramento City College, but made up for lost time and used its quickness, depth and shooting ability to bury the Panthers, 88-63, before an enthusiastic crowd of about 1,600 at the Sonoma State gymnasium.

What the victory means is that one of community college's heartiest athletic feuds will be renewed tonight when the Cubs travel to San Pablo to meet Contra Costa in the tournament finals. Game time is 7:30 p.m. Awaiting the winner is a trip to the NorCal playoffs against the winner of tonight's Central Valley showdown between Merced and College of the Sequoias.

While the Bear Cubs were dominating Sacramento in one playoff opener last night, San Joaquin Delta was battling Contra Costa to the wire in the other. But the Comets, playing on their home court, finally prevailed, 68-67, on guard Willie Preston's 18-foot jump shot with five seconds left.

The question tonight is whether the Comets (24-8), long on talent but short on manpower, will have enough left for the Bear Cubs, who demonstrated plenty of both in their win over the Panthers — who aren't as bad as SRJC made them look, especially in the second half.

If the Cubs, who have already defeated Contra Costa twice this season, can control the backboards as they did last night, and get the kind of play they received from their guards — particularly Frankie McKinney and Pat Davis — they have a good chance of making it three in a row over the Comets tonight.

"If we're on our game, we can play with 'em," said SRJC coach Bill Trumbo. "In fact, we've already proven we can. Twice."

It was McKinney and Davis who really got the Cubs rolling last night. With Santa Rosa trailing, 27-24, with four minutes left in the half, the sophomore guard tandem went to work, forcing turnovers and turning them into baskets. After a ragged start, the Cubs got their running game going. And their press started taking taking its toll. Sacramento suddenly looked tired and worn.

As the largely partisan crowd came to life, the Cubs surged to a 39-31 halftime lead.

McKinney scored seven points during the 15-4 run.

"That's one of our philosophies — that games are won in the final five minutes of the half and last five of the game," said McKinney, who finished with a team-high 20 points on an 8-for-12 shooting performance. "Especially in the playoffs — you got to be tough in those last five minutes."

"We started shaky, made too many mistakes," said Trumbo. "Then we warmed down and things went easier."

"They (Sacramento) got tired," Trumbo added. "We're deeper and in better shape. It shows in the last five minutes of the half and the last five minutes of the game."

But by the time the final five minutes of the contest rolled around, the Cubs could have finished the Panthers off with their cheerleaders. Santa Rosa, picking up where they left off at the halftime break, outscored Sacramento, 15-6, in the first 6½ minutes of the second half to take a 54-37 lead. Five minutes later the Cubs ran off 10 straight points to erase any doubt. The lead was 25 points — 72-47 — with seven minutes left to play.

by Mike Jasper

Freedom of speech is an important issue on campus these days, especially for those who do not have their own column. Furthermore, it's not limited to the student bodies of SRJC; the fires of oratory seem to be spreading. Lately it's been spreading to my man Spears.

I found Spears at the University of Groton last Thursday, spewing persuasion from Henry Hill — the podium the University reserves for extemporaneous speakers. Fortunately, I managed to lure him away from his disciples for an interview, not an easy task as his followers are people of great zeal and little wisdom — a poisoning blend.

We managed to seclude ourselves beneath a rain drenched alcove on the corner of the quad. The more I talked to Spears, the more I found I was thankful for our own Bill Mitchell.

"So tell me Spears," I asked, "what has prompted you to get involved with student activism?"

"It's the pressing urgency of the issue," he replied. "The elitists are walking all over us this time and if we don't stop them now... Well, history has shown an overabundance of examples. In Time magazine, for instance, page three third column, fourth paragraph down, Hugh Sidney claims that .13 percent of our fellow..."

"Excuse me, Spears, for interrupting, but I must clarify a point. What particular issue is at stake here?" I queried.

"Infanticide. We're against it," he answered.

"Have you found many supporters?" I examined.

"Thousands. We have a petition as long as my appendage. Do you realize that over 200 babies died last year as a result of brutal assaults by these elitist animals?" he challenged.

"How do you know that they are elitists," I asked.

"They tend to own micro-waves," replied Spears.

"Excuse me," I said cutting him off. "But I can't help but notice that freedom of speech seems to be an underlying issue here. Am I correct in this assumption?"

"Not exactly. Primarily we're interested in our freedom of speech. You know, the 'Stop The Booming of Babies Campaign' I'm working on. We figure that it's up to us to take care of our own freedom of speech and that the other activist groups can lobby for themselves. Now I understand the Constitution guarantees freedom of speech, but to tell you the truth, we're planning on changing the Constitution anyway and..."

It was at this point that I tuned out. Spears was an enigma; I couldn't put my finger on him. True, he had charisma, a sense of purpose, a knowledge of the facts. Indeed, he had an admirable cause. But something was bothering me about his manner. There was a wariness on my point, a paranoia. I finally shrugged these thoughts off my mind and returned to the interview. But I secretly resolved never to accept a glass of Kool-Aid from the man.

"Where did you originally get the backing in this issue?" I continued.

"The English department. We like to get the initial support from the liberals," he replied.

"The students of humanities are generally open minded," I agreed.

"That's true. But they're nothing compared to the faculty. We got three instructors right off the top," he countered.

"What do you attribute that to?" I asked, carelessly ending in a preposition.

"A multitude of factors. The urgency, the issue, a sense of commitment, nostalgia. I'd say nostalgia was the main reason. Do you remember Berkeley in '67?" he asked wistfully.

"One last question," I asked. "What will be the repercussions of your campaign against infanticide?"

"Personally, it will give me the satisfaction of knowing that I did my best and gave my all to a noble cause. Besides that, it may make up for law school."

SRJC student trustee is an active lobbyist

by Anne Kunkel

The student representative to the SRJC Board of Trustees cannot have a vote, cannot make or second a motion, and cannot sit in on any executive discussion of personnel matters. But Katy Bright, this year's student trustee, says she does have effective influence on the Board representing the student body.

©Bill O'Connell, 1982

NOT QUITE A MODERN CRIME-FIGHTER — Katy Bright does fight for student rights, though, in her position as Student Trustee.

"Personally, I feel I'm in a challenging position. I don't have the power of the vote, therefore I have to use the power of the lobby," Bright said. For her, lobbying means "doing a lot of thinking and talking to the right people." But she finds that not enough students are thinking or talking among themselves about the issues that affect them.

"The majority of students don't care. It's fine. That's okay. That's the way the world operates," she said. "I represent them anyway.

"Our system is set up so people elect who will represent them. I take that job very seriously," Bright added. Her one year term as student trustee ends after this semester, but she plans to run again.

Bright said her style of working with the Board of Trustees and the administration is pretty low-key. "I've found that working in the background has been very, very beneficial," she said. She works quietly but brings her ideas and actions to life by talking to the people who hold the decision-making power.

"I tend to deal with conflicts away from the Board meetings," she said. "That goes back to an attitude of wanting to be part of the solution instead of part of the problem." That subtlety has come far down the road from where she started becoming politically active in the turmoil of Berkeley, during the 60's.

"I put myself where the action was to feel it, to see what it was all about. I wanted to talk to people, see who was making sense or not," Bright explained. She said she went to work instead of school so she would have the financial security to concentrate on the political awareness of the era. For Bright, this included supporting any protest of the war in Vietnam.

After 18 years in the business world, she returned to school. She said that with her marketing experience she "can talk you into almost everything but I don't want to push a product that I don't believe in." When she realized that she wanted to get into public relations for institutions such as museums and schools, "the need for educations became clear."

As an anthropology major whose "turn-on is Native American art," Bright works doing publicity for the Native American Museum on campus to support herself and her daughter Gabrielle, a six-year-old alumna of Poppy Creek day care center.

"I'm a reentry, single parent, on financial aid, and, except when I screw around too much, an honor student," she said. She sees a good cross section of students around campus and thinks that provides a good foundation for her involvement in student government, which began in the spring of '80 as ASB publicity commissioner.

Bright is now lobbying for internal changes at SRJC. One major idea she is talking to Board members and administrators about is a student union building. "Where the Analy lot temporaries are, I want to see a two-story student union with all the student services, counseling, tutoring, etc.," she said. A student union building would open up two wings of Bailey Hall which is now packed to the gills, according to Bright.

Bright would also like to see the class schedule opened up to run classes from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., and on Saturday, as a possible solution to the tight classroom space problem.

She is also "real concerned" about the Campus Police's involvement with the students. "I believe the Campus Police, and this is not all of them, would do well to have refresher courses in human relations, public relations and group dynamics. I too often see a Campus Police officer acting as an antagonist."

Bright is optimistic about working with all the different segments on campus: the students, faculty, classified employees, management and the administration. "We're all on the same side. This isn't like a competitive business where someone is forever trying to knock out the competition," she said. "It is my job to consider all elements of the community when decisions are made.

"You plant seeds" for change, she said. "That's what I do."

She smiled. "I'm not an altruist. But, as Bob Rubin says it, I'm a pathological idealist. Some of us have to be, you see. I perceive the ideal and strive to it until it makes me sick."

Cubs don't want to march to any beat

by Maureen Layne

It is half time at a SRJC football game. The Bear Cubs are winning and the crowd cheers as they leave the field. It's time for the half time show.

The songleaders go out onto the field, but a Bear Cub marching band is nowhere in sight. In fact, SRJC doesn't even have a marching band. High schools and large colleges have marching bands, so why doesn't SRJC?

Dan Goulart, music department director, said marching bands are a thing of the past. "Marching is as outdated as hoola hoops." He also said that there isn't any student interested in marching.

Goulart said that the Music Educator's National Conference did studies revealing that "the main reason students drop music is because they are forced to march." High school programs are dying out and one reason is because of marching," explained Goulart.

"Music is music. Marching is physical education," he said. "Philosophically, the mission and goal of the community college is to provide music." That is why SRJC doesn't have a marching band.

Goulart, who used to direct marching bands himself, said that he was a proponent of marching band programs such as the one at Leland Stanford University. The program is completely voluntary and he thinks that if a band it set up to march that it should be "strictly voluntary."

"I'm not against marching at all. I just don't want the assumption made that marching is a part of music," said Goulart. "Playing one or two songs at ten football games is certainly not musicianship."

Goulart said that it was a little girl who convinced him that marching bands weren't a part of music. She was a member of one of his marching bands. "She came to me and said 'I want to learn to play the clarinet!', which marching wasn't teaching her."

Goulart said that students don't go to college to march. "They are here to receive a musical education which doesn't entail marching." He said that SRJC did have a marching band in the 60's, but it died with a loss of interest.

Not having a marching band certainly hasn't hurt the college's music department. According to Goulart, "we probably have one of the finest music departments in the state of California."

In the nine years he has been here, the program has grown from two small rooms in Burbank Auditorium to a new building, Forsyth Hall, that is open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.

The department has grown tremendously and has gained a reputation for producing some outstanding musicians. Goulart proudly described the music department as "great. I mean it's just outstanding."

Performing groups of the music program include: two orchestras, four jazz bands, two symphonic bands, four large choirs, about 12 instrumental and vocal ensembles and "half a dozen smaller ensembles."

Goulart said that if students generated enough interest to add a marching band program to the list, "I would make it strictly a volunteer program." However, he doesn't think it would ever happen.

obscurity

Dear Editor:

First of all, I would like to openly thank the campus police for making a go at perpetuating a decent atmosphere for the students to dwell in. It sounds like the officers involved could use a few lessons in diplomacy, but they did have the right idea. I'm sure they've learned how the wrong tact can destroy a good intention. It also helps to have a good intention that's backed by a civil code.

It seems this school is desperately lacking when it comes to setting any standard for moral conduct, whether it be verbal or non-verbal. Bill Mitchell, a few chanting antagonists, and the Oak Leaf staff have taken advantage of this lack of stance and have broadcast to us from the pits of their intelligence. The Oak Leaf was merely abetting the spirit with which the others spoke and hoped to pass it off with "well, we were just reporting the facts." (Editor's note: the reader refers to profanity uttered by a crowd, which the Oak Leaf reported on Feb. 25)

The editorial which immediately followed the story about Mitchell denounced him for "peppering" his speech with four-letter words while the front page article was "peppered" with the profanity chanted by the crowd. I realize that the articles were written by two different people, but the editorial did say "we" when referring to the distaste felt for Mitchell's poor choice of words.

If this doesn't border on hypocrisy, it certainly didn't set any example for others to follow in the future.

Come on and clean up the paper. Give us an intellectually stimulating paper to read.

I strongly disagree with Susan Miller's letter to the editor that seemed to suggest that since we're big boys and girls now we can be fed from a trash can.

Thanks for listening,

the really big issues

Picture an SRJC football game. Any football game. With that picture in mind, ask yourself what seems to be missing.

Is it a field full of formidable football players? Is it top-quality coaches tensely pacing the sidelines? Is it supportive crowds? Is it a bird; Is it a plane? No...it's a marching band.

One highlight of college football games and high school games also is a well executed halftime show featuring a good marching band. Depending on who's winning and who's losing, fans may actually like the halftime show more than the game.

UC Berkeley, for example, had one of the worst teams allowed in a stadium last season, but it also put on some of the best halftime performances. This was of some consolation to UCB students, however small.

Marching bands also serve to relieve tension in the stadium. Citing Berkeley again, specifically the unremarkable Berkeley-USC game, the USC band served as a target for frustrated UCB fans.

Forced to watch the Trojans use the Bears to mop up the football field, UCB fans contented themselves with splattering the USC band with foreign objects. As The Daily Californian later put it: "We may not beat your football team, but we'll cremate your band."

Who knows? Perhaps denied any retribution, the Berkeley fans might have degenerated into anarchy, threatening the entire stadium.

Seeing all these important functions served by marching bands, it seems a shame that SRJC students are denied one of the basic components of college life.

As it is, Bear Cub fans are forced to endure a halftime show consisting of records played over a sound system which never fails to reduce the sound to the quality of a gargling barbershop quartet. SRJC's cheerleaders always give halftime routines the good ole' college try, but ususally get lost somewhere in the expanse of Bailey Field.

In order to have a marching band, however, SRJC must have some students interested in marching. And as one music student put it, "there's not much of a future in marching bands."

But shocking as this musical apathy may seem, we think someone must think there is a future in marching bands. Why else would Pac-10 universities spend tuition funds shuffling them around the country with the football teams?

We suggest that SRJC's music department begin to encourage those who may be closet marching band members and perhaps even set up a marching band program.

We know this position may cause some controversy, but we're prepared to take any flack that may arise. After trifling over administrative flip-flops, constitutional rights, and Reaganomics, we're prepared to take on the really big issues.

SRJC on road to reorganization

JOHN ADAMS

Despite campus-wide rumors and speculations, Santa Rosa Junior College officials are determined to bring the separate day and evening programs under one administration by July 1.

Members of the campus community are divided over the prospect of reorganization, the way it's being handled, and whether any benefit will be realized.

College officials, perplexed by the concerns of faculty, staff and students when the reorganization proposals have yet to emerge from the study committee, say they are committed to joining the statewide effort toward a single college.

The single college concept not only makes sense for efficient and effective campus operations, officials say, but has been recommended by accreditation teams visiting the school.

Much of the campus turmoil appears to stem from a lack of agreement on the part of faculty, staff and students on the reorganization committee which has been working about a year. The board is expected to work through a small committee when it decided to work from the top down, according to Assistant-Superintendent Roy Mikalson.

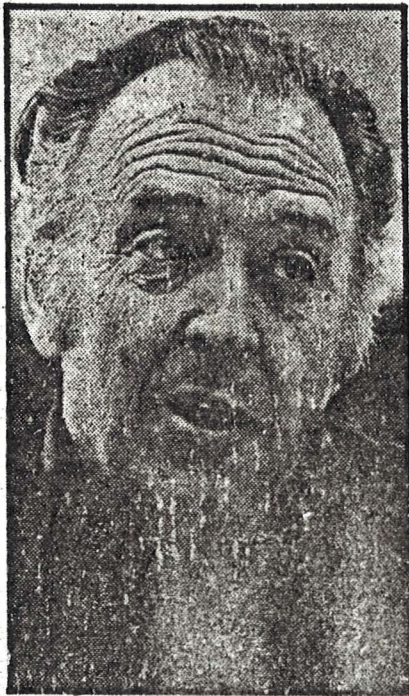

Committee members are Trustee President Larry Bertolini and board members Al Maggini and Ben Race, Mikalson and Vice President Brook Baker.

The changes aren't that major because some already have been made, such as the single registration program, Mikalson said. "We're looking for continuity and better accommodations."

Bertolini said reorganization "is only a modernizing factor to help make use of all the expertise we have in given areas on this campus."

Tauzer said the lack of faculty and students on the committee is an attempt to ignore or go against them. Preliminary reorganization charts are being made available to all interested and responses are being invited.

A second chart was released last week with a third to follow which is expected to spell out more of the administrative adjustments and possibilities.

...different role

Bringing day and evening programs under one administration is the most prominent feature of the reorganization, Tauzer said.

"For example, occupational education day and evening now is focused on one person, Henry Gronroos, and really does not change. We want to do the same in the area of liberal arts by putting day and evening programs in a single focus under Ed Buckley," he said.

Both would become associate deans along with Jack Healy, who will be responsible for adult education, including some evening and special programs. Healy is now dean of adult and continuing education. The three report to Tauzer, who continues to report to Mikalson.

To make the day-evening administrative blend work effectively, Tauzer said two administrators would be moved from the evening program. Allene Hankla would be assigned as an assistant dean in occupational education, while Jim Churchill would be assigned to a similar role in liberal arts.

"No jobs will be added or lost due to reorganization," Tauzer said. "As a result, there probably will be more rather than less administrators aware of instructional needs."

BROOK TAUZER

...response invited

he said, reacting to one faculty member who did not want to be identified, but who said the reorganization may be at the expense of the instructional program and especially the very successful evening college.

Combining day and evening programs into a single registration format — part of the reorganization — started with the spring semester. "This fall for the first time," Tauzer said, "we'll have single registration and one schedule of classes."

Tauzer said there will be more student services rather than fewer after reorganization. "We now are able to provide virtually all student services from 5 to 7 p.m. on Wednesdays, mostly in Bailey Hall," he said.

While there will be some assignment adjustments, Tauzer said student services, the area first studied by the committee, will remain under Dean of Student Ken Holback, who will be aided by assistant deans Eugene Canevari, Evelyn Pollard, and Jack Rooney. The major addition would have Canevari take on an added role of leadership in all scholarships.

Tauzer said most key administrators will be in Bailey Hall, although that is not a final decision.

Tauzer acknowledged he had heard rumors that administrative jealousy and power struggles were behind the push for reorganization, but discounted both.

Mikalson said job and title changes will mean higher pay for some administrators with increased responsibilities.

And he said initial faculty and student reaction was to a first draft of the reorganization chart. "The committee met last week and recommended some changes in the structure. We did consider all the staff and student recommendations and some will be incorporated in the changes."

Both Bertolini and Mikalson said it's the responsibility of the board to oversee the reorganization.

Healy said his role will be different, but that he'll have to work for a while to see how it works out. "There's still significant responsibility attached to the job," he said. "Quite a few of the programs I'll have will be in funding jeopardy due to federal cuts. One of my jobs will be to try and keep funding going for those if at all possible."

Agreeing the adult and evening areas are among the hardest hit by the reorganization, Healy still doesn't view the changes as a criticism of him.

"I don't attribute the changes to any secret motives, but to a concept of organization pursued by the board and administration different than in the past. Whether it's better or worse, I don't know."

Diane Kagan, vice president of the Academic Senate, likes the process being used by the board and committee.

"I hope this reorganization settles the division between day and evening. We need to be one college. We need to be consistent in the presentation of our course material. The reorganization places a lot of new administrators in positions of serious responsibility and it's everybody's hope they'll rise to the challenge," Kagan said.

Kati Bright, student trustee, said a number of personnel changes are not justifiable on the basis of some people's experience and general background. She also was critical of the reorganization process being used as "not terribly effective or satisfactory."

A genuine off-the-wall interview

By RICH MELLOTT

After watching Santa Rosa JC rally in the closing minutes to defeat Contra Costa last week, I went searching for an interview with the star of the game. It wasn't a player, or a coach. It wasn't even a humanoid. It was the gym.

Ancient, venerable, diminutive Tauzer had won another basketball game for the Bear Cubs. It does this type of thing all the time. It fills its midsection with screaming fans, then it turns against the opposition like a starving piranha.

But securing an interview with a brick building isn't as easy as it may seem, press credentials or not.

I talked to the tired old walls but they didn't talk back. I visited the men's room only to encounter further silence, save for the sound of the dripping faucet and leaky ceiling.

And when someone flicked off the lights, leaving me in total darkness, I was prepared to surrender my quest. But alas, as I made my way toward the exit, I heard a deep, raspy voice calling me from the general direction of the rafters. It sounded like a male octogenarian who had inhaled too many packs of Camels over the years. Its breath reeked of gym socks which hadn't seen the inside of a washing machine in six months.

"Heard you were lookin' for me," the voice began.

"Who are you?" I asked. "The Ghost of Tauzer's Past, perhaps?"

"Ain't no ghost at all, whippersnapper. I'm the real thing and I'm far from being dead and gone. Still standing, ain't I?"

"I take it you're Tauzer Gymnasium," I said.

"I sure as hell ain't the Astrodome," the old voiced snapped. "And don't confuse me with the fella they named me after, good ole' Clarence 'Red' Tauzer — state senator, SRJC board member and pillar of the community. You know, Red was a Stanford man and he and his lawyer buddy, Finlaw Geary, talked Ernie Nevers into going down to The Farm. Of course, I wasn't around them, but I reckon if I was I sure as hell would have...."

Thusly did my interview begin. Like most old geezers, T.G. (Tauerz Gymnasium) tended to ramble on at times, but I tried my journalistic best to keep him on the proper course.

PRESS DEMOCRAT — I've heard you're the oldest college gym in the state. Exactly how old are you, anyhow?

Tauerz Gymnasium — Old enough to know you're going right for the jugular, young'n. As far as my age goes, it's on the record. Been standing since '35. I'm going on 47 years and I'm right proud of every one of 'em.

P.D. — That's awfully old for a gymnasium. Bet you've seen a lot of basketball games over the years.

T.G. — More than just seen 'em, boy. I've played 'em. I'm everything a team would ever want in a home court. I'm loud and I'm intimidating. Visiting teams had better not fool with me or I get darn right ornery. I'll put an invisible lid on my baskets, and I'll make 'em think my walls are movin' in on 'em. I can turn up the volume on the cheering with a blink of an eye. I'm a force to be reckoned with. You should see the look on the faces of opposing teams when they walk through my doors for the first time. Even the second and third time. They're scared to death of me, son. I may be a trifle old but I'm still darn good.

P.D. — Yeah, but you're so small.

T.G. — Hey, don't get personal, young'n. Besides, what do you want for $48,900? That's all I cost, plus a couple of truck loads of bricks. I'd much rather think of myself as quaint and cozy.

And intimidating.

P.D. — What's the greatest team you even saw?

T.G. — The Bear Cubs of '75-76, no doubt about it. They were kinda short on players but darn long on talent. Had a fella named Ken Jones, the best player I ever saw sky for a rebound. He was 6-4½ but played at about 12 feet most of the time. Had a guard named Keith McDonald, too. Kid could shoot from anywhere. Then there was Dan Healy — think you guys called him "Wheels". He could turn out my lights and be in the showers before it got dark. The kid could scoot.

P.D. — Other great players come to mind?

T.G. — You bet. Kelvin Chapman. Steve Tiedeman. Rochelle Collins. Tom Stewart. Jason Franci. Ole' Jase — now there's a good ole' country boy for ya. They all played for the Bear Cubs. So'd a guy named Charlie Russell out of Oakland. Early '50s, I believe. He was a good one but he kept saying his little brother, fella named Bill, was even better. Said he'd bring Bill up here to do some schoolin' and playin' but never did. Hear tell Bill went on to USF instead. Not sure what ever happened to him.

P.D. — You've seen a few coaches, too.

T.G. — Sure have. Bob Mastin. Glen Albaugh. Hank Cooper. Y' know, I always liked Hank. When he coached, the rules said you couldn't bring players in from out of this here territory so Hank kinda had to make do with what he had, which wasn't much. But you know what really chased Hank out of coaching? Those darn officials, that's who. He just couldn't take 'em any more. I never did think much of those guys the striped shirts, either. I got this here theory that says the shorter the referee the worse he is. But then that's what they say about gymnasiums. Right?

P.D. — Speaking of coaches, you forgot Bill Trumbo.

T.G. — No I didn't. Everyone already knows about Trumbo. Actually, I call him "Trumb," but not to his face. But I'm fond of the man, and not just because he sweeps my floors and waters my ivy on occasion. He gave me a new lease on life when he came here nine years ago. I thought I was gonna die of boredom for a while there. But he came and won and he packed my stands. Whole town was talking about basketball again — and about me. Yes sir, he made my later years exciting.

P.D. — You almost lost him a couple of times.

T.G. — Not really. You guys just figured I did. There was no way he was gonna head out to Pocatello, Idaho. He might be a meat 'n potatoes coach, but he doesn't like potatoes enough to move lock, stock 'n barrel to Pocatello to do his coaching. No way, partner. Hawaii — now that was a different story. I was worried for while there, like when I overheard him and the BYU-Hawaii assistant coach plotting their coaching strategy in one of my offices. But I could tell Trumbo was doubting the move even then. He just couldn't make the break, his kinfolk here n' all. Same thing with St. Mary's. When it came right down to it, he couldn't move on. Y' know, Trumbo just might stick around here forever. He ain't getting any younger. Been coaching almost 20 years now and one of these days he's gonna realize he just can't muster the gumption to corral a four-year program.

P.D. — There's been some exciting game played within your walls, oldtimer.

T.G. — And I've seen all of 'em, whippersnapper. First there were those Santa Rosa-Mari games. Then came Contra Costa. Katie, bar the door! But the thing about that riot in '75 was the people forgot what a great contest it was. That was the start of a somethin' — and not just blood feud either. Those Comet-Cub clashes wer something to behold.

T.G. — Merritt College. I remember 'em well. Those are the critters who broke my winning streak. We won 54 out of 55 here and Merritt was the reason why it wasn't 55 out of 55. But we'll get 'em on Saturday. It's the last roundu partner. And my Bear Cubs ain't gonna let m down. I've been too good to 'em over the year.

P.D. — Is that a tear I see sliding down your center beam?

T.G. — (Sniff) Ain't no tear at all, boy. Jus another leak. I ain't all that sentimental. Bad to the image. And I ain't envious of that new bar they're building next door. Now, if the Cubs win 54 out of 55 over there, then I might get a littl worried. But I figure I won't be standing whe that happens. In the meantime, they're puttin me out to pasture with the gym classes. Could be worse, I reckon. They could rip me down. But they wouldn't do that. I've been too good to th Bear Cubs over the years. Besides, what do the want for $48,000?

SRJC might branch out on Frates Ranch

By BOB NORBERG
Press Democrat Bureau

PETALUMA — The Frates Ranch property, where a controversial project recently was overturned by a referendum, is one of four sites being considered for a new Petaluma branch of Santa Rosa Junior College.

Associate Dean Joe Johnson will make a recommendation for site selection to trustees within the next two months.

Johnson said Tuesday four sites are being considered, all east of Highway 101 in Petaluma. Among them is a portion of the Frates Ranch property, and "it is a prime candidate," Johnson said.

The junior college has been looking for a permanent Petaluma college center for the past eight years.

College President Roy Mikalson said enrollment is 24,000 day and night students and the Santa Rosa campus is full.

Mikalson also said the school has run out of building room at the Santa Rosa campus, with space left for just one more classroom building. And that building will replace relocatable classrooms which could be moved to Petaluma.

Mikalson also said that with Hewlett-Packard's plans for a Rohnert Park plant, the junior college may need room to expand its electronics program.

"We're looking at Petaluma to take the overflow," Mikalson said. "Eventually with the population growing the way it is, we'd go to a major center or another campus in Petaluma."

The present Petaluma Center is housed in two relocatable buildings on a leased site at the Petaluma Fairgrounds. Many of the 105 courses offered are held away from the fairgrounds site, in classrooms belonging to the school districts.

Center Director Dwayne Blackwill said the Petaluma Center serves 1,550 day and night students. The majority (75 percent) of the students are from Petaluma and the remainder come from Sonoma, Rohnert Park and Sebastopol.

Blackwill said it's possible for students to take all necessary courses in Petaluma for an associate of arts degree in some areas, and only 40 percent of the students have to go to Santa Rosa at all.

Once a site is selected, Mikalson said, the district can come up with a master plan for development. At this point, that will probably mean one permanent building surrounded by relocatable buildings.

If the population grows, the center could be expanded into a major Petaluma Center or even another junior college campus in 10 to 15 years.

A lot of that depends on the availability of state financing, Mikalson said.

On the site selection committee is Johnson, Blackwill and Petaluma Trustee Herold Mahoney.

Johnson said finding enough land — 90 to 150 acres — which can be served by utilities is difficult. The cost would be $500,000 to $1 million, depending on location and utilities.

One prime candidate is a portion of the 580-acre Frates Ranch site, where developers Bill Murphy and Bill White had proposed a golf course, housing complex and industrial park.

City Council approval of the plans were overturned in a referendum which drew an unprecedented 51 percent voter turnout.

But Johnson said that controversy wouldn't deter them from choosing the site for a college center.

PROPOSAL FOR FUND RAISER

I am Kerry Reil Ridgway, a student of SRJC, continually enrolled on a full time basis since Spring semester '80. I have obtained the Deans' highest honors for fall 1980 and have an overall average 3.27 in 43 units completed. I am currently enrolled in 12 more units and expect to graduate this summer with an AS in Music. I am currently working as the recording engineer for a group of professional musicians and have plans to make music my life's career.

The opportunity I bring to the Santa Rosa Junior College involves 3 very fine and accomplished musicians who have offered me the ~~opportunity~~ position, which I now assume, to bring their collective talent together ~~to~~ in the form of a benefit performance here on campus. The plan I have designed works. Last summer the same talent raised enough money to purchase a transportation service for the Senior Citizens of Point Arena in the form of a 12 passenger van. My goal as organizer of this performance is to raise two thousand dollars for the Student Activities fund in the hopes that the <sup>noon time</sup> entertainment fund can coexist on a more reasonable level with the needs of performers and musicians to be <sup>compensated</sup> ~~paid~~ ~~for~~ for their time. To be perfectly frank

 I had a great deal of interest in applying for entertainment commissioner for the college until I discovered that I would have to undertake the burden of trying to hire musicians for less than the price of gas ~~to~~ <sup>to</sup> arrive here ~~with~~ their instruments. I feel I have a ~~wonderful~~ <sup>wonderful</sup> ~~wonderful~~ solution to that problem.
 I have talent worth paying for, ~~and~~ a means to compensate <sup>musicians</sup> ~~them~~ for their time, and, in addition, a means to raise money for student services all in the most risk free ~~way~~ mode of doing so; By the pre-sale of tickets.

The Plan

The Basic Outline involves three concepts: they are these

1. My ability to advertise the performance through my personal outlets as well as through the Junior College Student Activities Office, ~~and~~
2. The ability of the J.C. to provide a performance hall and security services ~~that protect the~~
3. The ability of these particular musicians to provide a marvelous and exciting musical experience for everyone who attends.

The Format

The Performance will be entitled "One in a Thousand Performance" and will seek to glorify the art of Music by covering a time period of One Thousand Years. The concert will include a fantastic variety of music commencing with ~~the~~ solo performance on the lute, a charming musical instrument <sup>from</sup> of the Great era of change known as the ~~renaissance~~ <sup>Renaissance</sup>. Classical ~~and~~ guitar and piano, Jazz, Rock + Roll, and a finale of electronic music will sweep over the audience leading them somewhere in to the future with a listening experience they will never forget.

The concert will be a formal "sit down and listen" performance without a specific class of individuals to characterize it in any form. Security will be easy going and should involve not more than ~~3~~ <sup>three</sup> student officers; of course the College will designate that number to whatever standards they feel are which are appropriate

~~The Financial Break Down~~

~~The plan is to raise a total of 5000 dollars~~

Finances

hypothetical finance

The amount of tickets to be printed is 600. The cost is 10 dollars per seat. The total amount of money to be raised is 6,000 dollars.

- The number of performances is 3
- The time for each performance is 2:20
- The number of persons at each performance is 200
- The production <sup>budget</sup> ~~budget~~ is 1000 dollars or 100 tickets

Since the concert is a benefit no money need be put out in advance of services, this means I can solicit donations for printing services as well as advertizing services, both of which I have ~~a~~ <sup>a</sup> personal outlet to. In return for services donatated to the benefit I will require (no money) but I will require <sup>100</sup> ~~100~~ tickets as complimentary to those individuals to help me sell, promote, or enhance this performance in anyway with their time and energy. All complimentary tickets will be accounted for by myself and only myself by means of quest list and reciepts. ~~Receipts must be returned to~~

receipts

The remaining 500 tickets will be the property of the Student Activities Office. At such time as these tickets are converted into sales and the prescribed amount of $5,000 dollars is in the ~~hands~~<sup>bank</sup> of the Student Activities Office, Then and only then will the J.C. be responsible to financially compensate the musicians under the <sup>said</sup> terms of the Musicians union contract and be bound to do so by the dates ~~specific~~ and the manner specified under the agreed contract.

I have had Reid explain his idea for a fund raising performance and I would be willing to support it by attending and/or asking friends to attend. it sounds good to me

THIS CONTRACT for the personal services of musicians on the engagement described below, made this _____ day of _____, 19____, between the undersigned Purchaser of Music (herein called "Employer") and musicians (including leader).

The musicians are engaged severally on the terms and conditions on the face hereof. The leader represents that the musicians already designated have agreed to be bound by said terms and conditions. Each musician yet to be chosen, upon acceptance, shall be bound by said terms and conditions. Each musician may enforce this agreement. The musicians severally agree to render services under the undersigned leader.

1. Name and Address of Place of Engagement _____
Print Name of Band or Group _____
2. Date(s), starting and finishing time of engagement _____
3. Type of Engagement (specify whether dance, stage show, banquet, etc. _____)
4. Hours of Engagement _____
5. WAGE AGREED UPON $ _____
(terms and amount)

This wage includes expenses agreed to be reimbursed by the employer in accordance with the attached schedule, or a schedule to be furnished the Employer on or before the date of engagement.

6. Employer will make payments as follows: _____
(specify when payments are to be made)
7. When the terms of this contract designate the length of the engagement as an indefinite period, in order to terminate said contract, either party must give not less than two (2) weeks' notice in writing, or in lieu of such notice the employer shall pay two (2) weeks' severance pay. Termination notice may be given by either party ONLY at the conclusion of a work week.
8. The employer agrees not to sell, lease, or in any other manner dispose of the establishment involved in the herein contracted employment without inserting clause in any document of disposition which requires the successor to assume the obligations of this contract.
- 8(a). The parties to this agreement hereby agree that in the event of any dispute arising out of this contract, being in equity or at law, that the prevailing party shall be entitled to reasonable attorneys fees.
9. The Employer shall at all times have complete supervision, direction and control over the services of musicians on this engagement and expressly reserves the right to control the manner, means and details of the performance of services by the musicians including the leader as well as the ends to be accomplished. If any musicians have not been chosen upon the signing of this contract, the leader shall, as agent for the Employer and under his instructions, hire such persons and any replacements as are required.

ADDITIONAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS

The leader shall, as agent of the Employer, enforce disciplinary measures for just cause, and carry out instructions as to selections and manner of performance. The agreement of the musicians to perform is subject to proven detention by sickness, accidents, riots, strikes, epidemics, acts of God, or any other legitimate conditions beyond their control. On behalf of the Employer the leader will distribute the amount received from the Employer to the musicians, including himself as indicated on the opposite side of this contract, or in place thereof on separate memorandum supplied to the Employer at or before the commencement of the employment hereunder and take and turn over to the Employer receipts therefor from each musician, including himself. The amount paid to the leader includes the cost of transportation, which will be reported by the leader to the Employer.

The nullification of any part of this contract does not necessarily invalidate the balance of the terms and conditions contained therein.

It is expressly understood that neither the American Federation of Musicians nor any affiliated local of the Federation is a party to this agreement and that they have undertaken no obligation by reason of its execution.

PROPOSAL FOR FUND RAISER

I am Kerry Reid Ridgway, a student of SRJC, continually enrolled on a full time basis since Spring semester of 1980. I have obtained the Deans' highest honors for Fall 1980 and have an overall average 3.27 in 43 units completed. I am currently enrolled in 12 more units and expect to graduate this summer with an AS in Music. I am currently working as the recording engineer for a group of professional musicians and have plans to make music my life's career.

The opportunity I bring to the Santa Rosa Junior College involves three very fine and accomplished musicians who have offered me the position, which I now assume, to bring their collective talent together in the form of a benefit performance here on campus. The plan I have designed works. Last summer the same talent raised enough money to purchase a transportation service for the Senior Citizens of Point Arena in the form of a twelve passenger van. My goal as organizer of this performance is to raise two thousand dollars for the Student Activities fund in the hopes that the noon time entertainment fund can coexist on a more reasonable level with the needs of performers and musicians to be compensated for their time. To be perfectly frank I had a great deal of interest in applying for entertainment commissioner for the college until I discovered that I would have to undertake the burden of trying to hire musicians for less than the price of gas to arrive here with their instruments. I feel I have a wonderful solution to that problem. I have talent worth paying for, a means to compensate musicians for their time, and , in addition, a means to raise money for Student Services all in the most risk free mode of doing so; By the pre-sale tickets.

Santa Rosa Junior College ART GALLERY

Gene -

We would enjoy much more safe space to display student art in Analy Hall.

IF we could find money for either Glass, lockable cases, (First Priority) or Plexi Panels which we could use to cover nice, ready-made display areas on both STAIR landings - each ± 32" high by 15 ft long.

I haven't looked into Glass cases, but the Plexi for the job would cost ± $312.00.

Do we still have some money in any student Activities Account?

SRJC teacher killed in collision

UKIAH — A 48-year-old Santa Rosa Junior College teacher was killed Tuesday night in a head-on collision on Highway 101 south of Hopland, the California Highway Patrol said.

Joseph Smyth was returning from the college to his home in Ukiah about 6 p.m. when he tried to pass a car about two miles north of the Sonoma County line and struck an oncoming vehicle.

The driver of the oncoming car suffered major injuries and was taken to Adventist Hospital in Ukiah. His identity has not yet been released by the highway patrol.

Smyth is survived by his wife, Jan Smyth, a teacher at Mendocino College in Ukiah.

CHARLES D. BELDEN MEMORIAL CENTER TO BE BUILT AT SHONE FARM

SPRING ENROLLMENT

Spring semester enrollment reached 22,576 on February 22, the date SRJC took its first census for reporting to the state.

The figure appears to indicate a slowing of the rapid growth rate SRJC has experienced over the past several years. It is up only 137 students from last spring's enrollment of 22,439 and down 87 students from fall, 1981, at first census, when the headcount reached 22,662.

According to SRJC President Roy G. Mikalson, most colleges expect spring enrollment to be down a bit from fall, but for the past several years SRJC's enrollment has broken the pattern and shown an increase each semester.

The decrease showed up in day enrollment, which was 9,177 on February 22, dropping from 9,339 at the first census for fall, 1981, but climbing from 8,271 last spring. Evening enrollment was 16,768, up from 16,607 in the fall. Last spring's evening enrollment reached a record high first census headcount of 17,427.

A Charles D. Belden Memorial Center will be erected this summer at SRJC's Shone Farm in honor of our late Associate Dean of Occupational Education who died of cancer in August, 1981.

SRJC Vice President Brook Tauzer has asked for community help in raising approximately $100,000 for the 4,000-foot wooden structure, which will house the agriculture/forestry department's wine making equipment, provide living accommodations for two students hired to work part time at the farm, serve as an office for the farm manager and SRJC staff members and provide storage for instructional equipment and supplies used by faculty students. Shone Farm is a 285-acre experimental farm on Eastside Road near Forestville. It is used to aid students in the study of horticulture, viticulture, animal science, forestry and other subjects.

"It is entirely fitting that a Charles D. Belden Memorial Center be located on the college's Robert Shone Farm," said Tauzer. "Charlie was the 'architect' who initiated the application to secure the property, where the college's agriculture/forestry program, which Charlie designed, flourished into the maturity it enjoys today".

Herstory

In celebration of Women's History Week, SRJC faculty and staff women will model authentic vintage fashion in a presentation called "HerStory", a glimpse at the lives and clothes of famous women, on Friday, March 12, at 8 p.m. in Doyle Student Center.

"HerStory", which deals with women's accomplishments often ignored by history, will raise funds for a scholarship to be offered to an SRJC reentry student.

Patti McClain, founder and director of the Museum of Vintage Fashion, located in Benicia, will provide the costumes and serve as commentator. Trained as an opera singer, the museum curator will appear in a costume representing Madame Schumann-Heink, an opera singer who entertained the troops in World War I. McClain brings to the show not only costumes and carefully-researched historical commentary, but she is likely to break into a song from the appropriate historical period.

"HerStory" is sponsored by the SRJC Reentry Program and by SRJC Women's Staff and Faculty Network. SRJC staff women who will model are Karen Thomas, Claudia Cooper, Betty Blauw, Barbara Sisson, Marilyn Flowers, Wanda Johnson, Doris Tolks, Bev Fischer and Ann Conklin.

Tickets, at $5 for dessert, show and scholarship donation, are available at the SRJC Reentry Program office, 527-4375.

WOMEN'S HISTORY WEEK MARCH 7 - 13

The Reentry program has organized a week of Women's History speakers, slide shows, films, lectures and other special events--all free and open to the public. All events are in Plover Library, Room 1, unless otherwise stated.

Here are the highlights:

Wed., Mar. 10

Thur., Mar. 11

9:30-11 "Menstrual Myths", Room 1691.

11-12:30 "Women's Self-Help", slide show and presentation on women's health.

Fri., Mar. 12

10-11 "Behind the Make-up: Women in Hollywood in the 30's" led by Melissa Kort.

11-12 "Emma Goldman: A Radical in America" a slide show.

12-1 "Men and Women in Relationships", Marilyn Milligan and Jeffery Martin.

CHARLES BELDEN MEMORIAL

"I'm sure that as plans proceed for the memorial, Charlie is pleased," said Tauzer, who was Belden's life-long friend and colleague.

Steve Olson, SRJC agriculture/forestry department chairman, announced that a steering committee has been appointed to spearhead the fund drive to raise more than $100,000 from business, individuals and associations. Much of the labor and materials for the project will be donated, and several cash donations, ranging from $50 to $5,000 have already been received. Contributions may be addressed to the Charles D. Belden Memorial Center fund, %The SRJC Foundation, Santa Rosa Junior College, 1501 Mendocino Avenue, Santa Rosa, CA 95401.

Community representatives on the Charles Belden Memorial Center fundraising committee are Larry Bertolini, Clem Carinalli and Louis Giacometti of Santa Rosa; Hank Corda, Petaluma; Tom Johnson, Healdsburg; Lee Martinelli, Forestville; Angelo Sanjiacomo, Sonoma; John Sheela, Kenwood; and Bob Young, Geyserville. College representatives on the committee are Henry Gronroos, Associate Dean of Occupational Education; Joe Johnson, Associate Dean of Administrative Services; Olson and Tauzer. Olson said "Occupational Education at SRJC and Charlie Belden are synonymous terms. The agriculture/forestry programs and the farm were established under Charlie's direction. The farm was Charlie's home away from home--a very special place. Charlie touched the lives of thousands through his teaching and administration. A building of this type is a very fitting memorial to his many positive contributions."

ADDITIONAL NOTES:

1. While we budgeted for only $85,000 income for the 1980-81 school year, we actually raised $102,000. Our mid-year income of $59,945 was 70.5% of our budgeted income but only 58.7% of our actual income. Our mid-year percentage this year (58.9%) compares favorably with that figure and justifies our decision not to raise prices between the two years.
2. We worked up our budget with more accurate detail this year than we had in years previous. Still, we find we have spent the same proportion (slightly over 50%).

Subject Frozen Reserve SRJC Associated Students

The current balance in the Frozen Reserve of the Associated Students is <sup>$ 37,711<sup>00</sup></sup> 30,000 is invested in a Certificate of Deposit with the Exchange Bank. In order for funds from the Frozen Reserve to be spent, action is needed by the College Student Assembly of the SRJC Associated Students and then additional approval by the Board of Trustees is needed. This extra constraint was put on these funds because the funds have been accumulated over a number of years and an additional step in the allocation process was indicated. Funds from the frozen reserve have traditionally been used for capital investments such as the furniture in the Student Activities Office and the remodeling in the Assembly Room of Pioneer Hall.

Thank you.

*At the close of the fiscal year, the incoming Executive Cabinet of the SRJC Associated Students determines if there is a budget surplus. If a surplus exists, the Executive Cabinet creates Designated Surplus accounts from the surplus which are carried over into the next fiscal year. These accounts are for specific projects, programs and purchases as designated by the Executive Cabinet. If these funds are not utilized, at the close of the year, the funds remaining in the Designated Surplus accounts are transferred to the Frozen Reserve of the Associated Students.

B. SIX-MONTH FINANCIAL REPORT (ASB, BOOKSTORE,
FOOD SERVICE AND HOUSING L. Royer

The attached report shows the income and expenses for the six months ended December 31, 1981 for ASB, Bookstore, Food Services (provided by Mannings) and Housing at Kent Hall. As these services are self-supporting, the midpoint of the fiscal year provides a good indication of their fiscal stability for the year and within sufficient time that necessary.

I am pleased to report all of these operations are sound fiscally as of December 31, 1981 and would like to highlight as follows:

1. ASB income to date exceeds expenses to date by $32,348 (in addition there remains $4,569 in their Designated Surplus and $37,711 in Frozen Reserve).
2. The Bookstore has a preliminary net operating profit of $117,754 (before debt repayment and other accrued expenses).
3. The contract with Mannings has provided both food services to students and staff and includes $11,942 in rent payments and $14,255 in client-shared profit.
4. Housing at Kent Hall is also within budgeted expenditures and realized a $16,410 positive cash flow (income to date exceeded expenses to date).

he's known as "Mr. Night School"

by Karen Kohs

His college may be in the midst of administrative upheaval, and his campaign for re-election to the Santa Rosa City Council may be a heated one, but Adult and Continuing Education Dean, John "Jack" Healy gives the appearance he's as relaxed and composed as has been his style for years.

Healy's unflappable attitude reflects in his current view of affairs on campus. Although conceding that with the administrative reorganization "it'll be different here," he says, optimistically, "I'm going to work with whatever comes out of this thing."

He sees the shift in his responsibilities as "reverting" to what he did when he came to SRJC nearly 20 years ago. For example, overseeing Community Services is something he feels has "a lot of possibilities."

Even though some opponents of the reorganization are charging the dean has been "relegated" into an area of responsibility where most of the programs are "soft" (eroded or endangered by funding cutbacks), Healy remains positive, saying that "the ideas are unlimited."

The unperturbed Irishman carries himself with the same optimistic composure in his civic duties. The incumbent councilman and former mayor is running for a second term on Santa Rosa's ruling body with a platform that supports the City General Plan. A proponent of careful forethought, he says that when it comes to planning Santa Rosa's future, "I think the urban development of the area outside

AMESLAN: a visual language

by Margaret M. Dennis

The catalog listing reads "Intermediate AMESLAN." At first glance it might appear that this Santa Rosa Junior College offering is one of the new computer languages. Actually, AMESLAN is an acronym for American Sign Language - or as Instructor Joe Schmitz puts it, "the native language of the deaf."

Schmitz, who is deaf himself, teaches the Monday night class -- a continuation of courses he taught last summer and fall at SRJC. Schmitz is also currently teaching courses at Sonoma State University and Sonoma State Hospital. He previously taught at Napa State Hospital.

"AMESLAN is our language," said Schmitz, "the language used every day by deaf people." Schmitz feels more people are studying sign language these

by Karen Kohs

Adult and Continuing Education is to be completely eliminated as a separate entity, according to statements and charts released by the SRJC Board of Trustees and a five-member committee on administrative reorganization.

The merger of ACE with the Office of Instruction is perhaps the most significant change resulting from the proposed reorganization. According to Vice President Brook Tauzer, a committee member, it was one of the first changes to be decided upon.

Under the plan, ACE will merge with the daytime instructional programs, to be headed jointly by Henry Gronroos, Associate Dean of Occupational Studies, and Ed Buckley, who will be promoted to Associate Dean of Liberal Arts.

ACE Dean John Healy will be reassigned to Community Services, directing such outreach and off campus projects as Independent Living, Sonoma State Hospital courses and various programs for the handicapped. He will retain authority over the 300-series courses.

Healy's present assistant deans, Allene Hankla and Jim Churchill, will retain their titles but will remain in the Instructional Office sector. They will be assistants, respectively, to Gronroos and Buckley.

As for both the immediate and long-range effect on ACE students and faculty, it remains to be seen, as details are deliberated. At the Night Owl's press

editorial

I feel, as a working person during the day, who attends two night classes a week, that my reactions to the proposed administrative changes may be typical, especially of those of us who are on campus "after dark."

Change -- reorganization -- day and evening college combined -- changes in the management structure -- all these are topics of concern to all of us. But are they?

What do we know about these happenings? Of the utmost interest to us, the evening students, is the question "how will this affect me?" Will the cost of classes be increased? Will I be able to take the courses I need, want, have-to-have for my chosen program?

Why are we having this reorganization? How will it affect the instructors? Is this being done to save SRJC money? What is the cost of putting all this reorganization into effect?

We would be interested to know the reasons, objectives, both long-term and short-term ramifications of the changes, now, and not later. As a common courtesy we feel we should be informed on this issue and not just confronted with a finished product handed out in a take-it-or-leave-it manner.

Students of both day and evening college are vitally concerned. The purpose of the college is to serve the students -- not the reverse.

-- Marianne Quinlan

staff box

The Night Owl, a publication sponsored by the Adult and Continuing Education Division of Santa Rosa Junior College, 1501 Mendocino Avenue, Santa Rosa, CA 95401, is produced by students enrolled in Journalism 300B, an Evening College course.

Those comprising the staff, who take full responsibility for all contents, are as follows:

Margaret Dennis, John Garn, Geraldine Gauer, Karen Kohs (cartoonist), Leonard Juull (photographer and circulation manager), Robert Magee, Scott Martin (production manager), Eve McDanel, Pamela Parke, Joe Quinlan, Marianne Quinlan and Geets Vincent (advisor).

short courses are valuable course

by Joe Quinlan

One of the benefits of SRJC's short courses, is their timeliness. They are available when needed. This is demonstrated in class 9514, Personal Income Tax, a six-week course ending prior to the April 15 tax filing date.

Wesley C. Decker, Internal Revenue Agent, and instructor of this class says, "This course will give a better understanding with a possible savings in taxes. You will learn how to fill out the 1040 long form with all its schedules, and I will answer any personal tax questions you may have."

"A drastic change in taxes may come within the next ten years", he predicts. "It is evident the small taxpayer is tired of his burden and I believe a tax will be levied on gross income without any exemptions considered. A change to this type will free the taxpayer of the tedious task of gathering and filling out many tax forms and save him money."

Intensive Gardening includes two consecutive eight week courses, one of which began in February. The second, class 9546, starts March 30. They both coincide with the planting season.

Instructor Sarah Kidd, who taught the popular Santa Rosa Junior College Organic Gardening classes for years, states, "Gardeners will know how to increase their harvest above that produced by ordinary methods. They will be able to create an area of beauty, an air of fragrance, and harvest a bountiful crop of cut flowers and tasty vegetables."

Any time Geets Vincent talks, everybody in her Writers Workshop (course 9566) listens. The next eight week session begins April 14. Vincent, veteran ACE journalism teacher, and freelancer, says, "We develop styles and techniques as the class joins in criticizing or praising students' work".

Many of Vincent's former students are now working in the local media.

The teachers of the above classes are in agreement that the cross section of students are approximately the same. The young, learning for the first time; the middle aged, continuing a pleasant experience; and the older, often retired, returning to add current information to their stock of knowledge. Men and women attend in about equal numbers.

Mark Armstrong, a student of the Personal Income Tax course, says what many others feel about mini-courses offered by Community Services, "There is a wealth of material to be found in this class."

The current ACE Schedule of Classes gives full particulars of these and many other short courses that are still open this spring.

Attention library users

The Bernard Plover Library is open evenings, which is of great value to night students. But all library users, whether day or night enrollees, must show picture I.D., with proper validation when checking out materials.

This can be a current validated student I.D. or a driver's license picture, along with the computer print-out received at registration. Library officials say that exceptions will be made as everyone must have proper identification to check out library materials.

And a final note: All students must return overdue books and pay any fines before checking out any additional materials.

reorganization

Police have two roles

Eve McDanel

Many students complain about the campus police when they apply for parking stickers at the start of each semester. They grumble about seeming inefficiency when aggravated by long lines and cramped crowds in the little cubby hole in Baker Hall that serves as headquarters.

And students complain some tickets seem unfair, yet they haven't time to challenge citations received. Those tickets must be paid if grades are to be received.

Terry Stuart, chief of campus police and director of campus security explains, "Without issuing citations, parking could be a mess and space would not be utilized to its fullest."

While acknowledging it gets crowded at the Baker Hall office, Stuart tells why his staff is so busy each semester start. "We issued more than 4,000 day permits and more than 5,000 evening permits in the 1980-81 season." As for those violations, he says, "During that same period we issued 7,063 citations."

Perhaps the numbers aren't as impressive, but there are many times when students regard campus police officers as a friend, indeed, in time of need. "Anyone who has accidentally locked keys inside a vehicle knows the feeling. A call to 527-4311 brings an officer equipped with a hooked rod, a pleasant smile, and a rescue -- usually completed within five minutes. (Officers will request to see a student's car registration and driver's license to make sure a car isn't being "aided and abetted.")"

Evening students are especially grateful for jump cables campus police use when headlights have been left on and a battery gives up. Escorts are cheerfully provided to anyone who does not want to walk across campus alone.

The following statistics show the number of students who needed and received help during 1980-81:

Battery jumps	387
Opening locked cars	228
Escorts on campus	169
Citizen assists	543

According to Stuart, almost 1,800 students found it necessary last year to call the campus police for some type of assistance. They aren't likely to be hearing those grumbling in the future.

extra extra only 5¢ a copy!

by Pamela Parke

If you are looking for a genuine bargain on the SRJC campus try one of the two copy machines in Plover Library. The price is right; 5¢ a page, the cheapest in town. This price is to encourage students to copy materials instead of tearing it out and destroying books and magazines.

The availability of the machines is often a problem. Frequently there are lines of students waiting or else a machine is out of order. Also, people from the outside come in to use the machine because of the low price. The only other copy machine available to students is in the administration building and it is 10¢.

William Wilber, Dean of Business Services, explains that the machines are on a lease-purchase deal. When asked if the machines pay for themselves Wilber replied, "Well, the ones in the library at 5¢ a copy are right at about break even. What happens is that a penny from each copy, by earlier agreement, has gone back to the students through the students' scholarship fund. A penny a copy goes back to the foundation and becomes part of the foundations scholarship program. So the margin of profit is very, very little above that. The bulk of the copying is done on those two copiers in the library."

Several members of the library staff, when questioned, said they had a number of problems with the copy machines. Often one or the other of the machines is out of order. They said that although the repair service is prompt and efficient they would like to have better copy machines. They also want change machines as the constant interruptions for nickels hinders their own work.

CLAUDIA WALKER SAYS: 'The quality of the copies is very good and the price makes them a bargain.'

Most students questioned, while using the copiers, seemed quite satisfied with the service and said the copies were clear and readable.

Wilber is a strong advocate of reorganizing the copy departments into divisions or service centers. These centers would be in various areas of the campus where secretarial help would do the copying for the departments and the machines would also be available, coin operated, for the students.

But to get this idea accepted is like "whistling in a windstorm." Wilber has met up with much opposition. Until he can set up these service centers and have them run in an efficient manner students will continue to use the two copiers in the library and the one in the administration building.

Although the proposed campus changes come as "a bit of a shock" to the man known by many as "Mr. Night School", Healy is taking them in stride. He expects a certain amount of confusion in his office while the reorganization is underway. "None of use really know up from down at this point," he says.

Still, for all the turmoil about him, Dean Healy remains as unruffled as ever, maintaining a confident attitude that anticipates a positive future.

of the City, as has been happening, should stop until they have city services."

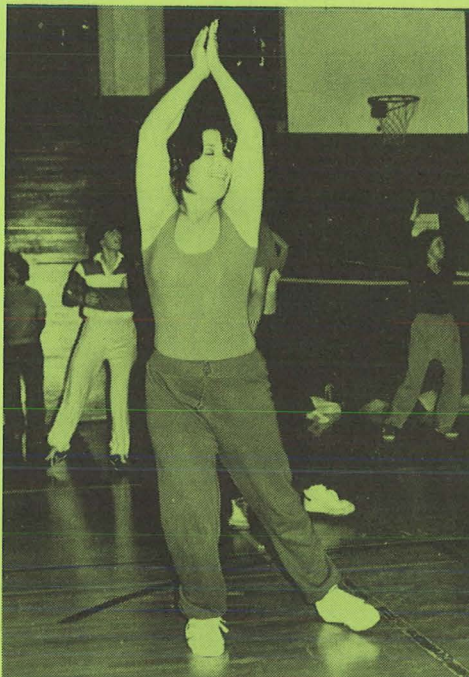

Both on and off campus, the quiet, soft-spoken administrator has long earned respect as one who avoids splashy controversies and vocal confrontations. In the two decades since he began as a teacher of business courses, Healy has successfully pitched a low-key campaign for such causes as Senior Gold Cards, extended hours for students services, accommodations for the disabled and a

feel fit - have fun

by Marianne Quin

Physical fitness is alive and well at Santa Rosa Junior College! Instructor Kris Clark called the interest "incredible" as she looked at the wall-to-wall bodies covering the gym floor, waiting for another session of Beginning Aerobic Dancing (PE 150.1) to begin. Approximately 125 people of assorted ages, shapes and with varying degrees of flexibility, are now enrolled in each of the two night classes she teaches this semester.

The purpose of Aerobic Dancing is "cardiovascular fitness and basically having a good time", Clark says. This is accomplished with warm-up exercises, stretching, actual "dancing", cool-down exercises and relaxing -- all done to appropriate music, such as Olivia Newton-John's familiar song Physical. The optimum of one exercise is to sit on the floor, legs spread, and touch the floor with your forehead -- easily said but seldom seen.

Clark has boundless enthusiasm and energy. She instructs two Beginning Physical Fitness classes (181.1) Monday evenings, and a Beginning Physical Fitness class followed by two Beginning Aerobic Dancing classes Wednesday evenings. When asked how she has the energy for all this exercising she grins and says, "I love it, it keeps going."

And going she is. Clark, who lives in Novato, has been teaching at SRJC since the summer of 1979; she is working toward her master's degree in Physical Education, and is the mother of Brian, and Brittany, 5. Other students agree with Leslie Ruggero, who says, "She is attractive and engaging advertisement for the courses she teaches."

Aerobic Dancing will be offered during the Summer Session, and there will be two classes given next fall. So there will be even more opportunity to join in, keep fit, and have fun.

reorganization means ACE elimination

time, President Roy Mikalson was in a series of meetings with the committee to work out changes in the reorganizational chart, which is to be re-released shortly.

The first set of proposals the committee presented became the immediate target of widespread criticism at the January Board meeting. At that time Associated Student Body President Mariangela Maguire protested the lack of communication between the committee and student leaders. In February, written responses were solicited. Explained Dr. Mikalson, "The main thing was to get overall reaction first, which we have considered at great length."

According to its minutes, the Academic Senate, after a two-day special session, called the reorganization plan "poor management" and expressed concern over Healy's reassignment. The Senate's minutes also reflect "serious" questioning of the necessity of the move, and called for appointment of a "night supervisor" to coordinate evening administrative duties. This coordination was much of Healy's past and present duties.

A number of administrators and faculty members have expressed doubts about the reorganization's feasibility. But each declined to be quoted for the record. Some claim "it doesn't make good management sense". Others say, "the changes are politically motivated."

Healy, who calls the plan "thinly organized", says, "I don't recall economy having been used as a reason," adding, "I don't think saving dollars is part of it."

Some critics of the reorganization have charged that part of the restructuring is an attempt to "demote" the ACE dean. Responding to this implication, Healy says, "I think it's fairly obvious from the chart that I've been isolated."

Dr. Mikalson denies this. "We're not out to get anybody," he maintains. He explains the goals of the reorganization are threefold: 1) to re-evaluate positions, job titles, and responsibilities and to reallocate functions; 2) to unite the college and registration in a "one-college" concept with one dean responsible for each academic or administrative program; and 3) to rearrange responsibilities or create positions and ranks to balance them equally.

As to what effects ACE students can anticipate once the changes are official, Dr. Mikalson says, "I hope it will affect them positively. They should be assured of continuity and a linkage between day and night."

Healy, while making his personal sentiments plain, has already moved to make the transition a smooth one.

As of this writing, a final vote before the full Board of Trustees, in public session, is not expected before June or July.

"Native Americans Now" exhibit

by John Garn

The new exhibit at the Native American Museum on campus, is the first one that has been totally put together by the staff and students. Museum Director Foley Benson, wading through the remaining pieces from the previous exhibit said, "The staff has total responsibility for everything, from dealing with the artists to deciding where to display their work."

The exhibit, entitled "Native Americans Now", will feature art work in a variety of mediums by Native American artists who live in California. Quite a bit of the featured material will be from local Pomo artists and artists of the Klamath tribes. There will also be examples of local basket weavers.

Among the work on display by local artists will be jewelry pieces by Otis Parrish, who teaches at SRJC, paintings by David Ipina and Pomo dance costumes by David Smith who will use these costumes during a dance exhibition at SRJC's "Day Under the Oaks", May 16.

For evening students wishing to see the exhibit, the museum's noon - 4 pm public viewing hours may present some problems. The museum was opened in the past one night a week 7 - 10 pm, but because of class conflicts, few could attend. The night conflicts were one reason the museum is now open on Sunday.

Monica Stebbins, one of three current staff members, said, "While volunteer staffing is not presently available to work nights, special tours for evening groups can be arranged if advance reservations are made." A possible time for the special tours would be before classes, from 5 - 7 pm.

The exhibit debuts Sunday March 21 and continues through June 12. An opening reception is scheduled noon to 4 p.m. Food, two films and several artists await the first visitors. Regular public viewing hours will be Sunday - Friday, noon-4 p.m.

A tough assignment

My assignment -- interview Instructor Joe Schmitz -- presented a unique situation: how to conduct an interview in sign language and take notes at the same time. Obviously a tape recorder would not serve in this situation.

My task would have been much easier if I had been proficient in AMESLAN. Imagine trying to rub your stomach and pat your head at the same time while writing about the experience.

Fortunately, Joe Schmitz is a skilled communicator as well as a skilled instructor. He read my lips more often than I read his hands.

Fingers of my right hand to my lips I now extend to him a huge "Thank you" for his patience and support.

AMESLAN: a visual language

days and that there is a growing deaf awareness. "People used to think deaf people had limited communication . . . Now, they know that's not true. They see deaf people signing and think: they're communicating."

The approximately 30 students in Schmitz's class in room 1684 of Emeritus Hall are attempting to let go of a dependency on the spoken word and replace it with a conceptual, visual language. Schmitz feels no need for an aide or interpreter in the classroom. He uses mime, pictures, jokes and children's toys to communicate and teach AMESLAN skills. "I started teaching about 10 years ago in Los Angeles and I've incorporated many aspects of different techniques over the years."

According to Adult and Continuing Education Dean John Healy, Schmitz is not the first AMESLAN teacher to be on campus. "Joe Schmitz, however, is one of the most qualified teachers we have ever had in AMESLAN."

Healy explained that sign language for the deaf was first taught at SRJC about 9 or 10 years ago. "We started at the State Hospital and found out there was a lot of interest in signing."

The Dean says previous and existing courses in sign language on campus have mainly "concentrated on the introductory and intermediate" levels. Until the present, he says, "we didn't have anybody with Joe's skills to teach the more advanced student."

As for the future, Healy feels SRJC will continue to offer services to the deaf community as needs arise. "One thing we don't have is a training program for interpreters. That possibility could come up," he adds.

Schmitz would like to see courses on the linguistics of sign language itself and "an acceptance of AMESLAN as a foreign language . . . More and more deaf people are coming here," says Schmitz, and he anticipates the need for more services and courses.

His wife is also an instructor at SRJC. Caroline Schmitz, who is deaf, too, teaches English language skills to deaf adults through the day program. Joe was quick to point out that AMESLAN is a visual language and sometimes it is difficult for a deaf adult to translate "that visual language into written English."

No, AMESLAN is not a computer language. But, who knows, someday might be.

ON LOSING JOE SMYTH

It happens like that:
now there's a light, and then it's out;
someone, something drops the glass and that which took such art, such pain, such joy to make,
that could hold a flower up, could offer water or wine, or simply stand as a vessel full of light-- some sort of inadvertent beacon that never meant nor claimed to be more than itself, yet showed so many weary ones home-- is shards, the shiny fragments sparkling, deadly, underfoot.

He would smile at our long faces, at how we try to cry our sense of loss.
"Plenty of other fishes in the sea," he'd say,
"or in the South Fork of the Eel, for that matter," cocking his head sideways in that doggy, persistent way of his as though the tilt might ease the hurt or help us see the rightness of it all.
And he'd be right, of course.
A hard man to argue with, his faith so granite-solid in the rectitude of life and death that all our waves of anguish pouring over him would merely put a polish on the splendid logic of his being.

Yes, he would win an argument like that,
and we would lose.

But we'd be right as well in our losing, knowing what we've lost.

OFFICE OF INSTRUCTION

February 17, 1982

TO: Gene Canevari

FROM: Ed Buckley Ed

SUBJECT: Educational Policies Committee

The attached proposal has been forwarded to the College Council, which body bounced it back to the Instructional Office with the request that more details be developed. I am asking for help in that process--specifically, advice from ASB as to the nature and extent of student participation. (You will note that I have proposed that two or more students be on this Committee "selected in a process developed by ASB.") Advice about other elements of the proposal is also welcome.

It should be emphasized that we are in the development of this proposal and that anything as formal as "approval" or "disapproval" is not sought.

OFFICE OF INSTRUCTION
Liberal Arts

February 1, 1982

TO: The College Council
FROM: Ed Buckley, Instructional Office EB
SUBJECT: Proposal for Committee Re-Organization

Discussions in the Curriculum Committee and the Instructional Committee have raised questions about the ability of the current committee structure to provide adequate forums for the discussion of educational issues and the development of educational policy. For example, no clear, formal relationship exists between the Curriculum Committee and the Instructional Committee, with the result that identical issues are discussed in each body or bounce back from one to the other.

The attached proposal has been discussed and approved in principal by the Instructional Committee, the Curriculum Committee, and the Vice President's Cabinet. While the Instructional and Curriculum Committees would be eliminated, the new structure has the following advantages over the present system:

- A. Decentralizes workload (in the sub-committees) and centralizes policy-making (in the parent committee).
- B. Involves more staff in the process of instructional policy-making.
- C. Avoids duplication of effort and encourages coordination of effort.
- D. Enables a standing, representative committee to consider long range plans, goals, and policies.

I encourage you to approve this in principle and forward it to the appropriate campus entities for refinement. Our hope is to have the plan in place with re-organization next Fall, should it be received favorably.

I. Educational Policy Committee

Purpose: To develop educational policy, set instructional goals, and monitor the instructional program for the entire campus.

Make-up: Vice President for Academic Affairs (Chairman)
Instructional Administrators (3-5)
Student Services Administrators (1-3)
Faculty, selected in process developed by the Senate, representative of both vocational and liberal arts programs (4 or more)
Students, selected in a process developed by ASB (2 or more)

II. Standing Sub-Committee

These sub-committees are to supervise or do the back-up work for the Educational Policy Committee, allowing the parent committee to concentrate on long term goals, policy issues, and overall review of programs. Each would forward recommendations to the Educational/Policy Committee, who would serve as the Chair of the sub-committee, plus others selected from the faculty, classified, or administrative staff as appropriate.

- A. Curriculum Review Committee - reviews new course proposals and changes to existing courses.
- B. Staff Development Committee - reviews and recommends Improvement of Instruction Projects, in-service course proposals, and other staff development projects.
- C. Student Assessment Supervisory Committee - oversees the student assessment project.
- D. Sabbatical Leave Committee - oversees the process of sabbatical leave selection, including recommendation of the sabbatical lists and the acceptance of final reports.

III. Other Sub-Committees

The Instructional Policy Committee, depending upon identified goals, would also create one-year sub-committees to deal with such issues as academic standards, prerequisites, audio-visual use, library, etc.

Proposal for an Educational Policy Committee

March 18, 1982

I. Rationale: Presently, two campus-wide committees are involved in deliberation over educational policy: the Curriculum Committee and the Instructional Committee. While this existing division of the original Curriculum Committee of a decade ago has resulted in a division of labor, the two committees find themselves duplicating effort or working at cross-purposes. Clear lines of authority and communication do not exist. It is here proposed that the two committees be eliminated, and be replaced by the structure outlined below, which has the following advantages:

- A. Decentralizes workload (in the sub-committees) and centralizes policy-making (in the parent committee).
- B. Involves more staff in the process of instructional policy-making.
- C. Avoids duplication of effort and encourages coordination of effort.
- D. Enables a standing, representative committee to consider long range plans, goals, and policies.

II.

A. Educational Policy Committee

Purpose: To develop educational policy, set instructional goals, and monitor the instructional program for the entire campus.

B. Membership:

- Vice President for Academic Affairs (Chairman)
- Dean of Adult Education/Special Programs
- Associate Dean, Occupational Education
- Associate Dean, Liberal Arts
- Dean of Students
- Six teaching faculty selected in a process developed by the Academic Senate
- Three students selected in a process developed by ASB

III. Standing Sub-Committee

These sub-committees are to supervise or do the back-up work for the Educational Policy Committee, allowing the parent committee to concentrate on long term goals, policy issues, and overall review of programs. Each would forward recommendations to the Educational Policy Committee.

- A. Curriculum Review Committee - reviews new course proposals and changes to existing courses. Recommends final action according to established guidelines.

Membership: Dean of Adult Education/Special Programs (Chairman)
Assistant Dean, Student Services
4 teaching faculty representing Liberal Arts and Vocational Education
(Senate - appointed to two-year terms)
2 Students (ASB - appointed to one-year terms)

- B. Staff Development Committee - oversees a staff development program according to established guidelines, including Improvement of Instruction Projects, in-service courses, and the processing of sabbatical leaves.

Membership: Assistant Dean Vocational Education
Assistant Dean, Liberal Arts
4 teaching faculty representing Liberal Arts and Vocational Education
(Senate-appointed to two-year terms)
1 Counselor

IV. Other Sub-Committees

The Educational Policy Committee, depending upon identified goals, would also create one-year sub-committees to deal with such issues as academic standards, prerequisites, audio-visual use, library, etc.

MEMORIAL SERVICE ON CAMPUS TODAY FOR JOE SMYTH

JOE SMYTH

Memorial services for Joe Smyth, who died in an auto accident March 16, will be held at 3:30 this afternoon (March 24) on the outdoor stage on campus.

Smyth, Chairman of the Mathematics Department, was one of SRJC's most respected leaders and most influential faculty members.

"His leadership was a great leveling influence because he got along well with students, faculty, administrators and staff," commented SRJC President Roy Mikalson, who called Smyth's death "a tremendous loss to the college."

"The loss of this accomplished professional and fond friend is inestimable," said Vice President Brook Tauzer, who pointed out that Joe Smyth's level of involvement in campus activities was far above the average.

He served for several years on the Academic Senate. He was active in CTA and served a term as CTA President. Through the years he served on several campus committees and at the time of his death he was a member of the District Compliance Committee, which is concerned with insuring equal opportunity for all. He was active in developing new programs and courses within the Math Department, and he served as a liaison between the Math Department and the tutorial center, helping plan specialized instruction for students who had difficulty in math.

POET DENISE LEVERTOV TO READ AT SRJC APRIL 2

Denise Levertov, whose new collection of poems, Candles in Babylon, will be published in May this year by New Directions, will give a reading of her poetry Friday, April 2, at noon in Newman Auditorium.

Born in London and educated there, Levertov came to the U.S. in 1948 and has published fourteen books here, as well as various small-press pamphlets.

She is much in demand as a reader and lecturer on college campuses across the nation, and has given poetry readings and taught at CCNY, Vassar, Drew University, University of California at Berkeley, MIT, Wells College, the University of Cincinnati, and Tufts.

REVISED SRJC MANAGEMENT

President Roy Mikalson has released a second draft of the proposed management reorganization chart for the college, incorporating several changes that were suggested by the campus community.

The new chart, which appears below, is the product of a five-member reorganization committee appointed by the Board of Trustees. Committee members are Mikalson, Vice President Brook Tauzer, Board members Larry Bertolini, Al Maggini and Ben Race.

The main areas of change from the first draft are as follows:

Jack Healy's position is now designated as Dean of Adult Education and Special Programs. On the previous chart he was Dean of Special Programs. The dotted lines represent communication channels connecting the position with the Associate Deans, according to President Mikalson.

Director of EOPS, Maryanne Wood, has been moved from Healy's supervision to

1. Vice President for Academic Affairs is in charge of District in absence of Superintendent.
2. Administration of Summer Session is responsibility of Office of Instruction.
3. Evening supervision is responsibility of the Dean of Adult Ed & Spec Programs (5 Evening Campus Supervisor (6-10 P.M., Monday-Thursday) and the physical presence on a regular basis. nsibility for facility planning and opment, will supervise Supt. Larry et regarding major maintenance projects.

The footnotes are another added feature of the new chart.

Mikalson again invited campus comment on the revised chart, asking that people submit their recommendations in writing by March 29 to the committee, c/o the Office of the President.

Job descriptions are now being prepared for all management positions on the chart, Mikalson said.

"We will look at the job descriptions and try to spot overlapping duties or vacant spots where needed tasks are not being done. Then we will make adjustments in job descriptions and determine whether an outside study is needed to determine salary placement.

At present, Mikalson said, the administration is collecting job descriptions and salary placement information from 14 other colleges to help revise SRJC's management salary schedule.
Seven of the colleges are the same as those used for faculty salary comparisons and seven are others which are similar in size or are located nearby.

"One of the real problems we find in gathering this information is that so many colleges are in the midst of changing their organizational structure right now," Mikalson said.

Employed by SRJC in 1966, Joe Smyth became Math Department chair in the fall of 1981. Prior to his employment here he taught math at Santa Rosa High School for three years and before that in South San Francisco for three years.

He received his bachelors degree from San Francisco State University in 1959 and his masters from Stanford University in 1965. He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and he distinguished himself professionally in many ways.

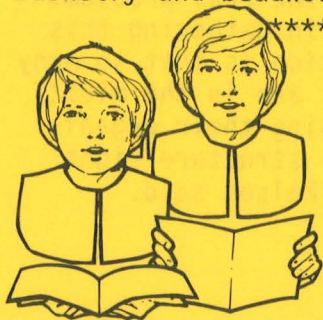

Services were held Saturday in Ukiah, where Smyth and his wife, Jan, and their two children lived. Jan Smyth was a member of the faculty of Mendocino College until recently.

The Joe Smyth Memorial Scholarship Fund has been established, and contributions may be made through the SRJC Foundation, 1501 Mendocino Ave.

ADDITIONAL NOTES:

1. While we budgeted for only $85,000 income for the 1980-81 school year, we actually raised $102,000. Our mid-year income of $59,945 was 70.5% of our budgeted income but only 58.7% of our actual income. Our mid-year percentage this year (58.9%) compares favorably with that figure and justifies our decision not to raise prices between the two years.
2. We worked up our budget with more accurate detail this year than we had in years previous. Still, we find we have spent the same proportion (slightly over 50%).

Subject Frozen Reserve SRJC Associated Students

The current balance in the Frozen Reserve of the Associated Students is $ 37,711<sup>00</sup> is $20,000 is invested in a Certificate of Deposit with the Exchange Bank. In order for funds from the Frozen Reserve to be spent, action is needed by the College Student Assembly of the SRJC Associated Students and then additional approval by the Board of Trustees is needed. This extra constraint was put on these funds because the funds have been accumulated over a number of years and an additional step in the allocation process was indicated. Funds from the frozen reserve have traditionally been used for capital investments such as the furniture in the Student Activities Office and the paneling in the Assembly Room of Pioneer Hall.

Thank you.

At the close of the fiscal year, the incoming Executive Cabinet of the SRJC Associated Students determines if there is a budget surplus. If a surplus exists, the Executive Cabinet creates Designated Surplus accounts from the surplus which are carried over into the next fiscal year. These accounts are for specific projects, programs and purchases as designated by the Executive Cabinet. If these funds are not utilized, at the close of the year, the funds remaining in the Designated Surplus accounts are transferred to the Frozen Reserve of the Associated Students.

REPORTS AND DISCUSSION

SERVICE AND AUXILIARY FINANCIAL REPORT

The attached report shows the income and expenses for the six months ended December 31, 1981 for ASB, Bookstore, Food Service (provided by Mannings) and Housing at Kent Hall. As these services are self-supporting, the midpoint of the fiscal year provides a good indication of their fiscal stability for the year and within sufficient time that necessary operational adjustments could be made if necessary.

I am pleased to report all of these operations are sound fiscally as of December 31, 1981 and would like to highlight as follows:

1. ASB income to date exceeds expenses to date by $32,348 (in addition there remains $4,569 in their Designated Surplus and $37,711 in Frozen Reserve).
2. The Bookstore has a preliminary net operating profit of $117,754 (before debt repayment and other accrued expenses).
3. The contract with Mannings has provided both food services to students and staff and includes $11,942 in rent payments and $14,255 in client-shared profit.
4. Housing at Kent Hall is also within budgeted expenditures and realized a $16,410 positive cash flow (income to date exceeded expenses to date).

Fund set up for memorial to JC farm founder Belden

A community campaign is underway to raise $100,000 for the Charles D. Belden Memorial Center to be built this summer at Shone Farm, the 285-acre Santa Rosa Junior College agricultural facility on Eastside Road near Forestville.

Belden, who died last August, was SRJC's associate dean of occupational education and the person who was instrumental in establishing the experimental farm for SRJC students. The farm has vineyards, orchards, timber and livestock and is used as an outdoor laboratory for the study of horticulture, viticulture, animal science and forestry.

The Charles D. Belden Memorial Center is planned as a 4,000 square foot wooden structure housing SRJC's wine making equipment and serving as an office for the farm manager and living accommodations for two students hired to work on the farm. The building also will provide storage for instructional equipment and supplies used by faculty and students.

Brook Tauzer, SRJC vice president, said the memorial center at the SRJC farm is an appropriate tribute to Belden, who was the "architect" of the farm and the main force in shaping it into a successful learning facility for agriculture-forestry students.

"As a result, Charlie Belden influenced the lives of many students and he enriched the Sonoma County agricultural community," said Tauzer, who was Belden's life-long friend and colleague.

Steve Olson, chairman of the SRJC agriculture-forestry department, said a committee will coordinate the drive to raise more than $100,000 from businesses, individuals and associations. Olson said much of the labor and materials for the Belden memorial will be donated and several cash donations, ranging from $5 to $5,000, have already been received.

"The farm was Charlie's home away from home — a very special place. Charlie touched the lives of thousands through his teaching and administration. A building of this type is a very fitting memorial to his many positive contributions," said Olson.

Olson said community leaders on the fund raising committee are Larry Bertolini, Clem Carinalli and Louis Giacometti, all of Santa Rosa; Hank Corda, Petaluma; Tom Johnson, Healdsburg; Lee Martinelli, Forestville; Angelo Sangiacomo, Sonoma; John Sheela, Kenwood, and Bob Young, Geyserville.

The SRJC representatives are Olson, Tauzer, Henry Gronroos, associate dean of occupational education; and Joe Johnson, associate dean of administrative services.

Tax-deductible contributions to the Charles D. Belden Memorial can be sent to the fund drive in care of The SRJC Foundation, 1501 Mendocino Avenue, Santa Rosa, 95401.

Further information about the memorial fund is available from Olson at 527-4408.

SRJC hosts contest

The Santa Rosa Junior College Agriculture Department will host judging contests for 4-H and FFA members starting at 8 a.m. Saturday at SRJC's Shone Farm on Eastside Road in the Forestville area.

The contest, open to 4-H and FFA members throughout the state, will include livestock and forestry judging competition. Awards will be presented to the top contestants.

The contests are sponsored by the staff and students of the SRJC agriculture department. Further information is available from Steve Olson, department chairman, at 527-4408.

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

March 23, 1982

TO: ALL SRJC STAFF

FROM: ROY G. MIKALSON
SUPERINTENDENT/PRESIDENT

SUBJECT: THE SCENE IN SACRAMENTO

The frantic activity has subsided in our State Capitol: the sharp cuts to balance the 1981-82 budget have been made (about $500 million); the cost of living adjustments for state employees and public education for 1982-83 has been voided for the first quarter (July, August, September), the initial cutting to help balance the 1982-83 proposed budget.

The Legislature made two (2) runs to reduce 1981-82 California Community College funding; the last run was on reserves by the ad hoc conference committee -- the attack was killed in committee 4-2 with Assemblyman John Vasconcellos (D-San Jose) leading the attack. Effective, hard lobbying seemed to influence enough legislators to save us, this time at least.

So, what is the situation now and for next year? For the 1981-82 year most of the issues "seem" resolved; all indicators point to community colleges getting funded according to present bills, even to the 2½% increase in enrollment. It could change, rapidly.

But, for 1982-83 we are supposed to get the present level of funding plus a cost of living adjustment (COLA) of five per cent (5%) with no funded growth. However, with the Legislature's dropping the COLA for July, August and September, there would be a reduction from five per cent (5%) to three point seven-five per cent (3.75%) as the annual increase for 1982-83. That is considered the very best we can hope for. Word from Sacramento is that even the 3.75% COLA is unrealistic.

The Legislature really hasn't tackled the problem of bringing in line the 1982-83 Governor's budget with the anticipated revenue. The 1982-83 shortfall of revenue is estimated as high as 2 to 3 billion dollars. About $400 million will not be known until the June election on two major initiatives -- full indexing of State income taxes and changes in the inheritance tax laws. Passage of both would reduce State revenue for 1982-83 by an estimated $400 million.

The spring scenerio could be a repeat of 1980-81, with most of the action in late June and early July. Much depends on the condition of California's economy, especially the revenue generated by the sales tax. If business revenue continues its decline, drastic measures may be in order for balancing the budget -- cuts, not new taxes. It is, after all, an election year.

Again the action may be compressed into a 7-10 day meeting of several conference committees. On the block will be, among many things, the cost of living increases for the last nine months of 1982-83, reserves, money for handicapped, non-credit funding level, all funding for construction, and possibly tuition.

One thing is certain -- 1982-83 will be the year of financial crunch; Proposition 13 has done its job, as predicted. If we get no cost of living, no funding for growth, funding for colleges will essentially be reduced by 9 to 13% (inflation).

Our hope? That the economy in California turns up, that the Legislature can fund education at the legislated level (at least), and for 1983-84 education becomes a high national and state priority, and that in the funding process the Legislature doesn't dismantle districts that have set aside reserves.

We can, of course, do what we can to influence our legislators in Sacramento of our needs for adequate funding to meet the needs of our students. Santa Rosa Junior College is in a growth area: it is a growing institution. Much of the growth is in areas which lead to direct employment, such as electronics, data processing, business, and in support programs (such as mathematics and English).

Legislators to contact are: Senators Barry Keene and James Nielsen; Assemblymen Doug Bosco, Don Sebastiani, and William J. Filante. Address letters to them at:

Chasing after support for SRJC

By JOHN ADAMS

With Santa Rosa Junior College dodging everything from state and federal budget cuts to the outstretched hands of other institutions, one may wonder why President-Superintendent Roy Mikalson makes so many trips to Sacramento and to presidents' meetings.

In fact, one might ask why he doesn't stay home to protect the college district.

From his reports at monthly trustee meetings, it would appear Mikalson is never on campus. Lately, that's about right. It's a good thing he's a runner.

Mikalson is on the road to the state capitol and at meetings with other community college officials so often because he's charged with carrying the fight for SRJC's survival.

Admittedly, he isn't able to dodge all the budget cuts, though his record and that of the board of trustees, faculty, staff, and students has managed to keep the college in the black thus far.

Mikalson's board reports now ring with a constant reminder that school finance is in bad shape and getting worse all the time. From the flavor of his reports and the bleak nature of state and federal funding for education, one soon realizes Mikalson has turned from the battle for dollars to a fight for every penny. The fight is that important.

College financial reserves have become the latest battleground in statewide war for money for education. Community colleges like Santa Rosa — which have varying amounts of reserves built up through wise money management — are being eyed as a potential bailout source by others, some already in a hand-to-mouth existence financially.

Mikalson is among those leading the fight in Sacramento to keep as many reserve dollars as possible at home where they were raised or saved rather than see them disappear through the college system. So far, those reserves have survived while college officials try to earmark them for specific purposes in an effort to protect them permanently.

The fight over reserves may not go on much longer since there is talk the Legislature may require pooling of reserves as part of 1982-83 funding. Mikalson said colleges with reserves so far have dodged the bullet twice, managing to hang on to those valuable dollars despite efforts to divvy them up.

At a recent president's meeting at Asilomar on the Monterey Peninsula, Mikalson said "it was all bad news. In fact, we never finished the bad news."

The college officials talked about reserves, of short funding, of not enough money for education needs, of granting state bailout loans to needy campuses, of funding based only on classes given for credit, and of a desire for equity in funding for all districts.

He also said the presidents talked of maintenance programs, and faced the gloomy prospect that the state may withdraw its contribution that helps make possible campus repairs and other work. They also learned the state may withdraw its funding for capitol outlay — spending for furniture, equipment, and other campus needs.

Mikalson returned from Asilomar only to head for Sacramento where he learned the governor's office doesn't want to wait until next year to begin its budget-cutting, it wants to slice $500 million from this year's budget. That reduction could reach the community colleges.

Mikalson said he finds the cooperation and promises of support by Redwood Empire legislators in Sacramento heartwarming and some consolation.

But, he tells trustees, education — kindergarten through the state universities — will lose an expected 5 percent cost of living increase for the first quarter of 1982-83.

With the possibilities and threats of further losses continuing, Mikalson shows no inclination of giving up his journeys to maintain a financially healthy Santa Rosa Junior College.

In fact, more and more, lately, he's being aided by telephone calls, letters and personal visits to legislators by others of the campus family, trustees and the community.

The junior college can only benefit from all these efforts.

MINUTES

- I. The meeting was called to order at 12:18 p.m.
- II. Roll Call; All Present.
- III. The Agenda was approved.
- IV. The Minutes were approved.
- V. REPORTS:
  - A. Mari reminded us about Joe Smyth's Memorial Service today at 3:30 p.m. Please attend if you can.
- VI. APPOINTMENTS:
  - A. The motion was made to remove David Wrenne from the position of Law Enforcement Rep. on the grounds of non-attendance. M/S/C
  - B. The motion was made to appoint Tim Cantlon to the Position of Law Enforcement Rep. to CSA. M/S/C
- VII. OLD BUSINESS:
  - A. Greeting Cards - Two of the artists would like to buy their cards from the AS. The motion was made to sell the artists 300 cards at 25¢ each ($75.00) M/S/C
- VIII. NEW BUSINESS:
  - A. Mari asked us to think about going to the CCCSGA Mini conference on Saturday, April 3, at Skyline College. There will be a sign up sheet in the SAO.
  - B. Andrew explained a money making idea from Kodak. We sell booklets of discount film, and we split the profits with Kodak. Andrew will bring more info about the deal at the next meeting. We also discussed the idea of having films on campus that the AS would sponsor. We threw around ideas of admission fees - and the ideas of AS going free, or at a discount rate. We also thought of different days and times for the movies. ( Sunday afternoons, weeknight, evenings, etc. ) Diana will check Community Services and bring back some openings. We will have more discussion later.
  - C. The TEC Club on campus would like to sponser a dance with the AS. They would like Daddy Please to play, and the Band has agreed. Ideas are still being discussed on having it on/off campus and having it open/closed. The club will be back with a proposal.

PUBLICITY CODE

Associated Students

PUPPOSE: The purpose of this code is to provide more orderly, pleasing and effective publicity, and at the same time retain the beauty at the SRJC campus.

DEFINITION: "Poster" is construed to mean any means of conveying messages other than by machines. Handbills and leaflets will not be considered posters.

Section I - Content

Clause I Posters will deal with information of general interest, to faculty, administration and students originating with student groups (clubs, organizations and Associated Students).

Clause II Posters will deal with election announcements (see election rules), events of clubs and organizations, dances, assemblies, athletic events, Mid-Day Series, Open Forum, Academic Department announcements and events, and others, at the discretion of the Publicity Commissioner or the Advisor of Student Activities.

Section II - Approval

Clause I All posters must be approved before posting. This may be done in the office of Student Activities with the "approved" stamp by the Publicity Commissioner, the Elections Commissioner, the Student Activities Advisor or their designated agents. Posters which are not approved will be removed.

Clause II Approval of posters will be made depending on appropriateness as to size and content.

Section III - Placement

Clause I All posters will be confined to four designated areas of the campus: the quadrangle formed by Pioneer Hall, Doyle Student Center, Analy Hall and Burbank Auditorium; the Emeritus-Library quadrangle; the quadrangle formed by Shuhaw Hall, Baker Hall and Lark Hall; surfaces of Barnett Hall. Other areas for publicity will be considered at the discretion of the publicity commissioner and the advisor of student activities.

- A. No posters will be placed on the fence along Elliott Avenue nor on walls facing Elliott Avenue.
- B. All posters to be hung with tape or string and affixed to brick surfaces only.

Clause II

- A. The interior of the Cafeteria will be used on occasion by the Publicity Commissioner only, or this designated agent, for publicizing an ASB activity of event of such importance to be of interest to the campus community as a whole.
- B. Each candidate in an election may place one (1) poster on the carpeted walls of the Cafeteria. Posters must be affixed to the carpeting by carpet pins. No poster in the Coop will exceed 4' x 6'. No posters will be placed anywhere else in the Cafeteria.

Clause III Candidates may distribute handbills and leaflets during elections.

- A. It is up to those who distribute handbills and leaflets to see that they are not littered about the campus grounds.

Clause IV No posters of any kind are to be placed on campus other than the area designated under Section III, Clause I and II, unless specific exception is authorized by the Advisor of Student Activities.

Clause V No publicity will be placed on, or in, buildings except as otherwise noted in this code. Publicity can be placed on the large oak trees (no small trees to be used). Publicity will be fastened to the oak trees by tacks, staples or tying. No nails are to be used. No banners will be displayed from buildings or oak trees, except with prior approval by the Publicity Commissioner or Student Activities Advisor. This clause will be strictly enforced.

Clause VI All posters are to be fastened securely at all corners. Means of fastening will be determined by material of surface upon which the poster is to be placed. -- Examples are: tying, if possible; using masking tape or other kinds of adhesive that are not harmful or detrimental to the wall or surface; or tacking (if first checked with Publicity Commissioner or Advisor of Student Activities).

Clause VII Posters cannot be placed in, or on, the windows of the Coop, except with the approval of the Publicity Commissioner or Student Activities Advisor. -- Example: cardboard posters 14" x 22" may be leaned against the bottom of windows.

Clause VIII Other types of Publicity for elections are sandwich boards, open forum and outdoor stage (for speeches), small fence south of Analy Hall, garbage cans and posters on stakes on edge of grass.

Section IV - Bulletin Board Notices

Clause I Student's personal notices, such as items for sale or trade, may be placed on the bulletin board located in Analy and Burbank Halls and on the Kiosks. These signs will be removed by the Publicity Commissioner or his designated representatives, every two weeks.

Section V - Transportation Requests

Clause I Transportation requests may be placed on the bulletin board inside the Student Activities Office. Standard Advertisement cards may be procured in the Student Activities Office.

Section VI. - Kiosks and Analy Hall Bulletin Board

Clause I Notices and publicity for general Student Body interest may be placed on the Kiosks and the Analy Hall Bulletin Board -- Use to clubs and individuals is also accepted.

Section VII - Time Limits

Clause I All campaign posters within a radius of ten (10) yards of the polling place are to be taken down the day before the election.

Clause II All campaign posters must be taken down carefully no later than twenty-four hours after the event. If the event is held after Friday noon, posters must be removed by 3 p.m. the following Monday.

Clause III Posters will be restricted to two weeks posting prior to the event. Election posters may be posted beginning on the day that election petitions are due.

Clause IV During elections each candidate will be limited to a maximum of twenty (20) posters. Of these twenty, twelve (12) may be no larger than 2' x 3', and eight (8) may be no larger than 4' x 6'.

- A. In the event of two or more candidates working together (a coalition), the eight (8) large posters may not exceed 6' x 9' for each poster.
- B. No more than two (2) large posters will be displayed in any designated posting area.
- C. Any poster on which a candidate's name appears shall count as one of his posters.
- D. No campaign paraphernalia of any kind shall exceed the size limits specified above.

Section VIII - Responsibility

Clause I All posters must be stamped for approval before posting. This may be done in the Student Activities Office by the Publicity Commissioner or his designated agent or the Advisor of Student Activities or the Elections Commissioner for elections posters.

Clause II It shall not be the responsibility of the Publicity Commissioner to make or provide materials except for Associated Student functions.

Clause III The responsibility for all campaign posters rests with the individual (s) publicized. Failure to comply with this Publicity Code, or to correct a violation within two (2) hours of receipt of written warning by the Elections Commissioner, Publicity Commissioner, or Student Activities Advisor will result in the removal of a candidate from an election. Individuals, clubs and organizations in violation of this code will be subject to a fine of not more than $25 to be levied by the College Student Assembly.

Clause IV Clubs and organizations publicizing an event are responsible for their posters and publicity machines.

Clause V Any poster or publicity machine which represents a violation of this code will be removed at the discretion of the Publicity Commissioner.

Clause VI Any person mutilating or moving any poster or publicity machine, other than the publicity commissioner or his designated agent, elections commissioner or Student Activities Advisor, will be summoned to appear before the CSA Executive Cabinet and will be subject to their action.

Clause VII An appeal to action taken by the CSA Executive Cabinet may be taken to the College Student Assembly for a decision.

Clause VIII Any exception to these regulations must be approved by the CSA Executive Cabinet.

March 30, 1982

To: The Committee on Reorganization
c/o Dr. Roy Mikalson, President's Office
From: Mariangela Maguire/SRJC College Student Assembly

The members of the College Student Assembly would offer the following comment on the second draft of the proposed administrative reorganization:

1. The college is still in need of a Dean of Instruction to insure both continuity and quality in our programs.
2. Without clarification it is difficult to know what responsibility Mr. Canevari is intended to have if the scholarship program was added to his job description. We would support an improved system for handling scholarships. However, we would need to know the extent of Mr. Canevari's authority.
3. We again urge that the Campus Police be given to an Instructional or Student Services Dean for conduct and discipline matters. Their impact on all segments of the campus goes far beyond that of students in any other occupational or academic program. It is extremely important that all members of the campus know who makes the final determination in situations involving the conduct or discipline of Campus Police.

Overall we still would like to see the campus carefully study our educational goals. What will our priorities be during the fiscally constrained times that we face? Until these issues are settled we can't hope to effectively restructure our administration to meet the needs of the community we serve.

CCCSGA Semi-Annual Conference
April 23 - 25
Los Angeles, California.

1. Participation in the important, worthwhile and meaningful workshops-45 workshops are being offered dealing with such issues such as financial Aid, Legislation, Student Wages, Nation and Local voting issues and Student Services and tution
2. The Conference and Workshops will provide a forum in Exchange for information among the Student Reps.
3. CCCSGA Represents, in the eyes of our legislators, a body representing the concerns of 1½ million students. Last year CCCSGA had no major involvement in Legislation. The anticipated new leaders for 82-83 can be expected to revert to activities we saw in our past experiences, esp. 80-81. This conference provides us with a direction ~~of~~ the leaders of CCCSGA. Some of the issues are mandatory Student Fees, cutbacks in Financial aid, and in important services such as Enabling Services.

This workshop portends to be a productive activity We are fortunate enough in that there is adequate additional funds to inable us to paticipate. Therefore it is requested that if CSA allots funds for this trip, that each member submit six names of students that you feel would qualify to go. The names must be submitted to Mari by Wednesday, April 14. Mari will then go over your recomendations and choose the people most qualified to attend.

Bear in mind that the highest priority should be given to students with experience in CCCSGA , Members of CSA and ICC, and students who have been an active part of the working of Student Gov't.

*** Be advised that problems may have to be dealt with during the summer and that some of the members be available during the summer months.

To: SRJC - Board of Trustees
From: Associated Students Wage Committee
Date: April 12, 1982

We, the elected representatives of Santa Rosa Junior College students, request an adjustment to, and an increase in, the present student salary schedule and wages. This request has been approved by the College Student Assembly and the Inter-Club Council.

Student labor is funded by the Sonoma County Junior College District and by the Federal College Work Study program. Santa Rosa Junior College presently employs approximately 1500 students a year with a salary range of $3.35 to $3.55 an hour. The salaries have not changed since January of 1981, which marked the end of the wage program created by the students and Board of Trustees in Spring, 1979. During the academic year, students are allowed to work no more than 20 hours per week.

It is understood that students make up a necessary and integral part of the SRJC work force. It is equally understood that without such labor the college could anticipate a burgeoning payroll restricted to negotiations and contracts leaving little flexibility in assigning general and on-the-job training options for minimal salaries.

Student employees are valuable members of the campus community, performing in essential and often sensitive positions. As contributing members of the college community, student employees have the right to be recognized and rewarded for their efforts in service of Santa Rosa Junior College and the District.

In preparation for the drafting of a proposal, the students have surveyed the seventy Community College districts in order to ascertain the number of students employed, their categories, salary range and evaluation process (if any). Added to the responses are the ADA figures for each district, thereby making comparisons with Santa Rosa Junior College student employment program workable. We have attached, for your perusal, a copy of the survey and the collective responses. In some cases, the colleges provided us with a copy of their student employee evaluation form as well as their student employee handbook.

Presently, Santa Rosa Junior College provides for an increase in salary after the employee has worked in the same department for 500 hours. The increase is $.05 an hour and there is no provision for further increase. The 500 hour figure precludes students from enjoying an earned increase for approximately one academic year (based on the average hours worked per week). Our proposal would recommend that the number of hours worked to achieve an increase would be reduced and contingent on a satisfactory employee evaluation submitted by the employee's supervisor. In the Spring 1979 proposal, a request was made to require a mandatory evaluation once a year. This system was never implemented and would have been inadequate to provide the employee, supervisor and college with the necessary information regarding a performance appraisal designed to assist the employee in performing at a higher level or to to reduce excessive and costly employee turnover. We would like to see an evaluation conducted once a semester. The first evaluation should occur prior to the student notifying the Accounting Office that the prescribed number of hours have been worked to achieve Column II status. The student would be required to show the Accounting Office a satisfactory evaluation from his/her supervisor before the Accounting Office could okay Column II status. The students with the help of the Student Employment Office are presently working up a recommended employee performance evaluation document, to be presented to the Board with the final wage proposal.

Our purpose in increasing wages after a period of time worked is to provide a meaningful incentive to stay on the job and work satisfactorily as well as provide incentive and response in the form of evaluation, thereby providing the student with some idea of how well he/she is meeting the job requirements and thus justifying salary. It is our desire to see that the hard working, high performance employees are rewarded and those employees who are not so desirous of working hard and effectively will not be rewarded. Presently, unless a specific department has created an evaluation form or the student is in the Work Experience program, there is no required employee evaluation for students while there is such a process for all other SRJC employees.

At this time, after surveying most of California's Community College student employment programs and collecting further supportive data, we ask the Board of Trustees to assign one or more Board members to work with us over this next month to formulate a reasonable and productive wage package for student employees.

We recognize and appreciate the consideration given us by the Board of Trustees in past student employee programs and trust that we can look forward to an equally successful program for the 1982-83 year.

Election Code Change

Section 16 reads:

Candidates may use the Activities Office duplication machine at no cost.

Change to read:

Candidates may use the Activities Office Ditto machine at no cost.

Election Code Clarifications:

- 1) Section 18:
Money spent for upcoming elections will be $56 for this election.
A financial record will be mandatory.
- 2) Election campaign begins:
Elections Campaigns begin April 28, 1982.
No elections publicity can be posted before this date in order to maintain the campus aesthetics which means:
  - No posters,
  - No fliers,
  - No sandwich boards,
  - No buttons,
  - or any other types of publicity as defined in the publicity code.
- 3) Candidates must know and understand the publicity code and the election code thoroughly. Both these codes are inter-dependent on each other.

MINUTES

- I. The Meeting was called to order at 3:15 p.m.
- II. Roll Call - Absent; Allison Bean, Kim Canevit and Pam Bull.
- III. The Agenda was approved.
- IV. The Minutes were approved.
- V. REPORTS:
  - A. Gene explained the College Reserve trouble and the Handouts.
  - B. Mari discussed the possibility of a feedback table in the coop. It has been done in the past, but it does take up some time and planning. If anyone is interested, please let us know.
  - C. Jon reported on the Election Committee and asked for volunteers to help serve on the Committee. Ruth showed us the Evening College Survey that they will be passing out to evening students. She will have the results for us in 3 - 4 weeks.
  - D. Gene explained the process for the Project and Film Grant applications. He explained the process that the committee goes through, and the role of CSA in considering their choices.
- IV. APPOINTMENTS:
  - A. Mari introduced Tim Cantlon to the College Student Assembly. He is the New Law Enforcement Rep to CSA.
- VII. OLD BUSINESS:
  - A. Andrew, Cam and Mari went over the new Reorganization Chart, and the letter they wrote will be out tomorrow, 3/30.
  - B. The Wage Proposal Motion that was on the floor was moved to postpone indefinitely. M/S/C.
The motion was made to adopt the new wage proposal as follows:
    1. All starting salaries in column I will remain the same.
    2. After 200 hours of employment in a department and with a satisfactory employee evaluation, student employee would shift to column II.
    3. Column II salaries would reflect an increase of 12% over current Column II salaries ( Established in 1979 through July 1982)
    4. Whenever possible and feasible, students would have the highest priority for employment for jobs other than classified positions.

M/S/C

- C. We need Used Book Faire Volunteers, so please sign up if you can help.
- D. We need to have a clear understanding that while overexpenditures are not encouraged, it is possible that on occasions overexpenditures will occur. It is necessary at that time to follow the restrictions set down in the Finance code and when events necessitate (semester break, holidays, etc.) the best judgement of the advisors and officers of the Associated Students will be relied upon. During the semester, budget changes will be presented to CSA that would alter the budget to reflect overexpenditures.

The motion was made to increase budgeted Football expense $2.00, increase football budgeted income $2.00, increase Spirit Team budgeted expense $8.95, increase student cards budgeted income $8.95, increase Kris Kringle Classic budgeted expense $236.96, increase Kris Kringle budgeted income $236.96.

Because this is a budget change it was moved to postpone until the next CSA meeting. M/S/C.

VIII. NEW BUSINESS:

- A. The slide contest will start 3/31 and go through 4/23. The motion was made to appoint Diana, Joseph, Jeff and Stephanie to the slide contest committee. M/S/C

It was also moved to have the following breakdown of the prize money:

1st prize - $50.00
2nd prize - $25.00
3rd prize - $15.00
4th prize - $10.00 M/S/C

- B. Mari explained the CCCSGA Mini Conference. It will be held at Skyline College on Saturday, April 3. If you are interested in going, please get a hold of Mari and let her know.

IX. ANNOUNCEMENTS:

- A. Board of Trustees meeting April 12, 7:30 in Plover Library (Room 1)
- B. Used Book Faire this Wednesday 3/31 ((Weather Permitting) 10:00 a.m. - 2:00 p.m. Coop Patio.

Meeting was adjourned at 4:15 p.m.

It's about time somebody did something about the coolie wages paid to student employees at SRJC.

The college has student employees over the proverbial barrel. For students relying on bicycles and buses for transportation, the campus is an ideal place to work. For commuting students, on-campus work also cuts down on gas bills.

Students faced with driving to SRJC for classes and then driving back to Sonoma, Guerneville, Healdsburg or Petaluma to go to work may find campus jobs extremely attractive. Even for Santa Rosa students, a walk to the bookstore or financial aid office, as a commute, beats driving to one of the malls, restaurants, or offices scattered across the city.

Students may find that the convenience of campus jobs outweighs the fact that on-campus jobs don't pay as well as off-campus jobs, and decide to take a cut in salary. But we don't think they should have to accept this.

The college should not exploit the needs of students who are short on transportation and long on commutes in order to provide cheap labor. SRJC should make wages and raise scales for on-campus jobs competitive with the off-campus job market. Students aren't the only ones who would benefit from such action; a wage policy competitive with the private sector would bring higher-quality applicants for on-campus jobs.

The new student wage proposal drafted by the ASB is an effort to bring student wages out of the dark ages. At present, students can get a raise after they have put in 500 hours of work — equal to 5 months at 20 hours per week. Under the new proposal, campus workers would still start off at minimum wage.

Most part-time off-campus employees also start out at $3.35 an hour. But almost all off-campus part-timers are eligible for at least a 10 cent to 20 cent raise after 240 work hours — or three months employment. They then again are eligible for raises at regular three month intervals after that. The new proposal asks that students come up for a 5 cent raise after 300 hours (a little over three months) and asks for four successive seniority categories, each requiring a raise for student employees. We think this proposal is an extremely good idea.

For this reason, we paraphrase a famous quote and urge the workers of the campus to unite. A strong show of student support at the May 15 Board meeting might just convince the board to pass the proposal. If student employees really want a bigger paycheck, the May 15 Board meeting is their opportunity to walk into the bosses' office and ask for that raise — en masse.

Club feels like dancing

by Maureen Layne

Christians on Campus will sponsor a Greek Folk Dance on April 2. From 7:30 p.m. to 11:00 p.m., students can learn about some Greek culture at SRJC.

Bob Michaelson is part of the committee that is organizing the upcoming event. He said that this is the first time that Christians on Campus have sponsored a Greek folk dance. "We have had square dances before," said Michaelson. He hopes that the Greek dance will be as successful as past square dances.

Pam Barbes will teach the art of Greek folk dancing on Friday night. In addition to dancing, a student can also enjoy eating authentic Greek refreshments. Michaelson said that Mrs. Bill Pettas, who is of Greek decent, will provide some of the refreshments.

Michaelson then explained that the event is not only for SRJC students. Sonoma State's Christian group has received an invitation to the dance also. He is also welcoming all Christian groups in Santa Rosa to attend the dance.

"It's an outreach effort," said Michaelson. "But it's not going to be anything overwhelming. There's not going to be anybody preaching or anything. We want people to see the fun of finding out about other cultures."

Milioni screens many of the bands before he invites them to perform here.

If he feels the band is suited to the campus, he invites them to perform. And if the band accepts, it is almost certainly not for the money.

"It's the exposure. They get really good exposure. (They get paid) but not very much — between $25 and $50. I have about five or six bands throughout the year who will perform for free," Milioni explained. Because of the exposure the bands get, "they don't lose nothing," he added.

"I started off with the rock'n'roll bands. They're the most interested in performing. Magic City is rock and blues. We got a good country band, the Country Wood Band. I have Harvest Band coming back by popular demand.

True, the bands get a lot of exposure when they perform on campus. But it seems that there must be some other reason for them to take the time to perform. That reason may be Milioni's attitude.

"I love music. I like doing things to help people. I just felt we needed some entertainment every day, not just two times a week. I felt I could do a good job.

"By these bands playing here, if people like them, they'll want to come back again," he said. He explained that if bands want to return, future entertainment commissioners will have an easier time planning noontime entertainment.

"I've only worked in entertainment this semester. I may go for it another semester. It's possible. It depends on if the people want me to come back.

"If there's somebody better than me, and I'm sure there is, I'd leave the way for him or her," Milioni said.

But Milioni isn't all humility. He has strong ideas regarding instructors who schedule classes during college hour.

This is the only time we have for students for a fun time. I can see there has to be a limit on noise, but it (the entertainment) has to be heard. If an instructor doesn't like it, let him move his class," he stated.

Then he softened up and explained that he couldn't take all the praise for the entertainment. "I don't put on the music. The students put it on themselves."

Students worth more?

by Maureen Layne

Working on campus offers many advantages to nearly 1500 SRJC students. Margo "Magoo" Howell is one student who has discovered the convenience of an on-campus job. She has worked in the student bookstore for three years.

"It (working on campus) has definite advantages. The hours are arranged around your schedule, which most jobs won't do for you. You're on campus, so you don't have far to go between school and work. Also, you only have to work about 20 hours a week. I only have one gripe — that's the wages," said Howell.

And that is the major complaint about working on campus — the wages. However, a new proposal may change the current policy about student salaries.

Under the current policy the maximum wage a student can receive is $3.50 an hour. The new proposal asks for an eight percent increase.

Katy Bright, SRJC student trustee, is heading the committee that is drafting the new proposal. She explained that a person wouldn't actually get an increase until he has been working for a certain amount of time. "A new student would still start at $3.35," she said.

She said that now employees fall into four categories. The longer a person works for the school the higher he can advance.

With the new policy, "when you jump to the next category, that's when you receive the eight percent increase (in salary). That comes out to about 30 cents more per hour."

Also under the current policy, a student can make an extra five cents an hour after he has worked for 500 hours. "The proposal asks for that to be decreased to 300 hours," said Bright.

The final part of the policy asks for an evaluation system. "We want to create a mandatory evaluation for student employees who aren't currently part of an established evaluation process," said Bright.

She said that right now, Work Experience students are the only employees who have any form of evaluation. "A work study student isn't required to go through any evaluation."

Bright believes that an evaluation system will decrease the employee turn-over rate. "With an evaluation system, students will know exactly what is expected of them. It will encourage them to stay with the job longer," she said.

Mari Maguire, ASB president, agreed with Bright. She said that an evaluation would motivate the students. Right now, "there is no real incentive for students," said Maguire. "There are some students that run an office, as well as those who aren't doing very well. At this point, no one is winning."

The committee has drawn the proposal but is presently taking it through the proper channels so that it will be put into action for the 1983-84 school year. "It will be presented at the April Board (of Trustees) meeting," said Maguire. She explained that from there, one member of the Board will work with the committee for a month. "Then they will vote at the May Board meeting."

Both Maguire and Bright think that the proposal will pass. "We are very positive about it," said Maguire. "I think that if the proposal is accepted, everybody will benefit from it."

Bright said that Bill Wilber, dean of business services, has helped the committee. "We did a survey that shows that students at other schools comparable to SRJC make more money than those at SRJC," said Bright.

Wilber said that the survey was a success. "Fifty-seven of the 70 surveys we sent out were returned," he said. However, he also added that the administration has not seen the new salary proposal or the results of the survey.

Bright said the faculty and administration received salary increases last year. However, the students did not.

Bright said that "students are paid better off campus." She believes that this new policy is essential. "It is more convenient to work on campus," she admitted. "But that doesn't mean you can't get paid for it."

poor. He wrote to then-President Jimmy Carter that U.S. military aid to the government would worsen conditions in El Salvador and asked for an end to U.S. aid and intervention.

His transformation to activist priest reportedly began when a priest who lived with the poor was murdered by the government.

He started a radio show, said to have been the most popular in the country. The station was repeatedly bombed when he made such statements as, "The people's organizations are the only force capable of resolving the crisis" of El Salvador politics.

On March 23, 1980, he appealed to the nation's soldiers to obey the laws of God and stop killing dissident peasants. The next day he was killed. Twenty people died at his funeral when government forces fired into the crowd.

The bilingual service was sponsored by the Inter-faith Committee of Sonoma County Church Groups and Sonoma County People Against U.S. Intervention in El Salvador. Msgr. Charles Jackson of Resurrection Parish, the Rev. David Franks of United Methodist Service and Ursuline nuns took part. Two Ursuline sisters have been killed in El Salvador.

Corley led a Chant of Hope dedicated to Romero and the others killed in the embattled nation.

The afternoon marchers weren't able to deliver petitions to the office of Rep. Don Clausen, R-Crescent City, but they picked up a couple of additional signatures and some advice from federal officers assigned there by the Federal Protective Service.

"Did they know you were coming?" asked one of the officers assigned to monitor the demonstration. "We were expected," said Bill Mitchell, head of Stop the War Machine at Santa Rosa Junior College.

"Man, we need to teach you about strategy — don't let them know you're coming," advised one of the federal police.

Clausen's office was closed, but the marchers left petitions under the door. A Clausen spokesman said today he had the petitions and they will be given to the congressman.

The petitions ask Clausen to represent the marchers' positions before Congress. Those positions include opposition to: Reagan's proposed budget; military aid to El Salvador; CIA attacks on Nicaragua; chemical, biological and radiological weapons; draft registration; and tax loopholes for corporations and very wealthy individuals.

Archbishop slain in El Salvador

By SOPHIA JENSEN

The second anniversary of the assassination of El Salvador Archbishop Oscar Arnulfo Romero was observed in Santa Rosa Wednesday evening with a memorial prayer service and Mass at St. Eugene's Church and an afternoon march on the federal building.

The Rev. Ricardo Ortiz of El Salvador, who knew the archbishop for 30 years, told the 200 worshippers of the martyred priest's humanity and thoughtfulness in brief remarks translated by the Rev. Jim Corley, who led the service.

Ortiz had worked in Nicaragua for several years and for the last year has been studying political science in Belgium. He is here visiting his sisters.

The priest said because of current conditions in Central America he doesn't know what his duties will be when he returns in about three weeks. He said he couldn't comment on the possible outcome of Sunday's election in El Salvador since he hasn't been there for a year.

The Associated Press reported Wednesday that right-wing El Salvador politicians have warned there may be a coup if there is election fraud.

"The election won't be a solution, but it has to be done," Ortiz said. "Politics is not philosophy, it has to go step by step."

A narrated slide show was presented on Romero's life, illustrating his commitment to the poor and emphasizing his own words. Two weeks before he was shot by a sniper while celebrating Mass, Romero told a journalist, "I do not believe in death without resurrection."

A political conservative when he was elevated to archbishop in 1977, he soon became an outspoken foe of the oligarchy and champion of the Members of Stop the War Machine, a student club at Santa Rosa Junior College, marched from the campus to the federal building Wednesday to voice concerns to Congressman Don Clausen's office. The two dozen students asked the legislator to support the nuclear freeze initiative and the end of U.S. aid to El Salvador. Clausen aide Gordon Tippitt received the group, recorded their statements, declined to get into a debate and said he would pass their concerns on to his boss.

1. Vice President for Academic Affairs is in charge of District in absence of Superintendent/President.
2. Administration of Summer Session is responsibility of Office of Instruction.
3. Evening supervision is responsibility of the Dean of Adult Ed & Spec Programs (5 P.M.-10:15 P.M.). Continuity will be achieved by a part-time Evening Campus Supervisor (6-10 P.M., Monday-Thursday) and the physical presence of the Dean and Instructional Assistant and Associate Deans on a regular basis. During the first three weeks of each semester (until first census) a separate evening supervision schedule will be maintained with at least two instructional deans present each night, plus the Dean at least three nights.
4. The Director of Computing Services will be responsible in both the instructional and administrative areas of data processing.
5. Learning Services consists of the Learning Skills Program, Supportive Physical Education and Enabling Services.
6. Community Services includes Summer Repertory Theatre.
7. Instructional Associate Deans have an overall responsibility for all departments listed under Liberal Arts and Occupational Education; however, departments will be divided so that Assistant Deans share initial contacts with departments.

3 'outstanding' county women

Three Sonoma County women have been added to the 1981 edition of Outstanding Young Women of America.

The three are Nancy Helen Steele and Patricia Louise Hamilton, both of Santa Rosa, and Sahedran Sattizahn, Sebastopol.

Steele is administrative assistant for the new Christian Music Radio Station, 92 FM, and has three years teaching experience at Rincon Valley Christian School. She is also a deacon at the Church of Roses and is chairman of the Christian Business and Professional Women's Committee. She is the daughter of Joy Dëffner Steele, Santa Rosa, and the late Ben Steele.

Sattizahn is a Ph.D candidate in psychology counseling at Union Graduate School in San Francisco. She also has her own publishing company, Love Letter Press, which publishes her poetry and writing. She is the daughter of Bud and Eleanor Cunninghame, Valley Ford.

The Outstanding Young Women of America program honors women 21 to 36 for accomplishments in the home, profession or community.

The latest edition lists 23,000 women, from whom the Ten Outstanding Young Women of America will be chosen and honored at an annual awards luncheon in the fall in Washington, D.C.

Thursday, March 4, 1982 THE PRESS 3B
DAILY

Hamilton has worked on The Paper, was assistant to Santa Rosa Junior College's public information officer and is secretary of the Sonoma County Young Republicans. She works for E & J Advertising. She is the daughter of Paul and Doris Bynum, Santa Maria.

ACTION AGENDA

H. RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING THE COUNTY AUDITOR TO WITHDRAW FUNDS FROM THE REPAIR AND REPLACEMENT ACCOUNT FOR REPLACING CARPET IN PIONEER HALL

L. Royer

The Board previously approved the purchase and installation of carpeting for Pioneer Hall in the amount of $16,405.68.

The Repair and Replacement Reserve Account was established under the terms of our 1972 Revenue Bonds to pay the cost of maintenance, repair and replacement, or renovation for the facilities constructed. Inasmuch as funds are available in this account, which are approved for this purpose, it is recommended that the Board authorize this transfer.

ADMINISTRATIVE RECOMMENDATION

That the Board of Trustees approve the attached Resolution authorizing the County Auditor to withdraw $16,405.68 from the Repair and Replacement Reserve Account for replacement of carpet in Pioneer Hall under terms of the Sonoma County Junior College District Revenue Bonds, Series A and B, 1972.

Proposed cuts may affect handicapped, disabled students and federal agencies, according to educators, may be heading for a collision due to proposed programs affecting disabled and handicapped students at schools like Santa Rosa Junior College. Specifically, California's Department of Finance may run afoul of federal government's Public Law 94-142 and other laws which guarantee equal educational opportunities for all children including the handicapped.

State finance officials are looking for ways to balance their budget. According to Sharon Rivkin, a program specialist at SRJC, they are leaning hard toward cutting $6.5 million from learning services and related programs including those helping the disabled to maintain them into daily life. A deficit exists in the state's special education program causing part of that search.

However, the federal law requires schools to provide education opportunities and programs even though a student's individualized education program. The state, however, may be able to argue it is not required to fund any one program entirely and, thus, is not violating the federal mandate.

Still, hundreds of disabled students at SRJC and thousands in various programs elsewhere could see those programs cut or eliminated, meaning a cutback or end to their special needs being met or aided.

Rivkin said the cuts were to be discussed at a state hearing last Thursday, but the hearing was postponed apparently due to statewide pressure against the proposed cuts. That pressure, she said, is coming from educators, disabled students and their support organizations, and legislators.

At SRJC, students, teachers and specialists recently held a meeting to organize their objections to the proposed cuts. Since then, letters and telephone calls have been bombarding legislators.

Rivkin, one of four coordinators of SRJC's Learning Skills Program for disabled students, said the cuts could wipe out about a third of the program while also eliminating home-to-school transportation reimbursement for students in the Enabling Services Program and could end the college's Supportive Physical Education Program.

(See CUTS, Page 6)

The learning skills program helps learning disabled students with a variety of problems ranging from difficulty in reading, writing, and spelling, to communicating problems caused by such things as head injuries. The program provides tutors for the academic end of college. There are 130 to 150 students receiving help.

Enabling services helps physically disabled students in attending roles along with note-taking, reading, and transportation, while supportive physical education deals with programs helping students build up their bodies through swimming, wheelchair basketball and other activities.

Rivkin said the state cuts also might eliminate two speech and language specialists in the learning skills program, and attendants in the enabling program.

She said the cuts could mean dropping part-time employees, elimination of one-on-one assistance with larger class sizes, and could leave some students unserved.

Overall, Rivkin said about half the 45,000 disabled and other handicapped students attending community colleges could be out of school due to the proposed state cuts. SRJC, she said, receives about $500,000 in state aid for special education, and could lose about $200,000. Most of the loss would be in the area of excess costs for serving the disabled — money for tutors, therapists and aides.

"It's a sad thing that much of the idea of special education could be wiped out since many of the students count on one-to-one instruction," Rivkin said. "We're talking of students who continuously failed in their ability to make it in the world because of poor reading and writing skills, and low self-esteem."

She said there will be no place for many of the students to go if the college program is cut "just as they are beginning to feel good about themselves. They may return to feeling like second-class citizens. Due to the cuts we may be losing a whole segment of the population which could teach us something while being helpful in the world."

Information about the proposed cuts and college programs is available by calling Rivkin at the college, 527-4278.

CCCSGA Semi-Annual Conference
April 23 - 25
Los Angeles, California

- 1) Participation in the important, worthwhile and meaningful workshops - 45 workshops are being offered dealing with such issues such as Financial Aid, Legislation, Student Wages, Nation and Local voting issues and Student Services and tuition.
- 2) The Conference and Workshops will provide a forum in exchange for information among the Student Reps.
- 3) CCCSGA Represents, in the eyes of our legislators, a body representing the concerns of 1½ million students. Last year CCCSGA had no major involvement in Legislation. The anticipated new leaders for 1982-83 can be expected to revert to activities we saw in our past experiences, esp. 1980-81. This conference provides us with a direction of the leaders of CCCSGA. Some of the issues are mandatory Student Fees, cutbacks in Financial Aid, and in important services such as Enabling Services.

This workshop portends to be a productive activity. We are fortunate enough in that there is adequate additional funds to enable us to participate. Therefore it is requested that if CSA allots funds for this trip, and that the members to be sent include: Carmelle Fitzpatrick, Mariangela Maguire, Steve Ward, Lon Fisk, Carmeron Pagter and Andrew Bissonette.

Read rules before visiting soap box

by Lindsay Webb

A new free speech movement has begun, it would seem, as students lunching near the Coop will attest. Being forced to combine sunshine and relaxation with other individuals' views on politics and plights doesn't please all students.

The Hyde Park Code, which governs podium use, guarantees that members of the college community have a forum from which to express their views. The only restriction of the Code is that speakers do not conduct themselves in a "lewd or obscene" fashion.

As to what constitutes lewd or obscene conduct, students discovered a few weeks back that it was not the use of four letter words.

Assistant Dean of Student Services Gene Canevari, who is in charge of supervising the podium, says it would be easier to define obscene gestures or lewd behavior. "Now, if someone started taking their clothes off..."

Canevari would stop a speaker "if it appeared that something physical was about to occur. I don't want to see anyone physically intimidated, whether they are the speaker or in the crowd," he said.

As for lunching students who would rather not be subjected to a tirade of political jargon, what recourse do they have?

"Well, district policy guarantees the exercise of free speech," Canevari said. "Unfortunately, there is nothing in the policy that limits the frequency of that exercise. And I have to admit that I share some sympathy with people who like to sit near the coop and eat their lunch in the sun.

"The easiest way to limit speakers," he went on, "is to walk away. Somebody who is talking to themselves isn't going to last very long."

The most effective way to limit speakers, however, is to alter district policy. Canevari suggests that if students have a proposal, either to move the podium or restrict its activities in some way, they should appear before the College Student Assembly. The assembly meets every Monday at 3:00 p.m. in the Student Activities Office.

Because the Hyde Park Code is a student government measure, students have the right and power to alter it, Canevari said. Though district policy providing for a public forum on campus would remain in effect, SRJC could adopt a workable solution to satisfy the majority of people.

"The student government can alter its own code to accommodate as many people as possible," Canevari said.

older woman leans over the podium, and viciously slashing the air, the tightly clenching the remains of her hat. "If we are to survive, Europe must be destroyed," she shouts at the podium. Bill Mitchell sits nearby encouraging her with shouts and applause. Tony Mitchell sits in the shade waving the American flag.

It is sometimes sorry that the Constitution guarantees free speech. I am especially sorry that sometimes people practice it right at Hyde Park Podium.

When I first heard Mitchell speak a few months back, I perceived him as an angry hippie acting out a poor imitation of the 1960's free speakers. Last Tuesday, he gathered together a group of SRJC student speakers to proclaim that we must "stop the war machine."

A young man ascended the podium and announced that 43 people who opposed the ruling government in El Salvador were killed over the weekend. He went on, shouting that American tax dollars are supporting that government.

"I've been to El Salvador. That junta is out," protested an angry observer in the crowd. "Get your facts straight." Mitchell encouraged the person who made the statement in the crowd to take the podium.

He accepted and stepped up to the platform. "Bill Mitchell and these people have said a lot of things. And a lot of it is right," he went on. "But their facts are all wrong."

"Besides, it's fine to stand around and talk about these things, but if we want to change things we have to do something. If we just stand around and talk we're wasting a lot of time. Let's do something!"

"We are doing something," a previous speaker shouted back.

Mitchell stood up and replied, "We can do it by popular vote. We don't have to do it with war."

Some of the things the speakers said on the podium Tuesday were difficult to decipher. The woman who said that all our present and previous problems were caused by the European caste society who created the poisonous blood running through our veins and that Europe must be destroyed, was contradictory at best.

And besides, wasn't she supposed to be speaking out against war?

The speeches were all more emotional than factual. The facts were often blurred or non-existent. More than once I was confused by the speaker's rhetoric, which was reminiscent of the government officials whom they sought to discredit. But, overall, their sentiment was on target — there is a problem, and something must be done.

A few months ago, I was in favor of doing away with Hyde Park Podium. I was sick of being subjected day after day to the same tirade by the same two speakers. I've discovered it was the lack of variety that I objected to most.

Mitchell's "student teach-in" on Tuesday provided the variety that previous podium performances lacked.

American's right to free speech is, indeed, important. And the first step toward any kind of solution is discussion. Hyde Park's and the Constitution's guarantee of free speech assures us that we will at least be aware that there is a problem.

Thank you Bill Mitchell and others for having the guts to get up before many apathetic, and sometimes rude, people (including myself) to express your views, and voice your concern, in the interest of awareness.

SPEAKING OUT AGAINST Israeli policy towards Palestinians in the West Bank, SRJC student Tony Tawasha steps up to Hyde Park on Thursdays to express his opinions.

"There is a curfew in the West Bank. They [Israelis] don't want you [Palestinians] to leave your house. They don't want you to demonstrate. They can check to see if you are at home any time they want. They can search you any time they feel like it. Soldiers walk through the streets carrying military machine guns and grenades. Civilian Jews carry weapons because the government told them to protect themselves. We [Palestinians] are civilians too. If civilian Jews have the right to carry guns, we should have that right too. This is called democracy," Tawasha claimed, hitting his fist on the table.

The young Palestinian went on to explain further the grievances his people hold against the Israelis. "The Palestinians are scared," he said. "The [Israeli] soldiers treat them any way they want.

"I'm peaceful," he said. "I love people. I like to have a good time with people. I love Jesus Christ, and I love God," said the Christian Palestinian. "I want to live in peace in Israel. There should be no government in the Holy Land. Everybody should love everybody else.

"But [Israel], it's a Palestinian state and it should have a Palestinian government. Israelis can live there too in peace under Palestinian rule. You cannot mix Palestine and Israel. Arab government cannot mix with Jewish government," Tawasha said.

Tawasha doesn't believe a reversal of the present situation in Israel would result if Palestinians ruled Israel because "the policy would be much better. Israeli policy sucks."

Would Tawasha be satisfied if the Palestinian people could keep the West Bank as their own country? "Yes, but Jerusalem [outside the West Bank] used to be Palestine and now it's Jewish. Jerusalem is the Palestinian capital. Jerusalem should belong to Palestine.

"In 1946 the Jews and the Arabs together kicked out the British. Then the Jews from Europe came and brought Zionism and the awful mess [of the present] to the people. Zionism destroyed the country and the people. There is too much pressure on us, too much killing," said Tawasha with tears filling his eyes.

Tawasha also intends to speak at Sonoma State University for the Palestinian cause.

New party, SAG, runs into snags

by Teresa Mariani

Six student government candidates who have formed a political party have filed a grievance with Student Activities Assistant Dean Gene Canevari over what one SAG (Students for Active Government) candidate called "a mishandled situation."

The grievance, filed Tuesday, was over an incident which occurred April 14 in the cafeteria. Student Activities Assistant Bob Flores found the group in violation of the SRJC elections code because they were sitting at a table giving away free coffee and encouraging students to sign required election petitions for the candidates in the SAG party.

"He told us we were in violation of the election code, and it was within his authority to disqualify us, and if we didn't disband [the table], he would do so," said SAG candidate Greg Kuypers.

Candidates Kuypers, Ken Meyer, and Robert Mattingly said that Flores told them they were violating an election code regulation [preventing candidates from putting out any form of publicity earlier than two weeks before an actual election] by talking to more than one person from talking to more than one student at a time, as long as candidates approach students and do not create an "open forum" by engaging in any kind of activity that would draw masses of students.

"I told them it had to be a one-on-one thing," said Flores. "And what they constituted that statement to mean was not to talk to more than one student at a time.

"What I meant was that they couldn't stand up on tables and say: 'Hey, I'm a candidate.' They couldn't create a situation that would bring students to them. What they had to do was go to the students."

The incident resulted in notices in the Bear Facts stressing that campaigning could not begin before 5 p.m. April 27 and defined campaigning as "posters, fliers, sandwich boards, buttons, open forums, speeches, and any other activity as defined in the elections and publicity code."

SAG candidates don't feel they were violating the elections code. Calling a petition table and offering free coffee an open forum "is his [Flores'] interpretation that we were in violation of the election code," said Mattingly.

Flores said that the code does not spell out what, exactly, is an open forum, but said that he interpreted it to mean "some vehicle that attracted other students to them."

The letter of grievance filed last Tuesday, "stated that we [SAG] want it on record that we object to the way the matter was handled," said Mattingly.

SAG members think that making a formal complaint to the election board would do no good because "it would go to the CSA, which is completely made up of all the people running against us. I think that's a conflict of interest," said Meyer, an ASB presidential candidate. "That's something we'll have to take care of after we're elected," he joked.

SAG members say they expected opposition from current student government members because of the fact that they formed a political "slate" party.

"We felt that whatever we came up with during the campaign would include

con't on back page

Politics==

the possibility of being shut down by student government using their interpretation of the codes," Meyer said.

However, after talking with Canevari and Flores this week, "we all feel that we're going to get a fair shake from those two people," Meyers stressed.

SAG members expected the opposition because of their publicly expressed attitudes about present student government at SRJC. "The way I see it is that [student government] is just a tight-knit social group," said Meyer.

"They've put themselves in an ivory tower, and that's where they've stayed," said Kuypers.

The party hopes to change the atmosphere of SRJC's student government. "As a party, we represent a cross-section of the whole campus, with a variety of majors," not just political science majors, said SAG vice-presidential candidate Jennifer McGrew.

SAG members worry that the cafeteria incident may have given the group a bad image. "We're not a group of radical veterans who want to overthrow the CSA," Kuypers stressed, adding that only two candidates, himself and Meyer, were U.S. armed services veterans.

"People have heard that we're just a bunch of radicals."

Dance with future engineers

by Tammie Edwards

"TEC stands for The Engineering Club — pretty catchy, huh," joked Charlie Traboulsi, President of TEC.

"The last time the club was active was in 1970. It has been inactive for 12 years. TEC was a very active club on campus in the past. It died when there was a general lack of interest in engineering in the early '70's," he explained.

Students can see some of the old group's work by looking at the engraved bricks leading from Analy Hall to Pioneer Hall. TEC is already beginning to live up to the earlier club's level of activity.

"We'll sponsor two dances; one off campus with Daddy Please and one on campus with ASB," he said. The Daddy Please dance will be at the Sebastopol Grange on April 30.

The club will also begin to lay the bricks that gave TEC much of its fame.

"Every year the engineering club had a brick in its name. It's a long tradition. We're going to restore that tradition by having a 1982 brick," Traboulsi said. He

"I think we're doing a hell of a lot for a club that's just one semester old," he stated.

"We have 36 members by word of mouth. We hold our meetings at eight on Wednesday mornings. The fact that we have that many people showing up that early in the morning is pretty amazing," Traboulsi explained.

He believes the reason the club is doing so well is because "engineering is one of the boom fields of today."

The club's advisor is Richard Abrams.

"It's open to everybody who's interested in engineering," Traboulsi said. Dues are $5; meetings are in Shuhaw Hall 1715.

Subj: Alleged Violations of Election Codes

On 14 April 1982, the allegations were made that we (the candidates now known as "Students for Active Government" ) were in violation of the below mentioned sections of the Publicity Code of the Santa Rosa Junior College.

1) Section II, Clause I

"All posters must be approved before posting"

- a. The Poster, "Free Coffee, sponsored by the SRJC Veterans Club", had verbal approval from the student activities office via Robert Mattingly (President Veterans Club) prior to the 14th of April.

2) Section III, Clause VIII

"Other types of publicity for elections ..... Open forum ....."

- a. We did not feel that this was anymore of an "open forum" than Katie Bright introducing Lori Fisk to a table of 5 - 10 students at a time.

The way the situation was handled by Bob Flores was not conducive to the location (in front of students). We also feel the situation was handled in a less than professional manner.

We the students mentioned above would like to go on record saying "We disagree with the handling of this matter"

We will also rest on the decision made concerning this matter by J. Derickson, Elections Commisioner and Bob Flores, Advisor.

Section I - Purpose and Introduction

In accordance with the provisions of the College Policy Statement on Speakers, Solicitation of Funds, and Dissemination of Information on Campus, the College Student Assembly, in cooperation with the Dean of Students, establishes this code for the conduct of a campus Hyde Park.

Section II - Operation

Having been delegated the responsibility for operating a Hyde Park program by the Dean of Students, the College Student Assembly vests the control of the program in the Arts and Lectures Commissioner acting in cooperation with the Student Activities Advisor.

Section III - Activities Covered

"Hyde Park activities might include debates, prepared or spontaneous statements, or simple, informal discussion"

Section IV - Place

The place designated for these activities shall be in front of the Doyle Student Center (coop).

Section V - Time

- A) Facilities shall be made available on all days of regularly Scheduled classes.
- B) The time for these activities shall commence at noon and remain available for (one hour). ~~11:00 - 2:00~~ 3 HRS -

Section VI - Equipment

Equipment for Hyde Park shall consist of the following:

- A) Lectern or podium
- B) A sign donating "HYDE PARK" to designate the place
- C) No power amplification equipment is to be permitted.

Section VII - Privileges and Responsibilities

In order to insure the proper use of a Hyde Park Policy, users of this means of communication are guaranteed the rights of free speech and care shall be taken to see that these rights are not abused. Additionally, the rights of other members of the community shall not be abused by the users of Hyde Park in the name of free speech.

OVER

It is expected that the privileges, responsibilities, and limitations imposed by the Hyde Park Code will be observed by all users of the facility. Lewd or obscene conduct violates the report of free speech. It is the obligation of the President of the Associated Students, the Activities Advisor, and the Dean of Students, or their duly designated representative, to require observance of the Hyde Park Code.

Section VIII - Eligibility

PROVIDED FOR CAMPUS COMMUNITY -

The use of Hyde Park facilities shall be limited to the following persons:

- A) Any student enrolled in at least one course in which at least one unit of credit is given at Santa Rosa Junior College.
- B) Any member of the Santa Rosa Junior College faculty.
- C) Any member of the Administration or Board of Trustees.
- D) Any member of the classified staff of the College.

Section IX - Rules of Courtesy

\ E) INVITED BY CLUBS - ELIGIBLE TO USE HYDE PARK*

- A) Five minutes shall be deemed a maximum courteous time for speaking if others desire to use facilities.
- B) Persons should show care for the equipment provided, not damaging, altering or removing.

Section X - Miscellaneous Policies

- A) Activities are not required to be scheduled; however, notification of planned speeches, etc., to the Assemblies Commissioner can be made for coordination purposes.
- B) Any eligible person may commence to use Hyde Park facilities at any time during its operation, on a first come, first serve basis.

Section XI - Adoption, Revision, and Repeal

This code shall be effective the first Monday following its adoption by the College Student Assembly and the Dean of Students. Its content may be revised or repealed by joint action of the College Student Assembly and the Dean of Students.

Amended - October 10, 1977

4-4.3 Policy Statement on Speakers, Solicitation of Funds, and Dissemination of Literature on Campus

The policy and procedures stated in the following pages were jointly adopted by the Student Affairs Committee, the Committee for an Open Forum, the Inter-Club Council, the Academic Senate, and the Governing Board.

1. Speaker for a college club or organization:

An invitation, sanctioned by the organization and its advisor, is all that is necessary. This type of presentation is deemed to be similar to a guest speaker in a scheduled class.

2. Off-campus speakers invited to address the student body in an assembly-type program:

The Committee on Arts and Lectures or its designated sub-committee is the agency of the college which has the responsibility of sponsoring assembly-type presentations on controversial issues. The policy and procedures outlined for the former Committee for an Open Forum and made a part of this section will govern such presentations. (See 3-11.2, Committee on Arts and Lectures.)

A student organization may sponsor an off-campus speaker in an assembly-type program if authorization is granted by the Inter-Club Council. Any publicly announced program will fall under the "assembly-type program" category. Approval by the Student Activities Advisor will be sufficient if the Inter-Club Council is unable to act. The policy and procedures governing such presentations and the guidelines for the Inter-Club Council are made a part of this section.

3. A "Hyde Park" Forum for Students and Employees of the District

An appropriate location will be designated and a pre-determined time for presentations (formal or informal) by faculty members, students, administrators, trustees, or members of the classified staff of the college. The "Hyde Park" activities are confined to members of the college community and may include debates, prepared or spontaneous statements or simply informal discussion. Any organization or individual wishing to be assured time for a presentation at the "Hyde Park" may reserve time through the office of the Dean, Student Personnel Services. A statement prepared by the County Counsel, including reminders of "fair play" and libelous, slanderous, or illegal actions will be brought to the attention of users of the facility.

4. Dissemination of Information On Campus:

Every bulletin board on campus will be assigned jointly by the Dean of Student Personnel Services and Instruction to a department, office, organization, or individual or be given an "open" classification. Use of assigned boards will be at the discretion of the assignee. Boards labeled "open" may be used for publicizing on or off campus events of public interest.

Leaflets and similar material may be freely distributed at outdoor areas which are centers of campus life by campus organizations provided the material has recorded on it the campus organization and the names of the individuals who have written the material. Individuals who desire to distribute materials may request an organization's sponsorship through the Inter-Club Council. The sponsoring organization, together with its advisor, may facilitate the distribution of the materials, without necessarily subscribing to the point of view presented, provided the material has recorded on it the name of the campus organization and the names of the individuals who have written the material.

Off-campus groups or individuals presenting approved assembly-type programs may distribute but not sell literature related to the topic under discussion or the purposes of the organization represented. The literature may be distributed at the location from which the program will be presented and/or continued during a question/answer period.

$4 million for SRJC remodeling

Santa Rosa Junior College trustees earmarked more than $4 million for repair and remodeling projects in hopes they won't have to share the district savings with other colleges in the state.

But President Roy Mikalson, who has been among those in California leading the fight to protect reserves, said there can be no guarantee the reserves will be safe until contracts are awarded.

The concern about reserves faces two-year colleges that have saved money for future needs. Several colleges are less fortunate and the state is seeking ways to balance budgets, including the possibility of requiring college districts with large reserves to share their wealth.

The board's transfer of more than $4.3 million included listing a variety of projects to be detailed out for actual construction and repair as soon as possible.

Two remodeling projects, however, Barnett and Shuhaw halls, were not included because of a disagreement over planning priorities.

Students seek pay hike

Santa Rosa Junior College's student body wants better pay for the college's higher-achieving student workers.

Trustee Chris Pedroncelli was appointed to work with the Associated Students in developing a wage package to bring to the board.

Mariangela Maguire, student president, Monday called for an adjustment in student wages which now range from $3.35 to $3.55 an hour.

She said the college employs about 1,500 students a year, allowing them to work 20 hours a week during the academic calendar. The students, she said, make up a vital part of campus labor.

Noting that a raise of five cents an hour is considered after a student has worked 500 hours — about a year on campus — Maguire said the student body's goal is a reward for "hard-working, high-performing students."

The student body feels students should be considered for pay increases sooner than 500 hours of work. Maguire said an evaluation system could be used to decide raises.

~~TITLE 5128 STUDENT ELECTION POLL~~

REFERENDUM FOR STUDENT ELECTION BALLOT

E.R.A. The Equal Rights Amendment is hereby ratified.

PURE DEMOCRACY is the power of the people to govern directly by popular vote in making the laws and policies by which our society is to live.

DISARMAMENT calling for the total elimination of all nuclear weapons from Earth by a 25% reduction per year. Immediate end to all research & development, production and deployment of these weapons including the MX, B-1 bomber, Trident Subs., cruise missile.

FULL FUNDING of all socially necessary health, education, welfare, environmental, and job training programs needed by the 25% US population below the poverty level.

TAX REFORM closing the "loopholes" which allow the big oil companies, corporations, and millionaires to escape taxation, while low income workers pay too much.

MILITARY BUDGET before congress requests $263,000,000,000.00 ($263-billion dollars) for the coming year in preparation for wars against developing nations and when ready plans call for NUCLEAR WARFARE in hope of gaining total world control by military force. Therefore a 50% reduction is needed to halt this sick suicidal madness before it's too late!

CIA and paramilitary actions of the US is hereby prohibited from doing in any country anything illegal under the laws of the US or the country itself.

DRAFT REGISTRATION IS REVOKED, no draft law shall be enacted by congress or under the emergency powers of the president. Anyone wishing to resign military may do so now.

MILITARY RECRUITERS are banned from coming on any college or high school property.

INDIAN TREATY RIGHTS are not to be violated further, full reparation for loss of life, land, resources, and cultural identity are to be retroactively fulfilled, and the just struggle for political and economic independence as a sovereign people is recognized.

4-4.3 Policy Statement on Speakers, Solicitation of Funds, and Dissemination of Literature on Campus

The policy and procedures stated in the following pages were jointly adopted by the Student Affairs Committee, the Committee for an Open Forum, the Inter-Club Council, the Academic Senate, and the Governing Board.

1. Speaker for a college club or organization:

An invitation, sanctioned by the organization and its advisor, is all that is necessary. This type of presentation is deemed to be similar to a guest speaker in a scheduled class.

2. Off-campus speakers invited to address the student body in an assembly-type program:

The Committee on Arts and Lectures or its designated sub-committee is the agency of the college which has the responsibility of sponsoring assembly-type presentations on controversial issues. The policy and procedures outlined for the former Committee for an Open Forum and made a part of this section will govern such presentations. (See 3-11.2, Committee on Arts and Lectures.)

A student organization may sponsor an off-campus speaker in an assembly-type program if authorization is granted by the Inter-Club Council. Any publicly announced program will fall under the "assembly-type program" category. Approval by the Student Activities Advisor will be sufficient if the Inter-Club Council is unable to act. The policy and procedures governing such presentations and the guidelines for the Inter-Club Council are made a part of this section.

3. A "Hyde Park" Forum for Students and Employees of the District

An appropriate location will be designated and a pre-determined time for presentations (formal or informal) by faculty members, students, administrators, trustees, or members of the classified staff of the college. The "Hyde Park" activities are confined to members of the college community and may include debates, prepared or spontaneous statements or simply informal discussion. Any organization or individual wishing to be assured time for a presentation at the "Hyde Park" may reserve time through the office of the Dean, Student Personnel Services. A statement prepared by the County Counsel, including reminders of "fair play" and libelous, slanderous, or illegal actions will be brought to the attention of users of the facility.

4. Dissemination of Information On Campus:

Every bulletin board on campus will be assigned jointly by the Dean of Student Personnel Services and Instruction to a department, office, organization, or individual or be given an "open" classification. Use of assigned boards will be at the discretion of the assignee. Boards labeled "open" may be used for publicizing on or off campus events of public interest.

Leaflets and similar material may be freely distributed at outdoor areas which are centers of campus life by campus organizations provided the material has recorded on it the campus organization and the names of the individuals who have written the material. Individuals who desire to distribute materials may request an organization's sponsorship through the Inter-Club Council. The sponsoring organization, together with its advisor, may facilitate the distribution of the materials, without necessarily subscribing to the point of view presented, provided the material has recorded on it the name of the campus organization and the names of the individuals who have written the material.

Off-campus groups or individuals presenting approved assembly-type programs may distribute but not sell literature related to the topic under discussion or the purposes of the organization represented. The literature may be distributed at the location from which the program will be presented and/or continued during a question/answer period.

  - B. Bill Mitchell came to CSA and presented 3 amendments that he would like to make to the Hyde Park Code.
    1. He would like to change Section 5B to read that Hyde Park will be open from 11-2 p.m. instead of 12-1 p.m.
    2. Section 6, subparagraph 3, he would like to strike NO from the statement so that it will read that power amplification may be used.
    3. He would like to change Section 8 to read that anyone may come on campus to speak at Hyde Park with the understanding that they are invited by a campus Student or club.

At this time Cameron Pagter made the motion to approve the above amendments to the Hyde Park Code

It was moved to postpone until next week and this motion failed, so we had a 8 minute debate on the amendments . After this debate, the motion was made to postpone this motion until the next meeting so that the Assembly can get out and talk to their Students on this issue and get some feedback. M/S/C

ASB grants students money for use on personal projects

by Maureen Layne

Imagine sitting in a tall, wooden chair which has "DIRECTOR" written across its back. Pretend yelling out directions from behind a pair of sunglasses while on location in sunny Southern California.

Cut to SRJC where five students are doing just that. It may not be Hollywood, but they are sitting in the director's chair as they work on their own films.

To help project these people into film making, the Associated Student Body has developed project film grants. Five people will take their grants this semester which are between $50 and $250 and start rolling their films.

Gordon Chaplin is one of five grant recipients trying to splice together a career in the film industry. His $50 grant "went quickly" as he produced his film, "Stages."

It is "a movie on dance and dancers," said Chaplin. "It's basically a flash forward in a little girl's life."

He's working on another film now called "Where Have the Flowers Gone." The 27-year-old said that the first film "was an understanding for my next film."

Lisa Gurian will use her $50 grant to roll into a film which she hopes will premiere on the big screen. "This is going to be an attempt to go out and sell," said Gurian.

Gurian said that she has "done other films and slide shows." But "The Tail of Michael" is her "big release."

Getting the grant to make the film wasn't too difficult, according to Gurian. The future female counter-part of George Lucas said that "the hardest thing is knowing what they (the interviewing committee) want to hear so you can convince them that you need the money."

John Harden, Robert Mannion and Scott Robbins also received film grants. They will receive $50, $75, and $150, respectively, to produce their film projects.

But the ASB didn't give grants to only filmmakers. Margruder Beall, Debra Heidreder and Gail Sayre received grants for individual projects.

Sayre used her $100 "to purchase the tools" to work on mezzotint. "It is a dying art form," said Sayre, explaining mezzotint, a type of engraving in metal plate.

The third semester student hopes to "be quite successful" with her rare art talent. She is keeping her fingers crossed in hopes she will be able to market her art.

Beall plans to use his $250 to work on an audio transducer and Heidreder will make a children's play with her $250.

Recording sec.

Name: Mannie Chiu
Office: Recording Secretary
Past experience: high school-AFS president, Spanish club secretary; SRJC - ICC representative of CET-CT club, ICC secretary
Remarks: none submitted.

Name: Mary Lynch
Office: Recording secretary
Past Experience: Oak Leaf reporter
Remarks: As a member of Students for Active Government, I'm running for the position of recording secretary because I'm interested in campus affairs. I will provide the student populace with accurate records of every CSA meeting and I will attentively listen to the students' ideas and opinions.

corresponding sec.

Name: Mary L. Fraser
Office: Corresponding secretary
Remarks: As the corresponding secretary, I hope to be able to gain an even greater knowledge of who runs what and how. After I gain this knowledge I want to pass it on to the associated students. I feel confident of this venture and have had a year of experience in the representative area of student government. Please vote.

Name: Loree Van Bebber
Office: Corresponding Secretary
Past experience: none submitted
Remarks: As a member of students for Active Government, I will carry out the office of corresponding secretary with the interest of the general student population first and foremost. There needs to be an open door policy where students are able to voice their opinions on issues that affect them. As corresponding secretary, I will do what is best for all of the students on campus.

soph. rep.

Name: Allison Bean
Office: Sophomore Representative
Past experience: High school - commission of social affairs, prom committee, CASC region IV elections committee. SRJC - CSA freshman representative, Day Under the Oaks student representative, student wage committee

Name: Christopher Russo
Office: Sophomore representative
Past Experience: I am currently a member of both The Engineering Club (TC) and Alpha Gamma Sigma (AGS).
Remarks: none submitted

fresh rep.

Name: Kenneth Heidreder
Office: Freshman representative
Past Experience: Currently Ex-Offender Commissioner and president of the Grey-stone organization on campus
Remarks: none submitted

Name: Anita Jacobucci
Office: Freshman Representative
Past Experience: High school - pep club president. SRJC - toga club member Remarks: I believe strong leadership and student opinion are needed here at the JC. I will be able to provide the strength and leadership needed.

Name: Nathan Perry
Office: Freshman representative
Past Experience: Stop the War Machine vice-president
Remarks: I'm running to be more representative of the campus populace. The present government is a little too conservative for the times as they are. I feel with more liberal attitudes that more can be accomplished that not.

Name: Staphanie Ruehmann
Office: Freshman Representative
Past Experience: CSA member, arts and lectures committee
Remarks: I believe that I have the background in student government to serve the incoming freshman class well. As freshman representative I intend to work hard to help freshmen adjust to SRJC life, answer their questions and present their concerns to the College Student Assembly.

student trustee

Name: Katy Bright
Office: Student trustee
Past Experience: CSA member, chair of associated students promotion committee and affirmative action review committee. Member of Design Group, college hiring committees. Student trustee 1981-82, chair student wage committee. Member affirmative action committee, college council and financial aid committee. Employee of SRJC Native American Museum for past two years.

Remarks: The position of student trustee requires knowledge of college policies and programs as well as experience in student government. The student trustee is the student voice at the highest policy making level of SRJC and can have great impact on the students today and the students of tomorrow. I have worked very hard on behalf of my peers and the community at large. I believe that my qualifications provide the necessary background to represent students again in the 1983-84 year. Please support me while I support you.

Name: Robert Thomas Mattingly
Office: Treasurer
Past Experience: Fall, 1981: veterans commissioner; president, veterans club. Spring, 1982: veterans commissioner.
Remarks: As a current member of the College Student Assembly, I would encourage all students to investigate the structure of student government here at SRJC. Please see for yourself and then vote for S.A.G. [Students for Active Government] candidates so we can bring about a more active government for you in the next semester. Thank you.

Name: Cameron R. Pagter
Office: Treasurer
Past Experience: Student surveys commissioner, student affairs committee, budget committee
Remarks: I am presently involved in student government as student surveys commissioner, and I feel that at this post I have acquired enough knowledge to do an admirable job in the position of treasurer. My best qualifications are dedication and an interest in students' needs. If elected, my job will not stop at treasurer. I plan to become actively involved in various committees as a voice for the students of SRJC.

ELECTIONS

pres.

Name: Lofi Anne Fisk

Office: President

Past Experience: Executive vice-president and committee commissioner at SRJC. ASB president, senior treasurer, junior representative at Rancho Cotate High School.

Remarks: None submitted.

Name: Penny Susan Karlewicz

Office: President

Past Experience: ICC representative for Christians on Campus.

Remarks: None submitted.

Name: Ken Meyer

Office: President

Past Experience: Vice-president of the Society for the Advancement of Management.

Remarks: The single most important asset which I bring to the CSA is my experience knowledge to serve as an effective mediator. My foremost objective as president is to create a group atmosphere which will encourage all officers and representatives-at-large to speak out on the needs and wants of the students they represent.

executive vice pres.

Name: Carmelle Fitzpatrick

Office: Executive vice-president

Past Experience: 1982 Executive cabinet corresponding secretary.

Remarks: Because student government affects us all (even the most passive or politically inactive individual), it is important that everyone votes in support of candidates who will represent their most vital interests. VOTE EXPERIENCE, RESPONSIBILITY — not personalities.

Name: Gregory A. Kuypers

Past Experience: Student senate, high school. Veterans Club, SRJC.

Remarks: The degree of confidence that a person has reflects that person's ability to do the job. With this confidence, and the cooperation of the student populace, I will execute this office as honestly and with as much integrity as possible. I will attempt to put student government back into the hands of the students.

vice pres.

Name: Pamela Christine Bull

Office: Vice-president

Past Experience: President, Dance Inc.; publicity manager, Ski Club. Member of: Skating Zanies, Toga Club, The Design Group, project and film grants committee, elections commission, athletics commission.

Remarks: I was the president of my senior class in high school (Feather River Preparatory) and have been active in student affairs ever since I started at SRJC in the fall of '81. Before that I studied at Western Washington University, but I hated the rain. I also graduated from the Travel Institute of the Pacific at the top of my class. I feel I am qualified for the position of vice-president because I know the wants of SRJC students and because I have been actively involved in ICC and CSA.

Name: Alycia Ann Falk

Office: Vice-president

Past Experience: 1982 Co-president AGS, fall 1981 - AGS publicity commissioner, wage proposal committee spring 1982

Remarks: If elected as vice-president, I plan to do my best to make sure that the government's decisions reflect the needs and wants of students. I have worked hard this semester as publicity commissioner to contact as many students as possible and bring their views back to the college student assembly.

Name: Jennifer McGrew

Office: Vice-president

Past Experience: I was involved in various segments of student government in high school. I am presently a peer advisor on the SRJC campus.

Remarks: My experience as a peer advisor here at SRJC enables me to understand the needs of the students. I feel confident that I can communicate these needs to student government and put the power back in the hands of the students.

IMPROVISATION MAY BE THE KEY here as these dancers ham it up. These SRJC students will be performing in the upcoming dancer's workshop called "Footprints on the Wall." These 18 women have been studying dance at SRJC and welcome the chance to show off their newly acquired skills in this annual event. The performance will be Friday and Saturday evenings at 8:30 p.m. in Tauzer Gym. Tickets are $2 students, $3 general.

Dancers do their stuff

by Luisa Fonseca

"Footprints on the Wall" is the name of this year's annual dance concert put on by the students enrolled in dance workshop at SRJC and coordinated by SRJC physical education instructor Marjorie Schultz. Some 18 women will participate in the event held at Tauzer Gym.

The high stepping and pirouetting dancers choreographed their own routines. This year the women show a trend toward large group routines. Only two will dare to take the stage by themselves in solos. Routines will range anywhere from two and a half minutes to a full six.

Each student in the dance workshop was to submit a routine. Schultz then chose those routines she thought were best. Modern, jazz, ballet, and tap, all done to tempo, will spotlight the gym floor.

Only four of the 18 dancers have performed in the dance workshop previously, so a lot of new and perhaps nervous faces await the audience, that in the past has ranged from 200 to 400 people.

According to Schultz, the main problem this year is the large number of dancers participating in more than one sketch and this makes rehearsing difficult trying to coordinate rehearsal times.

Some [women] are in seven or eight," Schultz said.

Schultz doesn't think the mixed rehearsing schedules will adversely affect the performance of this year's dance show because the dancers held a lot of extra practice sessions.

...want to get the crowd
... "If you're out there
... sitting there like . . .
... under her chin and ... her knee) it's real
...nts as they continue
...ges to call them back into the gym. The conversation grows louder as they reminisce about their experiences as cheerleaders in high school.

"Do you remember when so and so got in a fight with such and such," the conversation goes. "Yeah, and she won too," someone says. They all laugh.

They are a diverse group, these 12.
Some are quiet and reserved, others are loud and brassy. Most have only known each other since last weekend, but they talk and kid each other like long time friends.

"Do you think they'll call anybody back in? You know, to see them again before they decide?" "Oh God, I hope not," another replies. "That's the worst thing."

"Besides, they didn't like you that much," they laugh.

All the girls have a sense of pride in a reputation and want to build a good name for the school through their cheerleading.

"A good reputation, get everybody active, that's what we want to do," says one girl.

"Yeah, but this isn't like high school, you guys," another responds. "Not everybody sits around waiting for the game that night," she says.

"We should be something that the school can be proud of," someone else adds. "We've got to have good uniforms."

They all laugh at this last bit of vanity.

Finally, they are called back into the gym. They chatter and laugh all the way to the door. They enter in complete silence.

They line up, stiffly, lengthwise across the gym.

"You're all terrific," they are told. "You guys did a great job. You're all winners in our eyes."

The judges call off the names, one by one. After each name there are screams and hugs, and relief for that particular person.

The last name is called off. This girl looks more relieved than happy. The two who didn't make it hug the other girls and exchange congratulations and condolences.

The two walk casually out of the gym alone. The new cheerleaders sit primly for a photograph.

The portable cassette deck is turned on. The music blares. The winners half run, half dance, out of the gymnasium.

MIRROR, MIRROR. This woman was one of the participants in last Saturday's SRJC Cub cheerleader try-outs.

ORIGINALLY 20 females signed up for the try-outs, but by Saturday only 12 were still in the competition. Judges picked all but two of the contestants for the 10 member spirit squad. . . . .

by Lindsay Webb

A lone girl stands rigidly in the center of Tauzer Gymnasium. She smiles, nervously, just having completed her last routine for the 1982-83 SRJC cheerleading tryouts. The judges look at her and exchange comments between themselves.

At the edge of the gym sits a cluster of girls, whispering and alternately watching the judges and the solitary figure in the center arena.

"All right," someone says noncommittally. The girl's frozen smile now drops as she runs back to the safety of the pack.

"It was great. No, really, it was," one of the girls reassures her.

The group shuffles outside to await their fate — the judges' final decision. They are nervous and keep up a constant stream of chatter.

"I wonder how they're gonna' break the news to us," one says. "I don't even want to know," another replies.

Ten of these girls will win, two will lose. They lament over missed moves, broken opportunities.

"I was awful," a quiet brunette says, mainly to herself. "No you weren't," the girl sitting next to her says, putting her arm around her shoulders.

Most of the girls are 17 and 18-year-olds. One is 19, "and ready for the rocking chair," they chide her. All but two, who are SRJC students, attend high schools around the Santa Rosa area: Montgomery, Analy, Casa Grande, and Point Reyes.

They have given up two weekends worth of time to come to SRJC in an attempt to become the school's cheerleaders for the 1982-83 school year. Initially some 20 girls entered the competition, but the number has dwindled to these 12. The squad will consist of ten girls.

Why do they want to be cheerleaders?

"It's fun," they answer unanimously. "And it's a good way to get involved with school," one offers. "You also meet a lot of people," another adds.

"You get to see all the players up close in their cute little shorts," shoots back another. "No, no, just kidding. Don't write that," she says.

"God, I wish they'd hurry up," a serious looking girl says. "Then again, maybe I don't."

When asked whether they feel a cheerleader's purpose is to entertain the crowd or to spark enthusiasm the group becomes silent for a moment.

"A little of both," comes one reply. The rest nod in agreement.

"And a lot of times no one pays any attention to you, anyway," another girl adds. "It makes you feel good when somebody else joins in."

editorial

Most students consider student government a joke. This seems to be an attitude that is a hangover from high school days when all that student body president did was plan proms and assign committees to make Reynolds Wrap stars to hang from the ceiling of the gym for the Homecoming dance.

As a result of this, ASB officers at SRJC may just have one of the toughest jobs in western civilization. Not only do they have to keep a close eye on the administration to make sure that student interests are protected in all SRJC policies and actions, they also have to convince the SRJC students they represent that they are not just in student government for the purpose of forming a social clique.

Students may not realize it, but the ASB officers, along with the CSA, have control of $100,000 — an enormous sum of money. The ASB metes out over $90,000 to various campus programs annually. Groups as different as the football team, Poppy Creek daycare center, and the theatre arts department receive a good portion of the funds they need in order to exist from the ASB.

All in all, the ASB officers are responsible for the actions and programs which transform this campus from a chunk of dirt with buildings and parking lots scattered between Armory Drive and Mendocino Avenue into a vital, exciting institution which provides for social and aesthetic pursuits in addition to intellectual pursuits.

For these reasons, SRJC students should be aware of the positions and ideals of all the candidates running for office. Though voter turnout in ASB elections has increased over the past two years, the turnout is still embarrassingly low when compared to the number of students who are enrolled at this college, all of whom are eligible to vote.

We urge students to take the two minutes of their time needed to mark their ballots during the ASB elections in the Coop next Wednesday and Thursday. Whatever the disdain that exists toward any type of government in this post-Watergate era, SRJC students must remember that the ASB officers control our money — money earned through selling ASB cards and tickets to athletic events — and through that they control the many activities that make SRJC a very pleasant place to get an education.

Students dare needles & nerves to give

by Maureen Layne

The faces were ghostly white. With their backs pinned against the back of the chairs, nine students awaited their turn. Entering the gym was like entering a mortuary; most of the faces were solemn and sad.

It was the blood drive on April 30 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at SRJC that brought the pale skin to the potential donors.

One student entered through the doors and looked around. His eyes widened as he saw some students lying on the tables with the blood draining from their veins. But his frightened eyes turned to smiling ones as he tried to eliminate his fear of donating blood.

"I've given blood before," he assured himself. "You only get a little weak and dizzy. Besides, if you pass out, you're already lying down."

He had already received the okay about his health from the registered nurse before giving blood. Now, he assumed his position beside the other zombies and awaited the call of one of the draculas, disguised as a registered nurse.

Not everyone can give blood. Charlette "Charlie" Bailey, R.N., said, "We're very careful about taking people to give blood." Bailey explained that the donor must be "basically healthy" in order to give blood. Each nurse takes some medical history of the prospective donor, making sure he hasn't had a recent flu or illness.

"We used to give money to donors. Now it's strictly volunteer. I think that discourages the people from lying about their history [so they could still give blood and make money]," she said.

The basic standards for giving blood are that a person must weigh more than 110 pounds and must not have had any illness in the past two weeks before he/she donates blood.

As the students begin the process before getting to the actual table "we just test for iron. We like high levels of iron, and the person who gets it [the blood] will too," said Bailey.

The registered nurse who works in mobile units throughout Sonoma, Lake and Mendocino counties said, "Most of the time it [getting turned away] has to do with allergies."

She believes that it is very important for students to donate blood. "We can't go down to Long's and buy this. Besides, psychologically it makes you feel good, knowing that you've helped out."

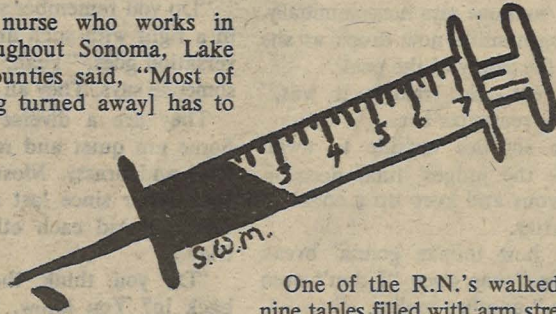

Of course, there have been some problems with donating blood. "Some people do pass out," said one nurse, shrugging her shoulders to indicate that it was nothing unusual. "But it really doesn't hurt."

What about the cemented look of fear that these people have plastered on their faces?

"People are usually apprehensive," said Bailey. "Butterflies we allow; fear we don't."

Just then one of the zombies managed to unglue herself from the chair on death row and make her way over to the "goodie" table. The cookies and orange juice are to "increase the level of sugar in the blood," said Sally Pola. "They eat and drink just before giving blood and right after."

One of the R.N.'s walked over to the nine tables filled with arm stretched bodies. "Ken Meyer," she called out. It was the same person who had reassured himself as he walked into the gym earlier.

He waltzed right up to the table and began to strip off his sweater and his shoes. Rolling up his sleeve he questioned, "I'm left handed. Is this going to bother me?"

"Not as long as you don't plan to play any tennis," assured the nurse.

She wrapped the blood pressure gauge around his arm to use it for a tourniquet.

Soon the veins on the inner part of his elbow began to protrude from under the skin. She prepared the needle.

He began to chatter more rapidly as the nurse placed the disinfectant on his arm. "It's no big deal. Ayeeo —" his eyes dilated and his mouth dropped revealing his tonsils, but only momentarily. A smile quickly returned to his face and he resumed his steady speaking pace.

The red liquid drained from his arm into a small plastic bag as he continued talking. Before long he had given his pint and the nurse came to remove the dreaded needle.

"It usually takes between five and 10 minutes," she explained.

He held his pale arm high in the air to stop the bleeding. The nurse wrapped his arm and he got up.

He headed straight for the "goodie" table. There the nurse instructed him to sit and rest for 10 minutes.

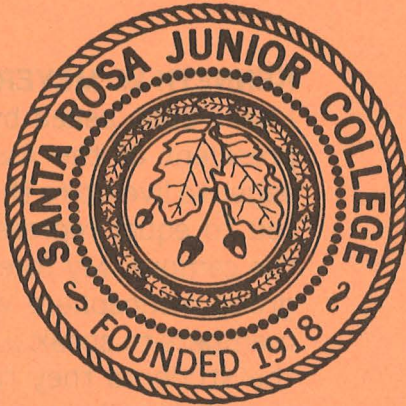

The color began to return to his face as he explained, "You feel good about an hour afterwards. It's like your body generates new blood."

One girl pointed out that the "feeling good" is because "you know you're doing something worthwhile. It might be your blood that keeps someone alive."

SRJC received 102 pints of blood to place in their reserve blood bank. With this blood in reserve at the Sonoma County Community Blood Bank, any SRJC student can get blood when he/she needs it.

PRESIDENT

LORI A. FISK

Serving as Exec-Vice-President, next succession to the presidency. I feel it's very important that there be some sort of continuity in Student Government especially when dealing with important issues as Student Wages, S.R.J.C. Reserves and Police procedures. Remember, I have the knowledge to do the job.

KENNETH W. MEYER

I have been asked by fellow students to run for president of the Associated Student Body. I am eager to live up to their expectations and committed to equal representation for all segments of the campus. My foremost objective is to create a group atmosphere which will encourage all members to speak out on the needs and wants of the students they represent. Give me your support and I will give you a die-hard student body.

PENNY S. KARLEWICZ

Strong leadership is a prerequisite for the Associated Student Body to maintain itself as an organization for the students of SRJC. Strength and confidence come from experience and listening to the needs of the students. This past semester I have served as representative on the Inter-Club-Council. Outside of school I was Treasurer for the Colorado State Day Care Association. My goal: to listen and serve the students to the best of my ability.

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

GREGORY A. KUYPERS

degree of confidence that a person has res that person's ability to do the job. With this idence and the cooperation of the student lace, I will execute this office as honestly and as much integrity as possible. I will attempt ut student government back into the hands e students.

CARMELLE FITZPATRICK

ask of you the student to permit me Carmelle Fitzpatrick to represent you as Executive Vice-President as I possess the necessary skill of uniting your opinions with my leadership. I have manifested this in my past and present experience at SRJC as Executive Freshman Representative and Corresponding Secretary. Please vote Carmelle Fitzpatrick.

VICE PRESIDENT

JENNIFER A. MCGREW

My experience working with students as a peer advisor at the J.C. enables me to understand their problems and needs. I have had experience in various segments of student government in high school. I am confident I can communicate the students needs to their government, and put the power back in their hands. Students for Action Government.

PAMELA CHRISTINE BULL

S.R.J.C. has one of the best Student Governments in the California School system. This is so, because of the dedication of caring students involved in the future of our college. Vice-President requires a thorough knowledge of the campus clubs, Intercollegiate Student Government, and Parliamentary Procedures. My qualifications well cover all three areas and I feel confident that I can fairly represent the population of SJRC's campus.

ALYCIA ANN FALK

Fellow students, I too am a student, and like you students I am concerned about how the school is run and want to make sure that we the students have a voice in how this school is run. I have had considerable experience in Student Government. I am currently on the Publicity Comm. and I am serving on the Wage Proposal Committee to get wage increases for student employees. I am also the president of the Honor Society, Alpha Gamma Sigma.

TREASURER

T. T. MATTINGLY

Running for the Treasurer position because I believe that I can bring about a positive change to student government here at S.R.J.C. The "Party for Active Government" offer an alternative to the current student government structure and for this reason I urge all of you to vote for candidates who belong to that party of students.

RON R. PAGTER

Currently involved in student government as a survey commissioner, and I feel that at least I have acquired enough knowledge to do a admirable job at the position of treasurer. My qualifications are dedication and an interest in the needs of students. If elected, I will not stop at Treasurer; I plan to become more involved in various committees as a voice for the students of SRJC.

RECORDING SECRETARY

MARY C. LYNCH

As your Recording Secretary I will provide the student populace with accurate records of every meeting. As a member of Students for Positive Reform, I urge you all to vote for us so we can create a student government that is responsive to student needs.

MANNIE CHIU

I've always liked working with people and getting involved in school activities. So when I came to SJRC last fall, I decided to continue my involvement and joined a few clubs. Now, during my second semester, I am the ICC representative of the CT Club and was also appointed to be the recording secretary. My job as ICC secretary is similar to the skills required of the position I am seeking and is less time consuming. Please vote for me for Recording Secretary of Fall 1982.

ORRESPONDING SECRET

DREE A. VAN BEBBER

As corresponding secretary, I will actively support the increase of communication between the College Student Assembly and the student populace. As a member of the "Students for Positive Government," I am among those who are seeking a positive government structure, in order to provide a greater communication level between student government and student populace.

MARY L. FRASER

The office of corresponding secretary involves the student voice being heard. In office I hope to be able to open even more, the channels of communication to the student body. For the past two semesters I have been involved in the representative area of student government, and now feel able to take on the added responsibility of this office.

HOMORE REPRESENTATI

RONALD A. ROMANO

I am a candidate for this office in student government simply to be able to have a chance of making certain changes that will be of benefit to students attending this school. As much student control of student government is what there should be. There hasn't been much evidence of not enough evidence of making students the dominant factor in the government created for its benefit and welfare.

MADELEINE FITZPATRICK

As Sophomore representative I pledge myself to advancing understanding and communication on issues between students and their government body and to serve only the students' interests.

CHRISTOPHER RUSSO

Hi, my name is Chris Russo. I'm running for the office of sophomore representative. I am majoring in engineering and am involved in several clubs on campus, including AGS (Alpha Gamma Sigma) and T.E.C. (The Engineering Club). If I were elected sophomore representative, one of my main goals would be to close the gap between the students and the government. As I see it from my point of view as a student, these groups seem far apart.

SOPHOMORE REPRESENTATIVE

TIMOTHY P. CANTLON

Hi! My name is Tim Cantlon, I am running for the office of sophomore rep. I am presently the Enforcement Rep. to CSA, in an attempt to improve the relationship between the Campus and the students at SRJC, I would be a great like to represent you as your sophomore rep.

---

FRESHMAN REPRESENTATIVE

ANITA M. JACOBUCCI

I have strong leadership and student opinion is needed here at the J.C. I will be able to provide strength and leadership needed for the freshman class. I feel that I am qualified for this position because of my ability to work with people.

CHRISTOPHER E. PERRY

I am presently a 1st semester music major who has lived in the Sonoma County area for the past 10 years. I intend on being on this campus for the next three years as a full time student. I am very concerned about the gravity of the political problems that confront us on the community, national and international levels. There I am active as a student in politics standing for basic human rights.

HOMORE REPRESENTATIVE

STEPHANIE RUEHMANN

It's my belief that any Representative should bring to their position enthusiasm, incentive, get involved, and as much experience in student government as possible. As Arts and Lectures Commissioner for the past year I have actively participated in the College Student Assembly and student activities gaining the experience needed to properly represent my constituents. My election as Freshman Representative ensures that the Freshman class of SRJC will have an experienced voice in student government.

KENNETH HEIDBREDER

This is my first year at SRJC. This semester has also been my first experience as Ex-offender Commission Commissioner in connection with student government. I feel I understand the views and needs of my fellow students and would appreciate the chance to serve you as freshman representative.

SCOTT ZUMWALT

I've chosen to run for freshman representative because it's an excellent way to get involved and learn about student government. The position will help me in understanding how and by what decisions are made. In the last month I've spoken to office members about student tuition and flexible calendar. I'd like the opportunity to work with these people and involve myself in student affairs. My enthusiasm about student concerns make me the best candidate.

STUDENT TRUSTEE

position of Student Trustee has developed into a significant and meaningful method for representing the needs of students and the rest of the campus community. Consideration must be given to the community at large which provides the funding for our facility at S.R.J.C. Next year we'll be looking at diminishing funds, possible tuition, student services fees and the real possibility of not being able to take care of those individuals who would like to attend our college. It's absolutely mandatory that the person in the position of student trustee be well versed in the present and upcoming difficulties. It's equally mandatory that the Student Trustee be able to listen and communicate with all factions of the campus community in order to represent student interests fairly and responsibly. It's for these reasons that I'm running again for the position of Student Trustee and feel that I'm the best and most qualified candidate.

Name	Comment
Michelle Mantynen	Fan-bloody-tastic! Makes school more interesting.
Log Hopley	Get rid of it! Invasion of my privacy.
Michael	IT'S TERRIBLE!
Lucy South	Amendment. Right to
Rey Gilbert	Indivisible lengthen the time. I'm for having a speaker at lunch, but against having that speaker invade the privacy of others.
Mario Medati	Leave on lunch hour period!
Para Clam	This is a wonderful tool. Those that don't want to use it have ten minutes to choose a room for the device. A.P. has a station at times that people work by speaking.
LU MITCHELL	FREEDOM OF SPEECH REQUIRES THE ABILITY TO BE HEARD. P.A. O.K!
Best Evans	It really got lots of people interesting.

free access to ideas + information
Besides it's better than yelling and sounding like a lunatic ~~Mark~~. I think the amp would be alright if used with ~~re~~straint. An amp would allow expression without yelling however if the volume was too high it would serve as a nuisance instead of helping

David Evans - Use of the amp would be alright if the privilege of same would be used with discretion. The "coop crowd" assembled each day from noon or usually seek rest and relaxation from classes. I don't believe they should be subjected to boisterous shouting. The use of the amp makes free speech easier on the ears.

B. Allen Weston AN AMPLIFIER AND P.A. SYSTEM would result in cleaner, more professional, less OFFENSIVE ORATIONS. It would be A blessing

Steve Terantino - what the hell, Cause and Effect!

But don't infringe on others!!

Mark S. Godfrey I think its ~~all~~ great!

Katja Subin Great idea, but common courtesy should be observed

Bob Ridgway

I would not have spoke, or speak in the future if the power Amp werent there.

John Steele

I was not there but feel that it is only right, to give power if power is given to Rock + Roll country etc.

Trilyn Schiser
ASA member

I think power-amplification for Hyde Park is a great thing but I could still barly hear the speaker and I was sitting on Coop patio.
In other words it does not disturb anyones right to not listen!

Richard King

Power to the people! Yes to power amp. The tree speaker was loud enough to be heard on the green but not in Andy temps.

The idea of the Park is great, but to force listening to speakers on those who choose not to move closer is unnecessary. The willing, interested audience

TO BE OR NOT TO BE POWER AMPLIFICATION
LINDA WELTON

I think the amplification will allow the speakers to make their points without screaming - a definite plus. You have my vote!

was already close enough to not need the speakers

Hello, my name is Mike Puccioni. I am the team captain of our SRJC Water Ski team. We have had a team for two years, now. Our first year we placed 7th in our Western Conference, and this year we placed 5th.

Collegiate water skiing is a nationwide sport. The nation is divided into six conferences. Our conference is made up Washington, Oregon, Calif., and Nevada. For the past <sup>4 YEARS</sup> there has been an all star tournament between the Western and South Central Conferences. The top five skiers in each event go to the tournament. This year the all star tournament is going to be a nation wide competition, including all six conferences.

There are three events in a tournament: slalom, trick, and jump. This year I placed 6th in men's trick. (the top five go to the tourney.) The #1 skier can not go because he doesn't have I2 units, therefore I am #5.

The tourney will be held in New Orleans on May 22nd and 23rd. I am asking the ASB for $500.00 to cover my expenses on this trip. I need to cover air fare, lodging, and meals.

COLLEGIATE ALL STAR TOURNEY PLANNED FOR NEW ORLEANS

The First Annual Collegiate All Star Classic Water Ski Tournament will be held this May 22nd and 23rd in festive New Orleans. The 1 round, 3 event collegiate tournament will be hosted by the South Central Conference of the National Collegiate Water Ski Association, in conjunction with the New Orleans Water Ski Club.

The tournament will feature competition among (6) six teams: One team fielded from each of the six NCWSA Conferences. Each Conference's All-Star Team will be selected by the members of its Conference.

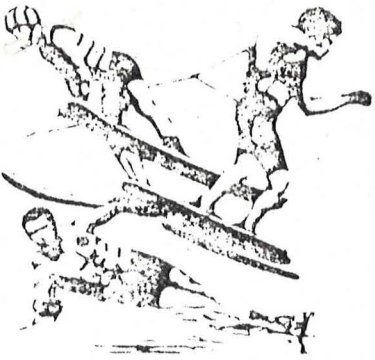

Unique in format, the tournament is an extension of the successful Ski Master "All-Star Shoot-Outs" held between the Western and South Central Conferences for the past (3) three years.

The New Orleans site boasts a private lake with plentiful wind protection, located just off of Interstate 12, north of New Orleans.

In addition to the competition, plans call for a banquet party, and an evening on Bourbon Street.

For more information, contact Tournament Chairman Elgin Faulkner, 1443 Durango, Houston, Texas 77055 (713/464-1271).

To: Executive Cabinet
From: Jim Thomas
Subject: Special purpose ASB supplement

As you are probably aware, Poppy Creek School has, since it's beginning in February 1973, maintained a constant effort to provide quality services to as many associated student families as possible. Since our inception in 1973, we have doubled the number of children served.

In the past nine years we have asked for additional funding help from the ASB on three different occasions (the last time was during the 1978-79 fiscal year). For all three requests the ASB has generously accomodated our needs. We are now asking you for a special purpose ASB supplement in the amount of $1500.00 for the construction of two fences at our pre-school site, and the labor costs to construct a storage shed at the infant center.

In January 1982 our toddler and pre-school programs moved into two larger more appropriate rooms in the same building we have been in since November 1978. Because of this move, and the need to insure compatability with other programs that will be moving into the same building, we need two fenced areas. Our budget does not have the moneys to accomodate any of this need. Our ongoing budget is limited to operations and maintenance expenses, and does not include funding for capital outlay.

Fence estimates have been secured from six contractors, and copies are attached for your inspection.

The increased number of infants served, and the small space that accomodates the infant program, has made space a premium. A storage area is needed, and funding has been received for the purchase there of. We either need capable volunteers, or labor costs which we figured at $100.00 to get this shed constructed.

We appreciate your consideration in this matter, and we will be happy to provide additional information as necessary.

Sincerely,

Jim Thomas
Pre-school Director

Section 4.B. reads:

In order for a candidate to be elected for any office, except Representative-at-Large, they must receive a majority of the votes cast for their office.

Change Section 4.B. to read:

Except for Representative-at-Large, any candidate receiving the majority of the votes cast for a given office will be declared the winner.

In the event no candidate receives a majority of the votes cast, the candidate with the most votes shall be declared the winner if said candidate has 10% more votes than the next closest candidate.

In the event that no candidate wins a majority of the votes cast and the leading candidate does not win 10% more of the votes cast for the next closest candidate, a runoff election will be declared between the two candidates with the highest number of votes received.

ARTICLE VI EXPENDITURES

All expenditures of Associated Students, Trust, or Organization accounts shall follow the procedures outlined below.

SECTION 1. The person seeking the funds shall fill out a requisition. Each organization shall have on file with the Accounts Manager a current Signature Card, signed by the organization's faculty advisor.

A requisition for an organization's funds must have the two authorized signatures which appear on the organization's Signature Card. It must also have the signature of the Activities Advisor. (In case of emergency the Assistant Activities Advisor or the Dean of Students may authorize an expenditure).

A requisition for Associated Students' funds must be signed by the Treasurer and the Activities Advisor. (In case of emergency, or the prolonged absence of the Associated Students' Treasurer, requisitions may be signed by the ASB President, ASB Executive Vice-President, or the ASB Vice-President and the Activities Advisor.)

SECTION 2. The approved requisition shall then be presented to the Accounts Manager.

SECTION 3. Upon receipt of an approved requisition indicating that a check is necessary, the Accounts Manager shall prepare the check. Ordinarily, checks shall be made out to the vendor. Any goods or services paid for by check must be validated by receipted bills, which must be returned to the Accounts Manager, indicating that delivery has been made. In the event that the check is made payable to a student officer or faculty member (himself not the vendor), it is the duty of this person to obtain receipts for all money paid out and to return these immediately to the Accounts Manager. Individuals obtaining goods or services without authorization will be held personally responsible for the payment of them.

ARTICLE VI EXPENDITURES

Section 1 Paragraph 3

While over expenditures are not encouraged, it is possible that on occasion over expenditures will occur. It is necessary when events necessitate that the best judgement of the advisors and the treasurer (or those officers designated to act for the treasurer) will be relied upon. During the regular semester, budget changes will be presented to CSA that would alter the budget to reflect and correct overexpenditures. At the close of the budget year the advisor and the treasurer will be empowered to make those expenditures necessary to meet the obligations of the Associated Students even though those expenditures may, on occasion, result in overexpenditures in certain budget categories.

After the close of each fiscal year the accounts manager will determine the amount of Associated Students' funds remaining. The Executive Cabinet will determine how these funds are to be utilized by creating designated surplus accounts. Any funds in designated surplus accounts not expended by the close of the fiscal year will be transferred to the frozen reserve of the Associated Students.

IN RESPONSE TO my questions about that creek that traverses the Junior College neighborhood, comes Judy Sonnenshine of the Poppy Creek Nursery School, SRJC's child care center.

When the naming of the school was in question, says Judy, research indicated that the creek that ran past the Congregational Church, where the infant care facility is located, was called Poppy Creek and the school was named accordingly.

I think we'll have to go with that. The creek doesn't show on any maps I have. Paulin Creek is a somewhat larger stream that flows past the county administration center, follows along Chanate a ways and empties into the Pina Creek Reservoir. The little one is in the area of Poppy Drive. And besides, Poppy is a great name for a creek. Why tamper with a good thing?

* QUALIFIED FOR NATIONAL WHEELCHAIR GAMES

** NEW NATIONAL WHEELCHAIR ATHLETIC GAMES RECORD

Hello, my name is Mike Puccioni. I am the team captain of our SRJC Water Ski team. We have had a team for two years, now. Our first year we placed 7th in our Western Conference, and this year we placed 5th.

Collegiate water skiing is a nationwide sport. The nation is divided into six conferences. Our conference is made up Washington, Oregon, Calif., and Nevada. For the past <sup>4 YEARS</sup> there has been an all star tournament between the Western and South Central Conferences. The top five skiers in each event go to the tournament. This year the all star tournament is going to be a nationwide competition, including all six conferences.

There are three events in a tournament: slalom, trick, and jump. This year I placed 6th in men's trick. (the top five go to the tourney.) The #1 skier can not go because he doesn't have I2 units, therefore I am #5.

The tourney will be held in New Orleans on May 22nd and 23rd. I am asking the ASB for $500.00 to cover my expenses on this trip. I need to cover air fare, lodging, and meals.

COLLEGIATE ALL STAR TOURNEY PLANNED FOR NEW ORLEANS

The First Annual Collegiate All Star Classic Water Ski Tournament will be held this May 22nd and 23rd in festive New Orleans. The 1 round, 3 event collegiate tournament will be hosted by the South Central Conference of the National Collegiate Water Ski Association, in conjunction with the New Orleans Water Ski Club.

The tournament will feature competition among (6) six teams: One team fielded from each of the six NCWSA Conferences. Each Conference's All-Star Team will be selected by the members of its Conference.

Unique in format, the tournament is an extension of the successful Ski Master "All-Star Shoot-Outs" held between the Western and South Central Conferences for the past (3) three years.

The New Orleans site boasts a private lake with plentiful wind protection, located just off of Interstate 12, north of New Orleans.

In addition to the competition, plans call for a banquet party, and an evening on Bourbon Street.

To: Executive Cabinet
From: Jim Thomas
Subject: Special purpose ASB supplement

As you are probably aware, Poppy Creek School has, since it's beginning in February 1973, maintained a constant effort to provide quality services to as many associated student families as possible. Since our inception in 1973, we have doubled the number of children served.

In the past nine years we have asked for additional funding help from the ASB on three different occasions (the last time was during the 1978-79 fiscal year). For all three requests the ASB has generously accomodated our needs. We are now asking you for a special purpose ASB supplement in the amount of $1500.00 for the construction of two fences at our pre-school site, and the labor costs to construct a storage shed at the infant center.

In January 1982 our toddler and pre-school programs moved into two larger more appropriate rooms in the same building we have been in since November 1978. Because of this move, and the need to insure compatability with other programs that will be moving into the same building, we need two fenced areas. Our budget does not have the moneys to accomodate any of this need. Our ongoing budget is limited to operations and maintenance expenses, and does not include funding for capital outlay.

Fence estimates have been secured from six contractors, and copies are attached for your inspection.

The increased number of infants served, and the small space that accomodates the infant program, has made space a premium. A storage area is needed, and funding has been received for the purchase there of. We either need capable volunteers, or labor costs which we figured at $100.00 to get this shed constructed.

We appreciate your consideration in this matter, and we will be happy to provide additional information as necessary.

Sincerely,

Jim Thomas
Pre-school Director

VOTE MAY 12 & 13, 1982

Statement:

I believe it is important when electing officers to Executive Cabinet positions to keep in mind that RESPONSE-ABILITY comes largely from experience - and that both experience and responsibility are essential to good government. I am asking you to vote for me on the basis of my experience in Student Government offices and accountability concerning current issues. For example:

- 1) I am for greater, PUBLISHED accountability from the Student Government - and in this respect, an expanded, sophisticated, college press coverage is a pre-requisite to the hoped-for improvement in students' participation in government.
- 2) I am definitely against requiring tuition fees to be paid by ALL students. Beyond this, an extensive study is necessary before anyone can fairly come to a conclusion in support of changing the 'Free For All' tuition policy of California Community Colleges - or designating who must begin to pay.
- 3) I would like to see Student Government work towards having Doyle Scholarships that are currently available only to first and second year students, be extended to the third year student whenever third-year participation is normal OR mandatory to the program.

I would like to say that I abide by Confucius' advice: "Take conscientiousness and sincerity as your ruling principles", and I take this opportunity to thank you for your support in the past.

Sincerely,

Carmelle Fitzpatrick

STATEMENTS

S.R.J.C. has one of the best Student Governments in the California School system. This is so, because of the dedication of caring students involved in the future of our college. Vice-President requires a thorough knowledge of the campus clubs, I.C.C. Student Government, and Parliamentary Procedures. My qualifications well cover all three areas and I feel confident that I can fairly represent the population of SJRC's campus.

POSTERS AND BALLOONS featured last week's student elections. However, despite the party atmosphere, doubts and questions arose about the election procedures. One new club this semester, SAG, was rapped on the knuckles for beginning promotions early, a rule which SAG felt to be unfair.

Questions over successful election

by Teresa Mariani

Though marked by the highest voter turnout in the last 10 years, last week's ASB elections were also marred by balloting procedures that many students found to be unethical and bordering upon illegal.

Though the loudest complaints came from the losing candidates, most of whom were members of SAG, many students questioned the heavy lobbying of voters that took place in the polling area.

SAG members were also concerned by the fact that some 40 ballots were temporarily left out of the computer count — ballots which turned out to make the winning majority for SAG candidate Lorree Van Bember in the race for corresponding secretary.

Asked why the ballots were left out of the computer count until after all other ballots had gone through the computer which tabulated the votes, student activities assistant Bob Flores and elections commissioner John Dericksen explained that the ballots had accidentally been left in Flores' closet, where both blank and used ballots are stored "under lock and key" during the nights between voting and tabulating the election results.

When the computer showed that the number of ballots tabulated was 40 short of the number of students recorded as having voted, "The only thing I could think of was that somehow the 40 ballots were still in the cabinets locked up,"

Flores explained. The missing ballots were fed into the computer and tabulated, he stressed.

Though the storage of used and unused ballots seemed to have instigated the complaints, Flores said the ASB has no plans to change the ballot storage system.

SAG candidates charge that volunteers working the polls were telling voters who to vote for as they handed out ballots. Flores admitted that one poll worker advised a voter to vote for non-SAG candidates, but said it was an isolated incident.

"We had an individual working at the poll, and someone came up and asked that person, 'hey, who should I vote for?' So the guy told him who he'd voted for."

Flores said poll workers are never supposed to give any such voting suggestions, and that he was not aware of the incident at the time it occurred. "Mari Maguire was there and she went and told him, 'Hey, you can't do that; you can't tell people how to vote.' So that got nipped in the bud right there," Flores stressed.

However, SAG candidates Ken Meyer, Mary Lynch, and Robert Mattingly said such voter counseling was consistently occurring during both Wednesday and Thursday's polling periods.

"It wasn't isolated. It happened more than once. We watched them. We didn't think we could do anything about it," said Lynch.

"It happened more than once," said Meyer. "I saw it, Mari Maguire saw it, Bob Flores saw it. If he even admits it happened once, that's a reason for us to complain."

Flores refused to give the name of the interloping volunteer. "I can't disclose that. It might be unfair to him [the poll worker] unless the full story was brought out."

The lobbying of voters by various candidates and interested parties became so intense that Flores and assistant dean of student services Eugene Canevari had to use electrical tape to mark the 15 foot boundary area around the polls which election regulations stipulate must remain campaign and lobby free while voters are casting ballots.

"People were standing too close to the polls initially. We told them about the election code," said Flores. "Then there were some discrepancies about how far was 15 feet. So we said okay; let's play romper room," and marked off the boundary in tape. Flores then told the candidates they could not pass that line and lobby.

Though lobbyists stayed out of the 15 foot boundary after the tape was put up, many lobbyists told students how to vote after they had left the campaign-free zone with ballots in hand. There is no law

in any SRJC code stating that voters must remain in the polling area while they are voting; nor is there any law preventing lobbyists outside the area from telling people how they should vote.

SRJC's student activities deans said there is no way they can stop students from listening to anyone interested in lobbying for particular candidates and that such restraint might be a violation of the constitutional right to freedom of speech.

Though not illegal, many students thought such practices were clearly unethical. "That doesn't happen in the real world," complained Mattingly, who lost the race for treasurer to Cameron Patger, 231-451. "One political science instructor at SRJC advised us to contest the election on the grounds that it was conducted unfairly," Mattingly added.

After the meeting Monday night, SAG's losing candidates decided not to contest the election results. "At this point it would sound like a pack of losers crying, 'Unfair!' The important thing is to bring a few changes to the voting process," Meyer explained Tuesday.

If the election remains uncontested, the officers elected by the 798 voters will take office June 13. In the race for president, Lori Fisk beat SAG candidate Ken Meyer by a slim 58 votes: 394-336. Carmelle Fitzpatrick earned 409 votes to Greg Kuypers 308 to win the Executive Vice-Presidential race. SAG candidate Jennifer McGrew won the vice president's office with 383 votes, beating the 213 and 112 votes earned by Pam Bull and Alycia Falk, respectively. Mannie Chiu earned 386 votes to ease out Mary Lynch's 317 in another close race, this time for Recording Secretary. Van Bebbler won the Corresponding Secretary office by 335 votes, while Mary Fraser trailed her with 318 votes.

Surfers plan a big bash

by Julia Park

"Hey, if people go, it's gonna be a great time for all, a lot of good music, good dancing. It's a major end of the year bash!" says Tim Ossun, president of SRJC's surf club, more commonly known as the Wave Length Club. Ossun is referring to the "bash" the club is sponsoring May 28 featuring three popular area bands.

The Marin County band 415, which has played at Day on the Green and opened for the band Journey, will be the main attraction, according to Ossun. Hailing from Santa Rosa are Pavlov's Dogs, "a new wave, statement-oriented dance band with songs like 'Bob, the Wicked Stepdad,' 'Pizzaface,' and the immortal 'Evasive Hop,'" says Ossun.

The Tearaways, who will open the show, also originate from the Redwood Empire; the band plays pop rock and in the words of Ossun, "they're a rock-steady power trio!

"It [the bash] was Ian Purvis' idea. He's doing a lot of major work," says Ossun. Purvis is an SRJC student who is a friend of Ossun.

"At first it was gonna be just a little surf club party. Then we got more bands together and rented a big hall. It's our personal assault on boredom," says Ossun with a radical grin.

"The theme should be like, 'School's out, but finals aren't over yet, so let's get drunk and not worry about it!!!' BYOB!" he adds, laughing.

"The party is promoted by a couple of inexperienced JC students and we need everyone's support to make this a successful venture. If we pull it off, we may do it again," he says positively.

"We'd like to sell as many tickets as we can" before the show, says Ossun. "We're just hoping to break even. That's all. That's our goal."

The party will take place at the Sonoma Veteran's Memorial Building in Sonoma. Tickets are $5 in advance and $6 the day of the show. The doors will open at 8 p.m. Tickets are available at Starroy Music in Santa Rosa, Ruggle's Music in Sonoma, and at the table the Wave Length Club plans to have on the Coop every Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday until the show.

This will be a private party and only those with tickets will be allowed, but anyone may buy tickets. For information, call Ossun in Petaluma, 762-1764, or Purvis in Santa Rosa, 542-3108.

No complications mark student budget

by Maureen Layne

The ASB [Associated Student Body] plans to spend nearly $100,000 on various SRJC programs in the 1982-83 school year. Student government began preparing next year's budget in late March and received final approval at the May 17 CSA [College Student Assembly] meeting.

ASB raises most of its money through student body card sales. It disperses the income to programs such as SRJC athletics, forensics [speech team], theatre arts, spirit team, ethnic programs and Poppy Creek Day Care Center.

Deciding how to allot the money can become very controversial if the requested amounts total much more than the total projected income. However, ASB President Mari Maguire said that planning the budget this year ran smoothly.

"There wasn't a lot of cutting going on. This year it was really mellow," she said. "The hot topics tend to be Poppy Creek [Day Care Center] and forensics."

The five person budget committee, chaired by ASB Treasurer Andrew Bisonette, decided to allocate forensics and Poppy Creek their full requests of $5,832 and $6,900, respectively.

Maguire explained the committee's reasons for allotting so much money for these groups. Of forensics she said, "It's an incredible experience [being on the speech team]. If they didn't get any money from the ASB then they wouldn't exist. The speech team uses its money to pay for the expenses of traveling to tournaments.

"At Poppy Creek," Maguire noted, "they provide an invaluable program. The money helps get them started each year."

The largest allocation of $13,294 goes to the athletic program. "As a whole, athletics uses a lot of money. But then again, they bring in money," Maguire said. The committee estimates that ticket sales for football and basketball games next year should generate $6,400.

One group that received more than twice as much money in this year's budget than last year's is the spirit team [cheerleaders]. Maguire explained that the $2,500 is because there are 10 cheerleaders next year instead of five.

She said that Bob Flores, student activities assistant, is advising the group and is in the process of building a new program. They will use the allocation to pay for cheerleading camp and uniforms. "Actually, a lot of it is because we have so much faith that Bob [Flores] is going to do a really good job. They're going to be the best group of cheerleaders we've had," said Maguire.

None of the clubs received major cuts from the budget committee. "This year there was only about $1,000 difference [between the estimated income and the request total]. There has been like a $6,000 or $7,000 difference before," said Gene Canevari, assistant dean of student services.

Canevari, who served as a non-voting member on the budget committee explained his philosophy for planning the ASB budget. "You budget income conservatively and expenses excessively. This time the income isn't conservative. It's a little optimistic," he said referring to the budget committee's anticipation of $80,000 from student body card sales.

He said that once budgeted, the ASB tends "to be stingy in the fall and generous in the spring." He explained this is because they still don't know the exact income total until after spring student body card sales.

But in the spring, the ASB usually has left over money and "when things come along, then CSA can be a little more generous." He gave Poppy Creek as an example. They are requesting money to build a fence. Canevari believes that CSA will give the day care center the amount requested.

If something "pops us" in the middle of the year that the budget committee didn't plan for, there is $1,500 set aside in student services, according to Canevari.

Maguire said that everyone seems pleased with this year's budget. "Only one person came to the hearings [set up to receive any complaints about the preliminary budget] and that was only to ask a question," said Canevari.

Fall holds no surprises

by Tammie Edwards

"I'm not looking for any massive growth," in enrollment for next semester, said Jack Rooney, registrar. He went on to say that if there is any growth, it will be in proportion to the county's growth. He's fairly confident that there won't be a large enrollment crush.

But, Rooney said, possible cuts in state funding may counteract any rise in enrollment.

"When you really don't know if you're going to be funded totally for growth, you might be reluctant to open up programs that would encourage increased enrollment," he explained.

"We don't know how much we're going to be funded for ADA [Average Daily Attendance]. It makes us cautious and not wanting to go full boar to open up programs where funding would be limited or not there at all," Rooney said.

SRJC now receives $1700 per student per year in state ADA money. "We're down to rock bottom for receiving state money for ADA," he said. But that figure may drop even lower if the state decides to cut out funding.

"We can't come up with a budget for next year because we have no idea what kind of funding we're getting.

"We're not worried because we have the most efficient school of them all. We're a flexible school. We're not rigid," Rooney said.

But "it makes us all dance on eggs," he admitted.

editorial

crumbling and filling the potholes

The impending state raid on SRJC's reserves may not be the best reason to do something about the campus eyesore, otherwise known as the Analy Lot temporaries. But it may be what we need to finally goad the Board of Trustees into action on the matter.

Something has to be done about the Analy temporaries, or they will soon begin to crumble and fill the potholes that abound in the Geary Square Area. In January of this year, while parceling out funds for campus construction, Board members banded about the ideas of remodeling the temporaries for around $700,000 or permanently scrapping them and constructing a new building at a cost of about $3 1/2 million.

What happened? True to form, the trustees tabled the Analy issue, allotting funds to remodel and renovate almost every other needy area of the campus, while leaving the Analy temps to decay in a fashion similar to the bridal banquet of Miss Havisham in Dickens' "Great Expectations." It seems that the $3 1/2 million the Board estimated the new building would cost was too much to part with, while the idea of turning the temporaries into permanents was not palatable either — not even at $700,000.

The strongest argument the trustees had in defense of their inaction over the Analy temps was that, though a new building might be the best solution, they could not deplete SRJC's reserves for the needed millions while financing other needed campus construction projects.

Now, with the state threatening to siphon off anything that's not nailed down in SRJC's bank vaults, that excuse holds as much water as the bargain-brand paper towels Mrs. Scott used to complain about on old TV commercials.

The Analy lot area is a blight on our otherwise extremely beautiful campus. The tutorial center, Enabling Services office, EOPS department, and classrooms in the Analy lot deserve better housing than plywood boxes with draying ceilings, poor ventilation, faulty heating/cooling systems, and surroundings that are downright ugly.

Though shifting classes now held in the temporaries to another area during construction would be an inconvenience, we join the many voices on campus in saying that a new hall along the lines of Lark or Emeritus would be worth even the most extreme inconvenience during the construction time.

We urge the Board to allot the funds for the construction of a new building in the Analy lot area, before it is too late.

Editor:

I am the daughter of a Holocaust survivor. Seeing your article on the Jewish side of the Middle East situation was a hopeful sign.

If there had been a Jewish homeland previous to WWII, my father's two sisters, three brothers, two nieces, a nephew, mother and father would not have been slaughtered. My father would not have been a Nazi slave, had he had a country to go to.

It should be noted that there were no Palestinian people, as such, previous to Israel achieving nationhood. The "Palestinians" were created as an excuse to repossess the land of Israel. If the Arab world were truly concerned with a "Palestinian" homeland, two-thirds of Saudi Arabia is unpopulated and available.

The terrorism of the PLO is known and condemned throughout the world. I would hope SRJC students would do as much.

RECOMMENDED INSTRUCTIONS FOR WRITING A LETTER TO AN ELECTED OFFICIAL:

ADDRESS TO: example
ASSEMBLYMAN JOHN VASCONCELLOS
ADDRESS

DEAR ASSEMBLYMAN VASCONCELLOS,

YOUR FIRST PARAGRAPH SHOULD, BRIEFLY, EXPLAIN WHY YOU ARE IN COLLEGE AND WHAT IT MEANS TO YOU TO HAVE A COLLEGE EDUCATION.

THE SECOND PARAGRAPH SHOULD UTILIZE ONE OF THE REASONS LISTED BELOW FOR THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA NOT TAKING AWAY THE RESERVE MONIES ACCUMULATED BY SRJC.. PICK ONE OF THE REASONS LISTED BELOW TO MAKE UP YOUR SECOND PARAGRAPH.

1. SRJC HAS ALWAYS HAD ONE OF THE LOWEST TAX RATES IN THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA.
2. SRJC HAS MAINTAINED A VERY LOW OPERATIONAL COST FOR RUNNING THE COLLEGE AND HAS MAINTAINED HIGH STUDENT CONTACT HOURS.
3. BEING ONE OF THE OLDEST COMMUNITY COLLEGES IN CALIFORNIA, SRJC MUST CONSTANTLY MAINTAIN AND REPAIR ITS BUILDINGS IN ORDER TO MAINTAIN SAFETY AND PROPER CLASSROOM AVAILABILITY.
4. OUR DISTRICT HAS EXPERIENCED ENORMOUS GROWTH AND IT HAS BEEN THROUGH THE RESERVE MONIES THAT WE HAVE BEEN ABLE TO KEEP OUR DOORS OPEN TO ALL STUDENTS.
5. SRJC DISTRICT RESERVES ARE A KEY FACTOR IN THE MANAGEMENT OF THE DISTRICT BY THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES AND THE ADMINISTRATION, WITH FULL COOPERATION OF THE STAFF.
6. SRJC NEEDS PRESENT RESERVE FUNDS AND TIME (ESTIMATED 4 YEARS) TO COMPLETE THE BOARD APPROVED CAMPUS IMPROVEMENTS, WITH MINIMAL DISRUPTION OF THE INSTRUCTIONAL PROGRAM.

YOU HAVE MADE A DIFFERENCE

After three hours of research -- I found that there wasn't anyone in recorded history that had said anything to fit this occasion. I could not find the great and eloquent words -- so, I will need to make do with my own simple words.

I wanted to say something special to you. I want you to pause for a moment so that you can "own" this time and this place. There will never be another quite like it. And, I promise you that this time and this place will remain forever quite special to you.

I need to be careful -- because I am prone to become very sloppy at times like this. (Spencer's Mountain - Boot-Sock Story)

As each of you have grown quite special to me I am loath to bring this time to a close.

I want you to know that you have made a difference! Your service has enhanced the luster of the college itself and you have made significant contributions to the quality of life for our studentbody.

You have made a difference for me. I was not sure that I would be here today. Nor that I would be able to look forward to working with some of you this next year. This year has been difficult for me. The Administrative Reorganization has continued with its own form of craziness. And, at one time, I made the somewhat over-dramatic statement to Mari that she might find herself presiding over the end of the Golden Age of the Associated Students. That time has passed and the world looks brighter.

Recently - (Lamont Royer story) it wasn't until I went out and talked with some students then I remembered again what I was doing here -- serving students. For me, each of you have made a difference. You have made a difference for the college for the studentbody, and for me -- and I give you my heart-felt thanks.

Mari came to this second semester with her own doubts. She is one of three student body presidents (out of 32) that were elected to a second semester term. The first in 1966, lost his presidency on Grade Point Average. The second, after getting married, resigned part way into the second semester. Most presidents have been burned out after one semester and ready to leave office.

Mari has not only survived a second semester, she has prevailed over it. She has elevated the stature and prestige of Student Government to new and previously un-attained heights. She has demonstrated her courage and stamina and her abiding concern for the welfare of the students on this campus. She has demonstrated her love for those about her.

She has made a difference. Her accomplishments and yours are many, I congratulate you and I congratulate Mari!

She has fought the good fight
She has finished the course
She has kept the faith
She has made a difference

Would you join me now in a standing round of applause. For Mari Maguire - President, Santa Rosa Junior College Associated Students.

said candidate has 10% more votes than the next candidate. In the event that no candidate wins a majority of the votes cast and the leading candidate does not win 10% more of the votes cast for the next closest candidate, a runoff election will be declared between the two candidates with the highest number of the votes received.

M/S/C

- C. Financial Code - The motion was made to add the following to Section I, Paragraph 3, Article VI on Expenditures.

The following was added:

While over expenditures are not encouraged, it is possible that on occasion over expenditures will occur. It is necessary when events necessitate that the best judgement of the advisors and the treasurer (or those officers designated to act for the treasurer) will be relied upon. During the regular semester, budget changes will be presented to CSA that would alter the budget to reflect and the correct over-expenditures. At the close of the budget year the advisor and the treasurer will be empowered to make those expenditures necessary to meet the obligations of the Associated Students even though those expenditures may, on occasion result in overexpenditures in certain budget categories.

After the close of each fiscal year the accounts manager will determine the amount of Associated Students' funds remaining. The Executive Cabinet will determine how these funds are to be utilized by creating designated surplus accounts. Any funds in designated surplus accounts not expended by the close of the fiscal year will be transferred to the frozen reserve for the Associated Students. M/S/C

State: Keep hands off SRJC funds

Santa Rosa Junior College is being threatened by a reduction in state funds which would amount to nothing less than official punishment for prudent management.

Again this year, the target for some legislative budget writers is a $9 million reserve fund college trustees have managed to set aside for campus improvements.

The money from Santa Rosa and a handful of other community colleges which succeeded in accumulating small savings is a lure to lawmakers struggling to close a $3.3 billion budget deficit for 1982-83.

To claim the reserves, the state would simply reduce the college's annual allocation by an equal amount.

At Santa Rosa Junior College, this reserve is something of a tradition, a local commitment to squeeze and trim so dollars from operating funds can be set aside for campus projects. Usually, these are projects for which no state funds are available.

Since 1974, $8.9 million has been expended on such worthwhile additions as a $2.6 million field house, a $1.2 million remodeling of Burbank Auditorium, a $1.2 million expansion of Doyle Student Center, and a $633,000 renovation of Analy Hall.

More investments are planned, including $1.2 million for expansion of instructional facilities in math-electronics and in business management. Both are crucial to meeting the changing job needs of today's students.

These budget savings have made it possible to modernize older buildings on SRJC's picturesque campus, keep pace with an explosive growth in enrollment over the past decade (from 12,244 to 22,642), and maintain quality education across the spectrum of vocational and academic instruction.

It is important to note that the college board of trustees managed to set aside these monies, though the college faces financial disadvantages in comparison with other districts.

Santa Rosa is among the lowest 15 districts in the state in revenue per student.

Part of the savings came in the cost of management which was the lowest in the state in two of the past four years, second in one year, and third in the other.

Whether this record of success will impress legislative budget writers is not certain, but trustees and college president Roy G. Mikalson are worried.

"We're not asking for more money," Mikalson told us. "We're just asking to keep the money we have."

For more than 60 years, Santa Rosa Junior College has served as a unique educational and cultural asset for the Redwood Empire.

We urge its many friends to lend their support in letters to their state legislators.

Three Sonoma County lawmakers, in particular, may be in unique positions to help: Sen. James Nielsen, R-Woodland, a member of the Senate Education Committee and the Senate Finance Committee; Sen. Barry Keene, D-Elk, a member of the Senate Rules Committee and of the Senate Democratic leadership; and Assemblyman Douglas Bosco, D-Occidental, a member of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee, and the Democratic Caucus Chairman.

We urge them to lend their voices forcefully so Santa Rosa Junior College can continue to manage its resources wisely and continue to improve.

PROPOSAL

TO: Associated Student Body

FROM: Johnny Hassenzahl, Supportive Physical Ed. Instructor

DATE: May 27, 1982

RE: PROPOSAL FOR SUPPLIMENTAL FUNDS

The Supportive Physical Education Program is requesting from the Associated Student Body, funds to help suppliment the field trip budget in order to send two (2) wheelchair athletes and one (1) coach to the National Wheelchair Games in Marshal, Minnesota on June 23-27.

Below is a breakdown of the National Wheelchair Games budget:

- Cindy Schweitzer (athlete) - $300 airfare (San Fran. to Suefalls, Minn.)
PMA - #3
- $150 airfare (Suefalls to Marshal, Minn.)
- Georgina Biter (athlete) - $300 airfare (San Fran. to Suefalls, Minn.)
QUAT - 1A
- $150 airfare (Suefalls to Marshal, Minn.)
- Windi Braden (coach) - $300 airfare (San Fran. to Suefalls, Minn.)
- $150 airfare (Suefalls to Marshal, Minn.)

WHEELCHAIR GAMES - FIELD TRIP -

The request is for only $500.00. This amount added to the existing funds will assure that our athletes are able to participate in the National Wheelchair Games. Enclosed are copies of game results from previous competitions.

Sub: Operation & Revenue -- Concession Stand/Haehl Pavilion

In an effort to clarify the questions concerning the operation of the Concession Stand in the Haehl Pavilion, please accept this letter as our Letter of Intent.

The Associated Students expect to receive the revenue generated by the concession stand in the Haehl Pavilion. Unless a bid or proposal procedure is necessary, the concession stand in the Haehl Pavilion will be covered under a contract to Wolcott's Concessions. As you know, under this contractual arrangement the Associated Students receive 20% of the gross sales and if a club works the concession stand, the club receives an additional 20% of the gross sales.

The Associated Students continue to invest over $13,000 annually in the Inter-Collegiate Athletic Programs of the college and the 1982-83 budget of the Associated Students was predicated on the expected increase in concession revenues from the concession stand in the Haehl Pavilion.

Women at the top : Mari Maguire

Fricker

In 18 years since someone served as Associated Student Body president for two consecutive terms . . . until Mariangela Maguire. This vintage Maguire that she had in mind from the beginning most people come into this job at there is so much to be done in a semester they burn out, so I have to pace myself," she says, being the level-headed self-starter that is such a visible component of the Maguire style.

Why she sought the presidency, she says, is a concept that is vital to her, drawing on past experiences to learn about leadership. "As soon as I saw Eric [Assistant ASB president] in action, I wanted to be president. I wanted to see if I could handle the job, to see if I could acquire the authority whereby I would respect me and have respect in my judgement.

Can you think you are intelligent and confident until you are actually in the position? You can't know for sure. For example, take the Board of Trustees, who have the authority in the world. Could you have enough authority that they would respect you? And that my peers would respect me?"

Maguire discusses the people and experiences that have been important to her. She continually returns to this question of what they have taught her about herself and about life.

She discussed her mother: who taught her not to waste a life experience," her best friend, who has taught her about important eternal values, who kept her close through hard times and nurtured her children's self-struggles of her mother created in her a compulsion never to be dependent upon one person but to have a career and to be self-sufficient . . . years in one tiny school district here Maguire, the youngest of the group, watched old acquaintances and their varied lifestyles, gave Maguire an opportunity to learn that she wanted to be independent and nonjudgemental toward she moved to Sonoma two weeks out of school introduced her to a world far less insular and more open . . .

© Joe Turner 1982

IN A COVETED POSITION, ASB PRESIDENT Mari Maguire sits behind her desk.

The miserable first month at SRJC, when she knew no one and couldn't seem to find a niche, which prompted her to join the debate team . . .

The debate team, which has been "the best intellectual experience I've ever had," taught her that she liked competition, and led her to winning the state championship in advocacy debate last year . . .

And the two and a half years of student government experience at SRJC have given her an opportunity to associate with "the most incredible, impressive people" and to learn about herself through them.

Maguire today is an intensely competitive, capable, independent woman who nevertheless recognizes her need for a few close relationships — mentors, friends, family — who have contributed to her growth through the years. These are the people she leans on, the people she says she could never do without.

Yet with these associations comes the difficulty of balancing dependence and independence, a problem she finds magnified in male/female relationships.

"It's not real clear in my head how you balance that," she admits ruefully.

And one of her biggest weaknesses, she feels, is the fact that she is a poor loser.

"I hate to lose," she says, grinning. "So I sometimes find myself avoiding competition that I think I may not win, and that really limits me."

Maguire will have to deal regularly with winning and losing if she continues with her current plan to be an attorney. "Other careers are possible, but this one has stayed with me the most consistently through the years. I have tremendous respect for the law.

"But I know I don't want to do tax law or sit in an office eight hours a day. I like contact with people. I learn so much about myself from them. Other people fascinate me."

This fall Maguire will enter San Francisco State to work toward a major in speech communications and to compete on their debate team.

She specifically selected San Francisco State for its fine speech communications program and, typically, for the highly competitive nature of its debate team.

Asked if she has any regrets about her three years at SRJC, she nods. "If I've made one mistake here, it is that I've never given the attention to my schoolwork that it deserves, and I know that has been stupid of me."

But then she mentions that the SF State forensics coach has introduced her to their top debater, who just happens to be the student government president of the college. And he has already begun recruiting her for some student government committees . . .

Student paychecks might take a hike

by Luisa Fonseca

During her last term in office, ASB President Mari Maguire hopes to accomplish something both "practical and tangible" for the student body at SRJC. Her goal is to raise student wages on campus.

Board of Trustees member Chris Pedroncelli and Dean of Business Services Bill Wilber listened to the ASB wages proposal with satisfaction and acceptance last Thursday. Now Maguire says an ASB student wages committee will take the proposal to Bailey Hall sometime this week in the hopes of getting an administrative recommendation before facing ratification from the SRJC Board of Trustees at its monthly meeting, June 14.

It is not necessary for the student wage proposal to receive a sign of approval from SRJC President Roy Mikalson this week. But Maguire said, "It will show concurrence with the proposal. Basically, we're asking for the reduction of the number of hours of work before a student can get a raise."

The wages proposal will change five present conditions of student employment if passed. First, it will raise student wages. Maguire declined to mention the amount of the raise, saying only that it would be "substantial."

Secondly, the proposal reduces the number of hours a student must work before being eligible for a raise. Now a student employee must put in 500 hours before getting a five-cent per hour wage increase.

Thirdly, the ASB proposal provides for a mandatory evaluation of all student workers, not just Work Experience members. This evaluation would take place on a quarterly basis to "coincide with the accounting office," Maguire said.

Fourthly, students on campus will receive priority over non-students for jobs that are not certified (faculty) or classified (clerical, janitor, etc.). This section applies to temporary work.

Fifthly, the proposal if passed will be subject to optional review in June 1983. "I don't know if we'll need the review to tell the truth," Maguire said. "We want it to be a student and student government review, or an update of the [student wages] agreement with the district. It will always be up to the students to ask for the review.

"I think that's as it should be. Students have to take the initiative to change student wages," Maguire said.

Maguire is hopeful that the proposal will get the presidential recommendation and later ratification from the Board. "I think we have a chance to request reasonable, better wages for students. This [wages increase proposal] will give the district the opportunity to hire better workers, who will probably stay longer, and it will eliminate those who can't cut it through the evaluation," she said.

Maguire claims the proposal requests are very reasonable. "We're not asking for $20 an hour. We understand the financial system [of the campus], but we also understand that students are an integral part of the campus. They help make it run, and they should be compensated accordingly. I don't think anyone will object to that," she said.

Student wages now range from $3.35 to $3.75 an hour. "$3.75 is the most a student can make on this campus, and that's with technical expertise or in a supervisory position. And let's face it, there's not too many of those around," Maguire said. The last time the college raised student wages was in the summer of 1979 when minimum wage increased throughout the nation.

Maguire said that the ASB committee conducted a lot of research to complete the proposal. Work for the present proposal began last year. Former ASB treasurer Hal Van Geison "did all the ground work" of a state wide community college student wage survey, Maguire acknowledged.

"Bill Wilber has also worked with us all the way," explained Maguire. Pedroncelli has been involved only during the last two months when the Board appointed her to examine and work with the proposal.

The survey included 70 other community college districts. Fifty-six responded. Maguire was pleased with the response. The findings of this survey included campuses that paid higher, lower and equal student wages compared to SRJC. "Very few were below minimum wage," Maguire said. The ASB president then said that student enrollment was evaluated to determine an appropriate wage increase.

Student Trustee Katy Bright, who Maguire also praised for doing a great deal of work, then wrote the proposal once the findings were complete.

"This proposal is the most important thing done in my administration," said Maguire. "It's the most practical and tangible work done in my time. It's the one they'll be the most cogniant of."

Outsiders tell views

by Robin Pendergraft

According to a staff member at the registrar office, approximately five percent of the students at SRJC are from out of state. Out of state students seem to have the same problems as local students: transportation, jobs, housing, and nothing for 18 to 21-year-olds to do. These problems seem to multiply though for those students who don't know the area or don't know anyone in it.

Although Santa Rosa is a friendly city it is also a city of cliques — to find a job or house is not a matter of what a person knows but rather who he knows. To enter a sphere of friends a person must be somewhat aggressive, as Norma Santiago from Hawaii pointed out. "When I came to Santa Rosa, I wanted to be a haoli [white] because no one would smile at me. After I was on the swim team people started recognizing me and then I got the smiles."

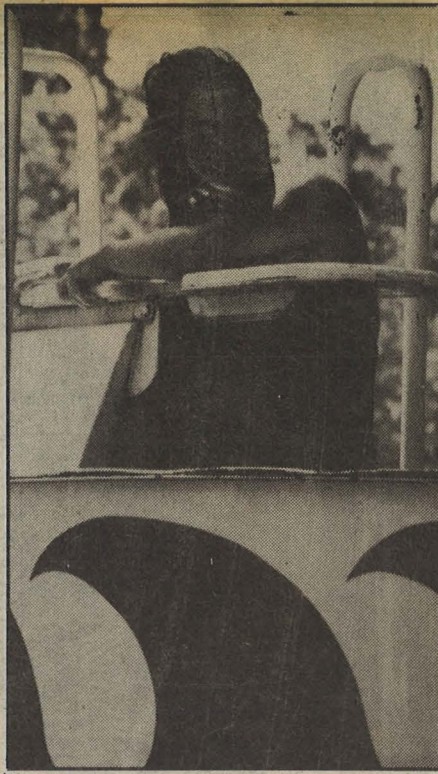

Student Mark Munford from Canada added, "Although I like the people here more than in Canada, Santa Rosans seem to be very cliquish. There are some people here that tend to play high school games."

These out of staters found Santa Rosans to be more open minded and they tended to speak their minds more often than their counterparts at home. Arkansas emigrant Allen Goad felt that Californians were more accepting of people for what they were, not for what they appeared to be. He explained, "In Arkansas, when you see California [license] plates you automatically think that they are either rich, gay, or pot smugglers. When I came to California, people would ask me about Arkansas without any pre-conceived ideas."

Even though California is a good place to meet people, those out of state students who moved here without any family found loneliness. Many students confessed they really did not have anyone to talk to about their personal problems. They felt their loneliness actually brought them closer to their families.

Most out of staters thought Santa Rosa was a hard town to get around. A car was a prerequisite for the development of a social life. "You can't be in a hurry if you are going to take the bus."

Santiago had never driven in a car for more than a couple of hours until she left Hawaii. When she joined the swim team, she had to travel to L.A. for a swim meet. She mused, "After 10 hours in a car and driving down I-5 [noted for not having much scenery] I was real happy to get out of the car."

LAZING ABOUT IN THE SUN is ASB President Mari Maguire. Maguire, who's from Ohio, used to be an out-of-state student. Some out-of-staters say paying higher tuition and feeling left out of the social scene often accompanies the move to the area.

Everyone agreed that Sonoma County was a beautiful place, scenery wise. As Munford put it, "This is an incredibly beautiful area."

"What amazed me," said Santiago, "was the fall. To see all the leaves turning colors and to see bare trees is something you'll never see in Hawaii. The flowers bloom all year long."

Student Pam Bull from Seattle, Washington, likes California because it doesn't rain much here and especially Santa Rosa because "it's close to the ocean."

But what were the reasons these students came to Santa Rosa? They ranged from a good community college football reputation, to the fact that no swim program was offered at a hometown community college, to SRJC's academically well known name.

Mariangela Maguire said, "When I saw the ivy on those old buildings it reminded me of Ohio State University. I knew it was going to be home."

By and large those of us who have lived in Santa Rosa for awhile should remember the words of Luther Burbank, "I firmly believe from what I have seen that this [Redwood Empire] is the chosen spot of all the earth as far as nature is concerned."

ASB has $35G surplus

by Lindsay Webb

SRJC's administration isn't the only bird that's tucked away a reserve nest egg. The Associated Student Body has accumulated a reserve of "about $35,000," according to ASB President Mari Maguire.

The ASB gets its revenue from Student Body Card sales. The reserve has grown "over the years," Maguire explained, because "budget expenditures have been much less than budget revenues."

At the end of each semester, the current CSA draws up the following year's budget. If, at the end of that year, there are surplus funds, those monies are then allocated for specific uses the following semester. If again at the end of the following semester any portion of the funds remain unused, then they are deposited into the ASB reserve account at Exchange Bank.

Some $20,000 of the $35,000 reserves is held in a time certificate, which draws "around 14 percent interest annually," Maguire said. The certificate is renewed semi-annually by the new CSA members. The remaining $15,000 is in a regular savings account.

"It's a funny amount of money," Maguire said. "Not enough for a major project, but it is a significant amount of money. We've never had a need that required that gap."

Anyone can make a proposal to the College Student Assembly to use its funds for a project. If the CSA approved the proposal for using the reserves, it would then be taken to the Board of Trustees for final approval. However, in the past, the regular CSA budget has been able to cover most requests without dipping into the reserve.

Canevari said he advises the CSA to only use the reserve funds for "capital improvement sorts of things, where generations of students would get use out of it."

Also, Canevari said, if the ASB were unable to meet its budget one year, he would consider using the funds to do so.

No proposals have been submitted to the Board to use the funds since the copy machine purchase.

However, "I would hope," she continued, "that if a CSA spent the reserves they would never, never spend the entire amount. It's an emergency fund," she explained, "if a need came up, or if we go sour on card sales one semester and can't meet our budget."

Maguire said that so far the reserves haven't been used much because the CSA can usually meet any special requests with its regular budget.

"We've had a lot of requests this year," she said. "It's been a really active year and people know we're healthy and we've been real receptive to requests."

The ASB has not used the designated surplus for this semester. "About $1,000" will be going into reserve this summer, Maguire said.

Yes, skiing is a school sport — sort of

by Lisa Fertitta

"Either they [students] don't believe you or they've never heard of it. It's like 'I didn't even know we had a water ski team,'" said SRJC water ski captain Mike Puccioni.

Yes, SRJC does have a water ski team and a very good one at that. This virtually unknown six member team is two years old and the men's team [there is no women's team at this time] has "consistently placed third overall" in its conference, the western conference.

This conference includes teams from the states of Washington, Oregon, California, and Nevada. "We compete against two and four year colleges [such as USC, UCLA, Napa Junior College, UOP, and University of Reno, Nevada]," said Puccioni.

Collegiate water skiing is a sport, but this college does not financially fund it. "They [the college] don't consider the water skiing team a sport because we don't have a coach or advisor. We're really not affiliated in any way with the school but yet we are," he explained.

Because SRJC's water ski team does not receive funding from the college, water skiing can be a very expensive sport.

"When we go to a tournament [of which there are eight to 10 yearly], say in San Diego or Long Beach, we [the team] have to drive down there out of our pockets, stay out of our pockets, eat out of our pockets. So it's very expensive."

How expensive?

"I don't know. I would hate to sit down and figure it out," he smiled. "It would probably be very depressing to find out how much money I actually spend."

Puccioni said the sport of water skiing was "so much different from any other sport because of the expense. And also, 'you know, you gotta have at least two other people if you want to go out and ski — someone to drive the boat, someone to observe. So it's not like you can just go out, decide 'it's a nice day; I'm going to go out and ski.' You gotta get some people together," said Puccioni.

©Denton Loomis, 1982

SRJC WATERSKIERS MIKE PUCCIONI finished 19th of 25 in trick skiing and 23rd of 25 in the slalom at the National All-Star Tournament in New Orleans, La. The Western Conference, to which SRJC belongs, won both the men's, women's, and combined events at the tournament. Puccioni is shown holding his trick ski.

And even the nearest place for the team to practice is an hour or two away. But some of the other schools in their conference like "Northridge, San Diego, Long Beach, Sacramento — their schools own boats. You [can] take a P.E. class in water skiing. So they get to practice everyday," he said.

SRJC's ski team practices "maybe twice during the semester. It's not really practice. It's just enough to brush up maybe. You really don't get to practice enough." However, Puccioni said these brief brush up practice periods were adequate competition preparation for him.

"I get to practice so much during the summer," he said. He skis at Lake Pillsbury during the summer, three days a week, two hours a day. "See, I learn my run and really practice a lot during the summer, and then [when season starts] it's just a matter of going out and getting used to the water and skiing again, because it's almost second nature after skiing that much during the summer."

Puccioni said that it was "really rough" for the other team members to do well during the season, because "they don't get all the summer practice time" he does.

Puccioni's summer practicing must be sufficiently preparing him for his ski season competition. This year the conference awarded Puccioni a slot on the Western conference team which will travel to New Orleans to compete in the National All-Star Tournament. Puccioni received $250 from the Associated Student Body for tournament expenses.

In this tournament the six nation-wide conferences [Western, South-Central, Central, Florida, Eastern, and North-Eastern] will compete against each other. Each team consists of the top five men and women skiers in the conference in the three events of trick, slalom and jump.

"This [the tournament] is more of an individual meet. This way if you're a good skier but you're not on a good team you can still go and compete in a national tournament — that's why the All-Star Tournament was started [four years ago]," said Puccioni.

Puccioni will compete in the events of trick and slalom. He said he made the conference team because "I'm a consistent skier. I'm not really a good skier compared to some people in our conference."

"I like trick [skiing] the best." Puccioni does 14 tricks in 20 seconds. "Trick is really simple. You get 20 seconds to do as many tricks as you can. And when you fall, you fall, and get whatever [points for the] tricks you made before you fell. Each trick has a certain amount of points it's worth. It would be like diving."

"It's balance to be a good trick skier," but in general, Puccioni said, the sport of water skiing is more of an individual sport — like track — but you're still competing on a team like track. But it's still an individual sport," a sport, Puccioni said, that is slowly being accepted by the school.

"I'm sure within a few years we'll be a regular school sport like any other sport — track or football. It's on its way."

OFFICE OF STUDENT ACTIVITIES

Senator Barry Keene
30 N. San Pedro Rd.
San Rafael, CA

June 3, 1982

Dear Senator Keene;

I am the student trustee on the Sonoma County Junior College District Board of Trustees. I have served in this capacity for the 1981/82 year and have been reelected to serve in the 1982/83 year. I am writing to you in regard to the proposed plans for reviewing Community College Reserve funds.

I have been carefully monitoring the actions of the state legislature in determining sources of revenue for California and am appalled that, once again, education is a primary target for financial reductions and is also seen as a source of revenue by attaching the reserve monies that Community Colleges have set aside to meet their long range needs.

In the case of Santa Rosa Junior College, we have maintained a conservative and comparatively low operating expense program for the management of the college. We are funded by a low tax base from the county. SRJC is supported by solid community involvement that appreciates and uses the community campus frequently. The citizens of our county have recognized for decades that SRJC is the only source of education and training for its citizens, both young adult and re-entry, which provides across-the-board service that will be reinvested in our county.

Santa Rosa Junior College has served the county and the state very well. The reserve monies held by SRJC are used to maintain and upgrade buildings that are as much as 30 years old. It is only with those reserve funds that we are able to maintain health and safety considerations for our older buildings. Several of our newer buildings are financed through reserve funds as opposed to requesting money from the State of California. Often our facilities are enhanced over the state allotment by virtue of the reserves. Our campus provides great significance to our community not only in the form of classrooms but also as a reminder to the citizens that education is a primary and traditional aspect of Sonoma County and should be the concentration of the state.

Santa Rosa Junior College has grown in terms of student population dramatically over the past ten years. It is only with the reserve funds that we are able to keep our doors open and provide education to our burgeoning student population. This year we were not funded for full student enrollment growth and because we have reserve monies, we were able to take an additional 1000 students who wanted and needed to participate in the educational experience. For the next academic year we anticipate even more enrollment growth without full state funding.

I request that you carefully consider these points and also consider the future of education in the State of California. As costs increase at the CSUC level, we can expect greater demand on the Community Colleges by individuals who need an education to further their lives and their employment hopes. Santa Rosa Junior College has been and will continue to be available to serve the citizens of Sonoma County. It would be very helpful if the state legislature would share our commitment to the citizens and taxpayers of the state and counties.

I would appreciate your response to this letter.

Best wishes,

Katherine M. Bright

THE FEROCIOUSLY FREE student press underwent a traumatic experience last week. The Oak Leaf, Santa Rosa Junior College's excellent student newspaper (and I don't use that word lightly since it has been recipient of General Excellence awards from press organizations), reacted with predictable hysteria when the college's business manager, shredded 5,000 advertising inserts intended for distribution in the newspaper.

The incident, subject of both news story and editorial, was seen as part of an ominous plot. No, two ominous plots, actually. One scenario linked Santa Rosa tire dealer and former mayor John Downey with a move to keep Capitol Tire from distributing ads in The Oak Leaf. Another saw the move as the first step in the administration's seizure of power over the student newspaper with the impending departure of journalism instructor and adviser Cathy Mitchell, who has been a champion of the students' rights to run their own newspaper.

SRJC's Business Manager Bill Wilber, who is taking the incident far less seriously than the student journalists, denies both plots. The Downey incident, he says, did not come to his attention until after the shredding. He dismisses the censorship issue as nonexistent, although he does admit that he "questions the instructional value of insert advertising."

Wilber's shredding order came after a mix-up over a vague address. The bundle of inserts, delivered originally to the college warehouse, was addressed to Santa Rosa Junior College "Attention: Toby." Toby is Toby Mansell, Oak Leaf advertising manager, but warehouse employees did not know this and took the name to be a misprint for "Tony." They sent them on to purchasing agent Tony Escovedo. It was Escovedo who called them to the attention of shredder Wilber.

Oak Leaf adviser Mitchell, who has sent Wilber a bill for the $250 in lost revenue to the newspaper, suggests that a telephone call to Capitol Tire would have routed the inserts to the right place. Wilber says the inserts "sat around for 10 days or two weeks" and when no request for them came in, "I decided not to spend staff time finding out where they belonged. Frankly, I thought it was a bundle of junk mail. I had received a flyer from Capitol Tire in my mail at home the day before and I thought this was more of the same. So I said junk 'em."

Wilber, who told an Oak Leaf reporter there was "No way!" he would pay the Oak Leaf bill, or Capitol's printing costs of $200, softened his stance slightly when I spoke to him yesterday: "I'd sure hesitate," he said.

The "Downey Incident" referred to in the Oak Leaf was another matter involving Capitol Tire inserts, which have been included in the school newspaper since 1978. In 1980, according to advisor Mitchell, an SRJC instructor using The Oak Leaf in a classroom discussion distributed the newspapers to his students and carefully removed the inserts, stacking them in a pile on a table.

The classroom was used for a night class that evening attended by Barbara Downey, wife of the owner of Downey Tire. She took one of the inserts home to her husband. Unaware that they were originally newspaper ads, John Downey contacted Roy Mikalsen, the college president, reminding him that Downey Tire had been strong SRJC supporters and suggesting it was unfair for Capitol to have the right to distribute leaflets in classrooms. This news was imparted to the newspaper in the form of a memo from Mikalsen to Mitchell. The spectre of censorship, then, reared its head when the word of the shredding reached the young journalists.

Downey, contacted yesterday at his office, was unaware that his name was being bandied about on campus as one of the villains of the piece. While he was openly cheerful about the news of his competitors' shredded ads, he denied any part in the latest fiasco.

The students can be excused such jumpiness about loss of their freedom. Mitchell, who has won a Pulitzer Prize as co-owner of The Point Reyes Light during her tenure as adviser to the SRJC newspaper, is leaving to take a job as a journalism teacher at the University of North Carolina.

Cathy has been fierce in her defense of the students' right to make their own decisions. And their own mistakes. They are fearful her replacement, without tenure and honor, will not be as tough. They are serving notice on the administration that they intend to continue to run The Oak Leaf as an independent student newspaper.

And they say Bill Wilber's office owes them $250.

Women at the top

Lori Fisk

©Bill O'Connell, 1982

ASB PRESIDENT Lori Fisk pauses for just a moment in her hectic schedule to flash a smile for the camera. Fisk has been involved with student government since high school and plans to remain active. "I've never even considered a housewife," she laughs.

Hyde Park

Trying to keep up with Lori Fisk, President-elect for fall '82, is like trying to keep up with Wonder Woman. Not only is she faster than a speeding bullet and able to leap tall campaign obstacles with a single bound, but she's stronger than an SRJC administrator. Fisk keeps busy with a full load of units, her part-time job at the bookstore, and of course, her position as the '82 executive vice president. "My life is spent studying, working, and doing things in student government," she her average day for Fisk starts at 8 a.m. and goes helter-skelter until around 4 or 5 p.m., she says, "with not very many breaks. Usually when I get home I do some work and spend a little bit of time with my family."

Fisk wants to keep my grades up so I can transfer," she says. In a rare moment of free time, she is sitting on the lawn at SRJC in the shade, thoughtfully picking blades of grass. Fisk plans to transfer to UC Berkeley in fall 1983.

"I'd like to think I'll be accepted at least to the school, if not to economics. That's [the school's] most demanded major," Fisk explains hopefully. "I'm interested in money management and I figured 'econ' would be an appropriate major for it. I've changed my mind since I've been here. I started out with business administration, and then I just changed to 'econ,'" she laughs.

But for the present, Fisk is concentrating on her time-consuming activities in student government at SRJC. Just how much time she spends on her duties in student government is "really hard to calculate. It involves a lot of things like different committee meetings and a lot of time on my own. Maybe seven hours a week?" she guesses, plucking at the green blades of grass.

Fisk beat Ken Meyers of the SAG party in last month's race for the fall ASB presidency. She reflects on her decision to run, explaining, "it was something I wanted to do. When it was time to hand in the petitions, I couldn't think of anyone who could do a better job, just from the experiences I've had." Fisk was interested in student government in her high school days, holding the offices of representative, class treasurer, and student body president. Last semester at SRJC she was also committees commissioner and this spring served as executive vice president, a position traditionally a stepping stone for the ASB presidency.

"One thing I want to do is improve the publicity for CSA meetings, and get more people to know what's going on [in student government] and get more people interested. Because a lot of things that go on affect the people on this campus," says Fisk.

Another activity Fisk plans to participate in next year as president is public speaking. "I think next semester I'd like to start speaking at Hyde Park maybe once a week, once every two weeks, just so people know what's going on."

As to her goals for her term in office next fall, Fisk has only come up with a few as of yet. "Every year the student body has bought one piece of art [from a student artist] and they've just kept them in storage. So I'd like to set up a display where all the art through the history of SRJC could be seen. I think it'd be interesting," says Fisk.

"We also want to set up a book board," she says, describing how students could trade books with other students to save money. "Somebody gave me the idea of having a party board, just listing all the parties so people know what's going on." Assembling these projects, along with her regularly scheduled presidential duties, will certainly keep Fisk occupied.

"Sometimes I wish I had more time. But I'm kept busy. I'm happy. This semester was too intense. I'll just know better next semester. I'll just not take as many classes," says Fisk, shifting positions on the lawn.

"Anyway, I've left a lot of open time so I can deal with things in student government. I think I like to spend my [free] time with different people because I don't really have any hobbies. I like to attend theatre but I don't really have much time. I don't really have any hobbies just because I don't have any time," she continues.

As for next year, Fisk will be taking 12 units and a light workload at the bookstore. "Most of my time is going to be devoted to student government. This summer it's going to be the same," concludes Fisk with a sigh.

Sub: District Liability for Associated Students' Funding Students Going Out of State to Participate in Athletic Competition -

Thank you for your note of June 2, 1982 on the Executive Cabinet minutes of May 12, 1982.

I would be happy to discuss this item with you at any time. Mike Puccioni who attended the National Waterski Championships, has already competed and returned.

As you are now aware, two students and a student coach from Adaptive PE are being sent to the National Wheelchair Competition in Marshall, Minnesota on June 23 - 27. A request for funding was made to the Associated Students by Johnny Hassenzahl from Supportive PE in the amount of $500. The Executive Cabinet of the Associated Students has granted those funds in support of the two students Cindy Schweitzer and Georgina Biter, as well as the coach Windi Braden. Additional funds apparently are coming from off campus sources. As you know, Ed Buckley has approved the trip as an official college activity.

The nature of the District liability has never been made clear. Previously, an issue involving Wheelchair Athletes was brought before the Board of Trustees and, essentially, they decided not to make a decision. The off-the-record comment was for us to go ahead and continue funding these activities through the Associated Students, if requested.

If district policy is made concerning this type of activity, I would appreciate having that information. The Associated Students are faced with this type of request on a fairly frequent basis.

Thank you for your assistance.

Subject Memo of Understanding - Handicapped Athletes to the Nationals

It is my understanding that the Handicapped Athletes, through Johnny Hassenzahl, have your approval for this activity. As you may know, the Associated Students are funding the trip in the amount of $500.

Thank you.

SRJC athletes to face the best

NATIONAL WHEELCHAIR GAMES

Marshall, Minn. (population 10,000) isn't generally thought of as your basic vacation paradise, but for two Santa Rosa Junior College students who thoroughly enjoy swimming, it is definitely the place to be later this month.

Marshall will host the National Wheelchair Games, June 23-27, and 20-year-old Georgina Biter and 29-year-old Cindy Schweitzer will be there to compete in the swimming competition.

For Biter, who owns a pair of national records, the trip east may be just the first leg of a journey this summer that could take her to Canada and England.

But first things first.

Biter, whose home town is St. Helena, will compete in six events in the Class 1A division at the national games — the 100-yard backstroke, the 75-yard individual medley, the 25-yard backstroke, the 25-yard butterfly, the 25-yard breaststroke and the 25-yard freestyle. Schweitzer, who lives in Sonoma, will compete in three events in the Class 4 division — the 50-yard breaststroke, the 50-yard freestyle and the 50-yard backstroke.

Both athletes qualified for the nationals with their performances in the Santa Barbara Wheelchair Games last month.

For Biter, the National Games in Minnesota may be a springboard to international competition later this summer. She hopes to be selected to compete in the International Wheelchair Games at Stoke-Mandeville, England in July. Biter's instructor at SRJC, Windi Braden, has already been selected as an assistant coach of the national team that will compete in England.

There's also a good chance Biter will be chosen to compete in the Pan American Wheelchair Games at Nova Scotia, Canada, in August.

Such journeys do not come cheaply. Partial financing has already been provided by the Royal Order of Caritas, a Santa Rosa service organization, but more money is needed. A "Sink or Swim A Lap" fundraiser will be held Friday at the SRJC pool. Potential sponsors are asked to contact Braden at 527-4386 (days) or 584-0241 (evenings).

Sub: Operation & Revenue -- Concession Stand/Haehl Pavilion

In an effort to clarify the questions concerning the operation of the Concession Stand in the Haehl Pavilion, please accept this letter as our Letter of Intent.

The Associated Students expect to receive the revenue generated by the concession stand in the Haehl Pavilion. Unless a bid or proposal procedure is necessary, the concession stand in the Haehl Pavilion will be covered under a contract to Wolcott's Concessions. As you know, under this contractual arrangement the Associated Students receive 20% of the gross sales and if a club works the concession stand, the club receives an additional 20% of the gross sales.

The Associated Students continue to invest over $13,000 annually in the Inter-Collegiate Athletic Programs of the college and the 1982-83 budget of the Associated Students was predicated on the expected increase in concession revenues from the concession stand in the Haehl Pavilion.
